Senate Passage of Draft Bill Near.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Senator Lodge.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26.—The senate tonight adopted an amendment to the Roosevelt administration's conscription bill which forbids the sending of prospective conscripts to Europe.

The amendment, which was proposed by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. [R., Mass.], provides specifically that conscripts must not be sent beyond the limits of the western hemisphere except to the territories and possessions of the United States, including the Philippine Islands. It was adopted by a vote of 67 to 4.

Administration leaders did not oppose the Lodge amendment, but they strongly resisted and succeeded in defeating an amendment by Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.]. Clark's amendment, rejected by a vote of 39 to 32, would have prohibited the President from sending the prospective conscripts anywhere outside the continental limits of the United States except to its territories and possessions.

Based on Canada's Plan.

Clark said his amendment was based on the Canadian conscription principle. Altho Canada is at war with Germany, he explained, drafted Canadian troops cannot be sent outside the country except with their consent.

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky opposed the Clark amendment on the ground it would repudiate the Monroe Doctrine. The United States may be compelled to send troops to South America to prevent the establishment of a base from which this country might be attacked, he argued.

The Lodge amendment permitting the President to send conscripts anywhere in the western hemisphere is identical with a provision contained in the bill authorizing the President to order the National Guard and the regular army's reserve and retired personnel into active service. This measure went to the White House last week.

Night Session Is Ordered.

Barkley forced the senate to remain in session tonight in an effort to expedite passage of the conscription bill, which the senate has debated 12 days. Because he insisted on holding the night session, he was unable to obtain unanimous consent to limit debate.

The senate disposed of various miscellaneous amendments at tonight's session, however, and left little remaining for further consideration except substitute bills, one to postpone the draft until Jan. 1 and another to make it applicable only in war time. The conscription bill may be passed and sent to the house tomorrow.

Earlier today the senate adopted the amendment by Senator Lodge limiting to 900,000 at any one time the total number of men who may be inducted into service under the conscription bill. The bill permits voluntary enlistments for one year in lieu of compulsory service, and the limitation of 900,000 applies to the aggregate of voluntary recruits and conscripts. It does not apply to the regular army, which is to be recruited up to 375,000 men by December, or to the National Guard, which is to be ordered into the federal service by Jan. 1.

Vision 1,500,000 in 1941.

Since it is estimated that some 225,000 guardsmen will be mobilized for a year of training, it will be possible, with the Lodge amendment, to have 1,500,000 men under arms in 1941.

The Lodge amendment will not interfere with the war department's immediate program, which calls for the drafting of 400,000 by Jan. 1 and another 400,000 next April 1. The war

BRITISH AGENT'S BOAST HE'LL GET U. S. IN WAR TOLD

Wheeler Story Stirs Anger in Senate.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sir George Paish.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26.—Sir George Paish, British economist and propagandist, was quoted in the senate today as saying he came to the United States on a mission to get the country into the European war.

Paish conferred with President Roosevelt at the White House on Aug. 16, the day Mr. Roosevelt announced that negotiations for the leasing of air and naval bases on British islands in the western hemisphere were in progress. After his conference with the President, Paish expressed the hope that the United States soon would transfer 50 or more of the navy's destroyers to Great Britain.

Tells of Talk with Paish.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] identified Paish as a British agent seeking to involve the United States in the European war during the senate debate on the Roosevelt administration's conscription bill. He said Paish came to see him in his office a few days ago and talked with him at length. He quoted Paish as saying.

"I was responsible for getting the United States into the last war. I am over here now to go across the country on a speaking tour, and I am going to get this country into this war."

Wheeler said he called the state department and ascertained that Paish is not registered as an agent of a foreign government. A law enacted some two years ago provides severe penalties for any agent, representative, or propagandist of a foreign government who fails to register with the state department.

Glass Voices Wrath.

Senator Carter Glass [D., Va.], an advocate of all possible assistance to Great Britain, interrupted Senator Wheeler to say that "if any Englishman were to come to my office with any such proposal I would drive him out."

Wheeler replied that Paish made the statement as he was on his way out. He said he told Paish that it was "a very broad statement," and that Paish modified it, saying: "Well, everything short of war."

Senator Ernest Lundeen [F.-L., Minn.], remarked that "the gentleman referred to, Sir George Paish—and we know his record—should be deported from the United States."

Wheeler disclosed Paish's name only after Senator Henry F. Ashurst [D., Ariz.] urged him to do so. The Montana senator said he realized he would be criticized for disclosing the name, but that he believed "the American people should know what is happening."

Other Conferences Told.

Senator Wheeler said Paish had called on various other senators. "He told me he had seen numerous senators and other senators have told me that he saw them," Wheeler said. "He is urging that 50 destroyers be given to Great Britain. He is urging that the Johnson act be repealed. He was very, very frank about it."

Wheeler recalled that Paish was an adviser to Prime Minister David Lloyd George during the World war and that he came to the United States on an official mission in 1916. He said he told Paish that he wanted to be frank with him, that he was sympathetic with Great Britain and wanted Great Britain to win, but that the British government ought not to be misled into believing the United States would enter the war. Paish replied, Senator Wheeler said, as follows:

"Senator, the sentiment in this country is going to roll up and roll up like the waves of the ocean. Regardless of what you want, you will be forced to vote for it."

Invader's Tip Saves Relics of Napoleon

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 21, via Berlin [Delayed].—Relics of the Emperor Napoleon I. which were taken from their resting place in the Hotel des Invalides [the military museum] in Paris during the panic caused by the German advance have been stored in a place of safety, it was announced today. They are in the Château La Malmaison, once the residence of Napoleon's empress, Josephine, near Paris.

The story of what happened to them is told by the man who recovered them, a Dr. Guilluy of the public antituberculosis dispensary of Versailles. He had joined the flight from Paris, but was overtaken by the Germans at Etampes, about 30 miles south of Paris. There, on June 15, he said, a German officer told him that a lot of abandoned trucks behind a hospital contained objects of inestimable historical value.

Boxes Found Opened.

Guilluy went there and found opened packing boxes from which had fallen a quantity of old arms and the famous little cocked hat of Napoleon. Guilluy took the boxes into the hospital and, to protect the contents from pillagers, had them classified as medical materials. On June 23 the boxes were transported to Versailles and the contents inventoried before witnesses.

There were not only relics of Napoleon and his marshals but souvenirs of the armies of royal France—broadswords of steel with hilts encrusted with cameos and precious stones, medieval helmets, arbalests, medieval crossbows requiring mechanical devices to bend them, and baldrics [sword belts] of illuminated leather, and the shield of Matthias Hunyadi, king of Hungary in the 15th century, was among them.

A Belt from Waterloo.

The Napoleonic relics were two hats, one of which he wore in exile at St. Helena; the army greatcoat he wore at the battle of Marengo and which was put on his body when he died, his ceremonial sword, the belt he wore at Waterloo, his cordon of the Order of the Holy Ghost, his cordon of the Legion of Honor given him by the city of Paris, and a tiny casket stamped "1840," the year his remains were transferred to France. The casket contained the keys to his tomb.

Eyewitnesses Tell of Raids

WITH THE ROYAL AIR FORCE SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 26 (AP).—A lucky gap in the clouds over the Berlin area gave British royal air force bomb raiders last night their first crack at an objective they had been eager to attack.

The R. A. F. raiders found their target and dropped their bombs despite bad weather and a constant barrage of antiaircraft fire that dogged their passage across German territory.

"Everybody was pleased when the intelligence officer mentioned Berlin at the 'briefing' before we started. We all were very keen to have a crack at it.

"The weather was bad right from the start and as soon as we gained any height at all we ran into heavy clouds.

"For at least two-thirds of the way there was heavy antiaircraft fire, much more than usual.

Lake and Moon Provide Guide.

"When we arrived over Berlin there was a formidable concentration of guns and searchlights. We cruised around for about half an hour before we located the target, and all the time the guns were popping quite accurately.

"Then suddenly we saw a small gap beginning to open in the clouds three or four miles away, and we made for it. We thought we could see a main road junction. Then the hole in the clouds widened and we saw we were right. Next we caught sight of the reflection of the moon on a lake and these two points gave us our position.

"Working down to the lake, we got on our target. There was more antiaircraft fire than ever and the searchlights blazed more brightly and we couldn't keep a steady enough course to bomb the first time. So we did a preliminary canter.

Clouds Open Gap Wider.

"Then we went away, and two or three minutes later came back. We hadn't gone very far away, because, having had that bit of luck in finding the place, we were afraid of losing it in the clouds. We went just far enough to shake off the guns and the searchlights, then came right back over the target.

"By this time the friendly gap had opened up a bit more. Having dropped our bombs, we turned away, dodging violently because the gunfire was getting warm again.

BY GUY MURCHIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DOVER, England, Aug. 26 [By Telephone to London].—Today's air raids opened with the roar of many plane motors heralding the approach of the Germans over the English channel. Before the end of the day I saw seven German planes fall from the sky while bombs rained down near Folkestone.

Thirteen Heinkels were seen flying high in formation as they crossed the coast, then swung to the south. I was waiting in an automobile on a hill between Dover and Folkestone and saw a Messerschmitt swoop and attack the balloon barrage over Dover.

With the first burst of fire one balloon fell in flames while the plane returned to a cloudbank. This was followed immediately by two Messerschmitts diving to attack other balloons. They were met by heavy antiaircraft fire and were turned back.

Two More Balloons Downed.

I then raced by car toward Folkestone and, passing over a hill, saw another Messerschmitt dive and shoot down two balloons before disappearing into the clouds followed by British fighter planes which were reported to have shot it down.

Coming into Folkestone, a Heinkel attacked a target near the town, but as it dived a squadron of Hurricanes raced in at about 3,000 feet. The squadron dived to attack and as the bombs were seen to fall the Heinkel burst into flames and fell into the harbor entrance. Before the plane hit the water another Heinkel, which was battling three Hurricanes, tumbled a few miles to the west.

Plane Falls in Flames.

Turning to race back to Dover, I saw a Messerschmitt fall flaming to the earth about two miles inland and from the headland two British motor torpedo boats were seen racing at high speed across the channel where, it was said, another German plane had fallen into the sea.

When the torpedo boats returned to port, two more planes, one of them painted white, and the other a German Dornier flying boat, came from Calais. They searched the sea in the same area, flying slowly back and forth about 200 feet above the water for an hour. A British combat plane went out to investigate. Evidently the British pilot decided they were Red Cross planes and, as they kept low where they could not photograph the coast, he returned.

BERLIN, Aug. 27, Tuesday (AP).—Residents of Berlin were routed from bed this morning by the second British air raid in two nights.

Gunfire was heard distantly to the west during the 40 minute alarm, from 12:42 to 1:22 a. m., but there was no repetition of the thunderous antiaircraft artillery fire which kept the city aroused during the three hours and four minutes of yesterday morning's British raid.

Gather in Doorways.

Air raid wardens appeared much more lenient this morning, letting some citizens gather in doorways. Some did not leave their homes.

Only last night they had been told by the authoritative commentary Dienst aus Deutschland that with preliminaries of the war on Britain ended, "now begins the planned destruction of industrial plants essential to war."

Even as German spokesmen explained that the use of 2,000 pound bombs in Sunday night's raids on the British arms and aircraft production centers of the industrial Midlands meant destruction was beginning in earnest, swarms of German planes roared across the English channel on a 30 mile front to smash at Deal, Folkestone, Canterbury, Cambridge, and Tunbridge.

Raid Southeast England.

These were blows at a southeast England area regarded as a logical spot for the long heralded attempt at invasion.

Semi-official German reports said 39 British planes were destroyed with 10 German planes missing.

Fierce fighting raged over Kent. The Germans aimed especially at industrial plants and various airports maintained as a defense against Germany's nearby continental bases in Holland, Belgium, and France.

The Sunday night raid on Birmingham, however, was emphasized by German sources. DNB, official German news agency, said from 60 to 70 planes, each carrying 2,000 pound bombs, concentrated on the city.

38 Towns Raided.

Altogether, during this one night, authoritative sources said, 38 English towns and cities were raided and an aggregate of 165 tons of bombs dropped.

Fires were started in industrial plants at Billingham and Middlesborough, DNB said.

Flyers on both sides seemed undisturbed by antiaircraft fire Sunday night and early Monday morning—notably over Berlin, where British raiders droned back and forth for three hours, concealed by murky weather.

Not since Napoleon's time has Berlin really smelled enemy powder, but Sunday night Berliners had a sample of what war sounds like, even tho the high command insisted practically no damage was done.

Merchant Vessel Sinks.

Despite the skyward hail of bullets and shrapnel, no British plane was shot down over the capital. Germans said, however, one was downed on the way home.

One German plane ranging the Atlantic far from British shores bombed and sank a 4,000 ton merchantman, the Germans said, while two German submarines reported sinking 76,170 tons of shipping, including four vessels shot out of a convoy.

In a note sent to neutral Switzerland for relay the German government warned Britain of reprisals if reported attacks on German first aid seaplanes continue.

Military Conscription Law Is Enacted for Gibraltar

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 26.—A military service ordinance was enacted today for the compulsory enrollment of men of the colony between the ages of 18 and 41 in the British armed forces.

Fear Casualties in Outskirts Will Prove Heavy.

LONDON, Aug. 27, Tuesday (AP).—For more than six hours the German air force hurled slaughter and destruction in and around London last night and early today in the longest air raid of the war. The toll of property damage and casualties was inestimable but apparently heavy.

The all-clear signal came about 3:40 a. m., slightly more than six hours after the sirens first screeched the alarm.

Many watchers declared the continuous chain of circling Nazis was a deliberate maneuver—a "nuisance raid" to keep the city up all night.

Workers' Quarters Hit.

Some bombs fell in fashionable residential districts as well as thickly populated working class quarters.

A flaming ring of antiaircraft defense apparently kept the raiders from the heart of the city, but they roared around and around it, dropping their bombs on the outskirts.

Several times bombers were caught in the crossbeams of powerful searchlights and dropped their heavy explosive cargoes to speed their escape.

Theatergoers Miss Trains.

So intense was the conflict that operations in Fleet street, London's newspaper row, were brought to a virtual standstill, editions being held up to await the outcome.

Thousands of theatergoers were caught out by the raid and missed their last trains to suburban homes which they may or may not find intact.

Within the circle of the city's defenses, blinding bright, the blackout made a core of darkness so deep that the occasional flare of a match was startling.

Bombs Drop on Suburbs.

Bombs were heard dropping on the suburbs, and in one thickly populated district Associated Press staff observers heard tremendous explosions as one raider was caught in a crossfire of searchlights.

Watch Eerie Show.

All around, the sky flashed fitfully with bomb blasts and antiaircraft cannonading.

Millions of Londoners and suburbanites sought safety in shelters, but many others insisted on staying on street corners to watch the eerie show despite frantic admonitions of air raid wardens to get below ground or else be killed.

The Nazi strategy appeared to be to send raiders around the city individually at split-second intervals.

Baffled by Tight Defense.

The raiders, however, appeared baffled by the city's tight defense of the balloon barrage, searchlights, and clattering antiaircraft cannon.

Some lone planes leaped this deadly barrier and dashed across the center of London; however, at altitudes so high the gunfire could not reach them.

Searchlights caught some of these, and appeared to "toss" them from one to another, like basketballs in the hands of skilled players, until the antiaircraft could get a bead on them.

Some London cabbies still plied their trade in the gloom and glare, telling fares, "You know, there's a raid still on," and dodging like rabbits when they passed military objectives.

Bombs Fall on London Outskirts.

The government announced this morning that "some bombs were dropped in one district on the outskirts of central London today," but that "little damage was caused and the number of casualties was small." The communique added: "During last night enemy aircraft delivered attacks in the Midland area, where fires were caused and industrial property damaged in two towns. Some persons killed. Two planes were shot down in the London area by antiaircraft gunfire early today."

From the roof of the Associated Press building the center of London looked dead black. There was a drone of motors to the west, and a strong concentration of searchlights flicked on. The noise faded, and the lights snapped.

The prolonged raid on London was timed with others which struck anew from the channel coast to the Midlands, scenes of fiery assaults all day Monday.

Hit or Miss Bombings.

At Folkestone, on the channel, during the day, at least 50 persons were acknowledged to have been slain by bombers who raided the town at market time.

The German raiders, both in London and elsewhere, were making skilled use of the cover provided by fitfully drifting clouds.

In northeast England, they attacked last night and early today at time clock intervals, flying high but dropping bombs in what seemed a hit or miss manner to boservers on the ground.

An air ministry communique this morning, giving latest figures on plane losses in Monday's bitter fighting, said 46 German planes were destroyed and 15 British planes were lost, altho the pilots of 11 were safe.

A massive German attack centered on a 30 mile stretch of the southeast English coast's "hell's corner" yesterday.

Those areas, the southwest coast, the northeast, and Wales, all were subject to new raids during the night.

Predict Invasion's Delay.

Persistence of the raiders and their continual hammering at every corner of Britain lent significance to authoritative British predictions that the attack will be increasingly intensified all winter long, with no land invasion attempted before spring.

The German air force is finding it a tougher-than-expected job to knock out the royal air force and "soften up" Britain generally, the British said, so the night raids in particular probably will be stepped up.

Last British reconnaissance has failed to disclose signs of concentrations on the continent for an imminent invasion, these sources said.

The tempo and scope of the German air raids already is increasing, Monday being one of the worst periods of horror and destruction which this island yet has known.

The air ministry and the ministry of home security reported bomb blasts and battle from South Foreland to the Scilly isles off Land's End.

German "balloon busters" concentrated on the Dover balloon barrage; the center of Folkestone was raided, and targets inland suffered.

But the ministries called the afternoon raid—second of the day—on London a failure. The enemy, swarming up the Thames, were scattered, the ministries said, and a later attack on the south coast naval base of Portland was similarly dispersed.

Bombs Dropped in Essex.

Some bombs were dropped in Essex, however, and casualties were acknowledged from more isolated attacks on "several districts."

While Adolf Hitler's air force struck back with deadly fury, mines apparently sowed in his 10 day old "total" blockade of Britain sent another British destroyer, the 1,340 ton Hostile, to the bottom. The casualties were not announced. The Hostile carried a normal complement of 145 men. It was the 30th destroyer Britain has acknowledged losing.

In London, where workmen still were cleaning up the smoldering debris of a financial district fire from a Saturday night bombing, sirens sent the city's millions into shelters thrice—early yesterday morning, yesterday afternoon, and again last night.

Bombs were dropped on a municipally owned housing development on the outskirts of London in the raid yesterday morning. But in violent battle over the southeast coast two other big forces of raiders striking at the capital were turned back.

Folkestone, a city of 35,000, experienced the greatest horror of the day. About 20 bombers surprised the town when its streets were crowded at the market hour and loosed a shower of bombs. One bomb hit squarely a laundry filled with girls.

Air Raid Shelter Hit.

While relief workers at Folkestone plunged into the smoking débris in search of victims trapped beneath, British fighters attacked and quickly downed two Messerschmitts, one in flames.

Six fatalities resulted from a direct hit on one of the small steel air raid shelters which Britons have been encouraged to erect in their back yards. The shelter was blown to the roof of a neighboring house.

Other raids were made in northeast Scotland, where eight bombs dropped on a municipal housing development killed a man and a girl, and in far apart areas of Wales.

The Press association reported a raid on the Scilly Islands, just off the southwest coast, Sunday in which 150 bombs were dropped, some houses set afire, and a beach swept by machine gun fire which killed a girl and wounded several other persons.

Bad Weather Hampers Raid.

The air ministry said targets of the British raid on Berlin Sunday night were "selected military objectives," searchlights and antiaircraft batteries on the outskirts of the German capital. It acknowledged that bad weather had hampered the attack.

British flyers also were said to have bombed German occupied airfields in Holland, Belgium and northern France, supply depots at Cologne, Hamm and Schwerte, oil tanks at Cherbourg, speedboats in Boulogne harbor and docks at Flushing.

From all these operations, the ministry said, "five of our aircraft have not returned."

It said a coastal command flying boat, patroling the area of Tromsoe, Norway, had attacked German flying boats at anchor, sinking two, setting fire to two and damaging others.

Six Hour Raid Strikes at London

DUBLIN, Ireland, Aug. 26 (AP).—The Irish government announced a German plane dropped bombs which killed three girls in southeastern Ireland today. An immediate protest was made to Berlin.

"A bomber aircraft of German nationality flew over the area of Campile, Ballymitty, Bannow and Dancormick, County Wexford, between 2 and 3 o'clock this afternoon," said a statement by the government information bureau.

"Bombs were dropped at each of these points. The coöperative creamery at Campile was wrecked, three girls were killed, and one injured by falling masonry.

"The Irish charge d'affaires in Berlin has been instructed to make a protest to the German government and to demand full reparations."

VOTE TO MOVE LITH CAPITAL TO OLD VILNA

MOSCOW, Aug. 26 (AP).—The supreme soviet of Lithuania has voted to transfer the Lithuanian capital from Kaunas to Vilna [Wilno], ancient Lithuanian capital, before next May 1.

The city was the center of a postwar dispute between Poland and Lithuania, finally falling to Polish occupation in 1920. It remained Polish until after the division of Poland last year, when the city and district were returned to Lithuania by soviet Russia.

Dispatches from Baltic capitals today said the parliaments of Lithuania, Estonia, and Latvia, recently absorbed into the soviet union, have proclaimed themselves supreme soviets and elected councils of peoples commissars.

BERLINERS READ OF BRITISH RAID IN NINE LINE ITEM

Scan Papers for Details, but Find None.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—Rarely did Berliners buy their Monday newspapers with greater curiosity than today. For more than three hours, from shortly after midnight until after 3 a. m., they had heard antiaircraft fire and weird deep sounding noises in all parts of the German capital and its districts.

They wanted details about what had actually happened. All they could find in their paper was a nine line item that British planes had been over Berlin, that they had dropped several incendiary bombs on the outskirts of the city without doing any damage either in Berlin or elsewhere in Germany.

Rumors Crop Up.

Another short notice in the press said that a garden home had been destroyed by fire. Berliners who had peeked out of their shelters and had seen the flashes of the guns, the flares, and the searchlights trying to break thru the blanket of clouds, and had heard English planes zoom low over their houses were not satisfied with these reports. Rumors cropped up rapidly.

In the markets I was told that streets in the center of Berlin, near the main market halls, had been roped off because of the damage inflicted there. They were the same streets in which some of the fiercest anti-Semitic raids raged in the early years of Nazilsm.

When I got there two streets still were partially closed by the police. Numerous windowpanes had been smashed. The Germans said the damage was done when a dud of one of their heavy antiaircraft guns burrowed its way into a court in this area, then exploded, slightly injuring four persons.

Fences Surround Factories.

Persons who visited the outskirts of Berlin could not reveal much because all factories of military importance are surrounded by high fences or outlying buildings and gardens thru which civilians are not allowed to pass.

The British admitted that they dropped leaflets and the Germans ridiculed the pamphlets.

"A country that has won three major blitzkriegs in a year will not be fazed by mere leaflets and the fact that England continues to drop them convinces many that she [Britain], has finally lost her real fighting grip," Nazis exclaimed.

One of the English planes which was over Berlin was said to have been shot down by German antiaircraft guns on its return flight. Four other English planes, the Germans declared sent out SOS signals from the North Sea after they had to alight on the sea because they had spent all their fuel in their flights "distributing leaflets" over Germany.

Germans Rescue Crew.

The crew of one of the planes was rescued by a German Red Cross plane, while another was reported to have been rescued by the English.

The official German news agency, DNB, also said that in "their aimless raids over Germany, the English threw bombs on the Jewish cemetery in Osterholz, in the district of Hanover." The Germans said the damage was extensive.

KING HAAKON DEFENDS FLIGHT FROM NORWAY

LONDON, Aug. 26 (AP). — King Haakon of Norway defended his flight from German occupied Norway with his government with the statement today that "If we had stayed in Norway the present rulers of the country would have been able to force us to accept what they wished." The monarch broadcast his message to Norway from his refuge somewhere in England, a place, he said, where "we can still represent a free country."

TAXES WILL ADD 3,000 WORKERS IN REVENUE BUREAU

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26.—Enactment of new defense taxes will call for an increase of approximately 3,000 in the personnel of the bureau of internal revenue, of whom 157 will be added to the Chicago office, it was disclosed today.

The house ways and means committee is considering an excess profits tax, and the recently enacted revenue act of 1940 made millions more subject to federal income taxes, accounting for the increase in personnel, according to the treasury department.

The treasury said no estimate has been made on the added cost thru the increase in personnel. At present approximately 25,000 persons are employed by the bureau, and 480 are employed in the bureau's Chicago office. Most of the increase will be added in January or February, in time to handle first-quarter installments on 1940 income taxes.

[The house ways and means committee last night approved a 20 to 50 per cent tax on "excess profits" of corporations. For details see page 23.]

WARNS EGYPT AGAINST WAR AID TO BRITAIN

Charges Attacks on Italy from Bases There.

ROME, Aug. 26 (AP).—Italy, thru her chief editorial spokesman, advised Egypt today to refrain from aiding British attacks on the Fascist African empire and, by way of emphasis, her air force again raided Alexandria, Egyptian base for the British Mediterranean fleet.

"It is necessary to fix positions and responsibilities quite clearly," Virginio Gayda, who often reflects Premier Mussolini's views, wrote in Il Giornale d'Italia.

Gayda charged the British with attacks on Italian Libya from neighboring Egypt and said that British talk of threatened Italian attacks on Egypt was an attempt to "drag Egypt into the war."

[Egypt is bound to Britain by a mutual defense pact, but has indicated she will continue a passive ally unless the Italians attempt an invasion.]

Says Britain Exceeds Pact.

"England cannot demand and Egypt cannot allow pretended Egyptian neutrality and independence to become more and more every day a protective trenchwork for British preparations . . . against Italian territory in Africa and even against Italy herself," Gayda said.

"By invading and dominating territorial waters, ports, soil, cities, and camps of Egypt to make them a single, formidable instrument of war against Italy, Britain is exceeding the military limitations of their alliance."

In an early morning raid, the high command said, "successive waves of Italian planes bombed Alexandria."

One Killed in Alexandria.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Aug. 26 (AP).—One person was reported killed and five wounded here today after a number of high explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped by Italian flyers in a 90 minute air raid. Damage was listed as slight.

British Bomb Bases.

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 26 (AP).—The Royal Air force reported today fires and explosions were set off in heavy raids on Italian air bases and other military objectives in Italian Somaliland, Abyssinia, and the western desert.

PARISIAN TELLS WORLD HE HAS NO DESIRE TO WED

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 21, via Berlin [Delayed].—In this morning's Paris press appeared a strange personal notice:

"Georges Tricart gives notice that he has no desire to get married to Mademoiselle Weiler, daughter of Mister Weiler, manager of the Gnome & Rhone Motor company, and requests Mister Weiler to take away his dictaphones."

From 20 years' experience with Parisian life, I have learned that anything of this sort should have some explanation, and even point to the sort of spicy personal story that Parisians themselves call "very Parisian."

This notice, however, has me baffled. I have no idea what it means and it does not fit into anything I know about things Parisian.

POLES ARE YOUR SERVANTS, NAZI FARMERS TOLD

Warned Germans Are to Be Masters.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—Germans who take over farms in Poland are the masters of the land and the Poles who live there are their servants "and must be so for all time," Arthur Greiser, district leader of Posen, said today in a radio address broadcast by all German stations for reception in schools and factories.

Greiser, who was district leader of Danzig when it was absorbed by Germany, declared, however, that each German must build his own house, "a house not like the primitive Polish ones, but one which corresponds to the German character and thoroness."

"Into this house," he said, "the German youth shall move and become the founders of a new generation."

Many Now on Farms.

Many Germans from the Baltic states and elsewhere already have been transferred to Polish farms, Greiser said, but he warned those who wanted Polish land not to expect to move in and take over a farm where they "could command a thousand workers."

"That day is over in Poland," he said, but he added: "Polish soil has been soaked with German blood and therefore it shall remain German."

Belgium and Holland also are feeling the strong hand of Nazi officials, backed by the German courts established in these occupied countries.

In Arnhem, Holland, a policeman was sentenced to six months in jail on charges of repeating a story that the German army suffered heavy losses in the drive to the west and that the soldiers of some regiments mutinied. In Flushing, a six months' sentence was imposed on one man because he scolded several Dutch girls for associating with German soldiers.

Belgian Mayor Sentenced.

In Belgium, the mayor of a small town was sentenced to nine months in jail after he was alleged to have been overheard in a restaurant saying that the bombs which recently fell on Brussels were dropped by the Germans and not by the British.

Statue Knocked Over

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The ministry of information today allowed this duplication of a dispatch censored Saturday night concerning part of the raid on London which was witnessed by The Tribune correspondent. The correspondent saw a bomb strike and damage St. Giles Cripplegate church, in which Oliver Cromwell was married and John Milton was buried.

The bronze statue of Milton outside the church was knocked from its pedestal, but was not badly damaged. The church is only a few blocks from St. Paul's cathedral.

The bomb blew off the front door of the church, wrecked the northwest wall, dislodged a high sandbag wall, and shattered one of the stained glass windows. Little damage was done inside the church.

The original church was built about the year 1090 and wrecked by fire in 1545. Nothing remains of that structure except part of the basement of the tower. The present building, of perpendicular Gothic style, survived the great fire of London in 1666 and the big Cripplegate fire of 1897. During the last war a German bomb was dropped close to it.

TRIBUNE WRITER BROADCASTS AS BERLIN IS RAIDED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—The British air raid on Berlin last night had its own effect on this correspondent. As heavy detonations sounded and antiaircraft fire thundered overhead, I crossed an open court to the Berlin broadcasting station to make my weekly Sunday evening broadcast to America.

After I had spoken I found that the transmitter to America had temporarily suspended operations and that nothing I said had been broadcast to the United States. However, the broadcast was resumed later and the authorities said the interruption had not been due to the air raid.

EVACUEES GIVE BRITAIN SERIOUS PUZZLE ON TAXES

When Can They Collect Revenue? Cities Ask.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Financial problems created by the civilian evacuation of defense areas now are being treated by the government as a matter of special urgency owing to the fact that many local councils are facing bankruptcy as a result of the loss of taxes.

Those who left the defense areas voluntarily are liable for all taxes unless they can prove their inability to pay. For those compelled to leave, a moratorium was declared, but this means only that the charges are accumulating.

Since many of those evacuated will lose their means of livelihood, it is being stressed that a considerable portion of the taxes may be regarded as permanently lost.

Question of Responsibility.

The government has been asked to decide whether, at the end of the war, evacuated tenants will have to pay accrued rent and taxes or whether the landlords who collect from the tenants will be responsible for obligations attendant on property ownership.

Another attack on vested interests is seen in the growing opposition to the proposed new increase in railway passenger fares, freight rates and other transport charges. According to the Daily Telegraph, demands will be made at a public rate hearing tomorrow that the government abandon the agreement by which it guaranteed minimum profits under government control.

The government promised the net revenue would be no less than the averages for 1935-'36-'37, and the minimum to the London passenger transport board would be equal to the net revenue for the year ended July 30, 1939.

The railway executive committee seeks a 6.8 per cent increase in rates, representing a total increase of 17.5 per cent since May.

Wage Increases Sought.

That the government's economic policy to keep living costs down has not been altogether successful is indicated in claims of more than a million engineers engaged in key industries for increased wages, which, if granted, would cost 30,000,000 pounds annually [about $120,000,000].

The Amalgamated Engineering union is demanding an increase of 3 pence [about 5 cents] per hour on basic rates and restoration of conditions abandoned in the slump of 1931. The Confederation of Engineering and Shipbuilding industries, comprising 34 unions, is asking a weekly raise of 10 shillings [about $2.00]. It has already obtained an increase of five shillings [about $1.00] on basic rates since the start of the war.

Negotiations open Wednesday and a settlement is expected without submission to the national arbitration board.

Japan Will Require Mixing of Silk in All Textile Fibers

TOKIO, Japan, Aug. 26 (AP).—Domei, Japanese news agency, said in a broadcast today that the government, beginning Oct. 1, will require the mixing of silk in all fibers, with a few exceptions, to step up the demand for silk and sustain its price. Manufacturers will be compelled to mix silk in rayon, wool, and cotton textiles.

Husband Warned

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. MABEL ROHEN.

John Rohen, 38 years old, president of the Airway Motor Service company, a trucking concern at 1914 Chicago avenue, gave five reasons yesterday why he couldn't agree to a reconciliation with his wife, Mabel, 35, of 2131 North Leamington avenue. He told Judge John J. Lupe in the Superior court:

"She made me go to public baths, take all my meals out, send out my laundry, nagged me constantly, and made me unhappy."

Norman Becker, counsel for Mrs. Rohen, countered with two reasons why she might not have felt like doing housework. One was that she was too tired after working 12 hours a day as bookkeeper and secretary of the firm, the other that she had no inclination because her husband was running around with other women.

Judge Lupe granted Mrs. Rohen $25 a week support for two children, Ruth, 16, and Norma, 13, and warned Rohen that if his business slumped due to inattention, Mrs. Rohen would be put in charge as receiver.

SWISS GUNNERS FIRE ON PLANES CROSSING ALPS

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 27 [Tuesday] (AP).—Successive waves of foreign planes—apparently British bombers raiding Italy—ran a gantlet of Swiss antiaircraft gunfire for more than three hours last night and early today.

Both as they went and as they returned the planes were subjected to heavy Swiss ground fire that echoed loud and long thru the defiles of the Jura, Bernese and Oberland Alps.

The last all-clear signal finally was given at 2:20 a. m. The firing began with the first alarm at 11:17 p. m. Monday.

CHARGES FRENCH LEADERS GAVE NATION TO NAZIS

Cot, Ex-Air Minister, Analyzes Defeat.

New York, Aug. 26.—Pierre Cot, former French minister of aviation, asserted today that Winston Churchill, British prime minister, had proposed that the French transport an army of 1,000,000 men and its equipment to North Africa to continue the war. Churchill's proposal was made, Cot said, after it became apparent the French could not stop the German invasion of France.

Cot held that the success of the British in evacuating 300,000 men from Dunkirk under fire indicated the removal of a French army to North Africa might have been successful if Marshal Henri Phillipe Petain and Gen. Maxine Weygand, commander of the French forces, had not rejected Churchill's suggestions.

"Petain and Weygand gave our country to Hitler," said Cot, who arrived in the United States several days ago.

"Only a Third" of Planes Used.

Cot gave what he said were official figures showing that, while the French air force was insufficient, actually only about a third of the planes available were ever used in the battle of France. He said France had about 3,000 first line planes when the German invasion began. Of those, 1,000 were in North Africa and were not called for or sent into the battle.

More than 400, Cot said, were kept doing nothing in the region of the Italian border, and 300 more planes and their trained pilots sat in complete uselessness behind the Maginot line.

Asked what was the greatest single reason for the collapse of France's military power, Cot said:

"The French generals were 70 years old, or more, and they were opposed to German generals of 40. The French high command forgot nothing and learned nothing. It was still thinking of war in the terms of 1918."

Polish Lesson Deprecated.

He said the military intelligence section of the French general staff submitted last October a report calling attention to lessons that should be learned from the German campaign that overwhelmed Poland. This report was deprecated by Petain and Gen. Maurice Gamelin, then commander of the French army, Cot said. Similar warnings given to the general staff by Gen. De Charles de Gaulle, who now heads a French committee in England, were also unheeded, he asserted.

Cot said it was apparent the Petain government was under the thumb of the Nazis and that the trials of persons associated with the French state before its defeat constituted little more than an effort on the part of the Petain government to save the reputation of the French army at the expense of the civil authorities.

A former professor of international law, Cot said he hopes to make a connection with an American university.

Egypt's King Asks Premier to Form a New Cabinet

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 27, Tuesday (AP).—Premier Hassan Sabry Pasha of Egypt submitted his resignation today and King Farouk requested him to form a new cabinet.

927 Pound Tuna

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

John B. Vernhelia with his prize catch.

Newburyport, Mass., Aug. 26 [Special].—One of the largest tunas ever caught with a rod and reel was brought to gaff after more than three hours' battling yesterday off Plum Island Point. The 927 pound fish was caught by Dr. John B. Vernhelia of Medford. It was 10 feet long and had a tail spread of 37 inches.

COUGHLIN DENIES CONNECTION WITH BUND MOVEMENT

Royal Oak, Mich., Aug. 26 [Special].—Father Charles E. Coughlin, radio priest, today denied printed reports that linked him to the German-American bund in Chicago and to William Wernecke, a former member of that organization. The report said that department of justice agents were investigating a conference in which Wernecke talked with Father Coughlin here at the latter's invitation.

"The story is whole cloth," Coughlin said. "There is absolutely no truth in it. If such a man as Mr. Wernecke exists, I do not know it. If I have met him, he is just one of the thousands I meet each week at my church."

The story to which Father Coughlin referred said the government was scrutinizing a possible alliance between the bund, the Christian Front, anti-Semitic organization, and Father Coughlin.

"This is a fabrication of some anti-man mind," Coughlin said. "They say I am an anti-Semite; I say there are many of an anti-man turn of mind. I have no bund connections and neither do I have connections with the Christian Front. This was amply demonstrated in the trial of the 17 young men in New York."

Prospects of Conscription Boom Wedding Ring Sales

Huge Staff of Censors Opens Bags.

New York, Aug. 26 (AP).—European mail routed thru Lisbon today appeared to be passing thru the bottleneck of Bermuda censorship despite Secretary Hull's repeated opposition to the seizure of government mail by the British.

Chief carriers of mails between Lisbon and New York are Pan-American Airways planes and the ships of the American Export line.

It was reported that 842 mail bags had been removed from American export ships at Hamilton in the last 18 days. The line obtained permission from the United States maritime commission early in August to make stops at Bermuda and the Azores.

Schedule Is Changed.

The first vessel to call at Hamilton was the Excalibur, on Aug. 8, when 133 bags of mail were removed. Four hundred bags were seized from the Exochorda and 315 from the Exeter. The mail was scanned by a staff of censors—recently augmented by the arrival of 100 from England—and approved matter reshipped to New York by the next available vessel.

The Associated Press was unable today to obtain a statement from officials of the line as to their reasons for including the Bermuda call in the Lisbon-New York service. Bermuda is approximately 600 miles south of the direct course from Portugal to New York.

Try to Avoid Bermuda.

Pan American Airways officials said today that pilots of their Atlantic Clippers would continue to avoid Bermuda, except in case of adverse weather or mechanical trouble.

Since May 18, when Pan American cancelled regular stops at Hamilton—presumably because of the censorship—Clipper planes have made 30 stops at the island in 86 Atlantic crossings. Eight stops were on flights to Lisbon, 22 on flights to this country.

British examination of most of the mail passing between Europe and the United States has already blocked transit of German or Italian news pictures to this country.

ROUND OF GOLF COSTS PLAYER $120 AND JACKET

MacNeish recently returned from a summer of excavating Indian mounds in southern Illinois for the department of anthropology. The money, the major part of his pay, was in the pocket of a jacket, carried by his caddie. MacNeish drove his ball into some bushes, and the caddie, who gave the name William Powers, 802 East 63d street, went after it.

When he failed to reappear MacNeish investigated and found his clubs on the ground and the jacket and caddie gone. Also in the pocket was a sectional Golden Gloves medal which MacNeish won in New York. Police could not find Powers at the 63d street address.

DEMANDS SENATE PASS ON U. S. AND CANADA COMPACT

Rep. Tinkham Deplores Secret Negotiations.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26 (AP).—President Roosevelt's agreement for a Canadian-American board of defense is an alliance which ought to be submitted to the senate in the form of a treaty for ratification, Representative George H. Tinkham [R., Mass.], veteran member of the house foreign affairs committee, declared tonight in a statement.

"The negotiations in relation to this proposal have been secret," Tinkham said. "Secret negotiations of this character are wholly abhorrent in a republic and wholly opposed to democratic processes.

"It is said that the proposal is a defensive alliance. As Canada is not now in a position to defend the United States, this means in substance that we are to defend Canada; and as Canada is, as a British dominion, now engaged in the European war, this obviously exposes us, to all intents and purposes, to all the chances of the present armed conflict as far as Great Britain's enemies may think it expedient to involve us.

"This commitment, therefore, plainly nullifies the power of the congress to declare war and is a flagrant circumvention of the constitution in this respect.

"If this commitment is not submitted to the senate in the form of a treaty for ratification and stands unchallenged, then President Roosevelt has as much dictatorial power in the United States in relation to peace and war as Hitler and Mussolini have in Europe.

"The immediate and imperative business of the people of the United States is not to put down dictatorship in Europe or Asia, but to put down dictatorship here and now, with a heavy hand."

JOINT DEFENSE BOARD OF CANADA AND U. S. TACKLES ITS WORK

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 26 (AP).—Preliminary studies of mutual defense problems were opened here today by representatives of Canada and the United States, who met behind closed doors.

The first full session of the permanent joint board on defense began soon after the arrival of the American section, headed by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York.

Col. O. M. Biggar, chairman of the Canadian section, said at the conclusion of a four hour sitting that meetings would continue tomorrow and that they might be adjourned on Wednesday.

Discussions were said to have centered on specific defense problems of the two countries with a view to ascertaining the extent to which they might be coördinated.

CLIPPER MAKES 1 DAY ROUND TRIP TO CANAL ZONE

Miami, Fla., Aug. 26 (AP).—A Pan American Airways strato Clipper today established a record, then broke it, in completing the first one day round trip flight from Miami to the Panama Canal Zone.

Capt. Robert H. Fatt commanded the 33 passenger ship on a dash to Cristobal in 6 hours and 12 minutes, said by the air line to be the fastest time ever made between the two cities.

But coming home the giant plane covered the 1,547 mile jump in six hours flat, leaving at 1:44 p. m. and landing at 7:44 p. m.

Aboard the Rainbow, a four motored craft that flies in the substratosphere, were two pilots who will have charge of regular one day round trip passenger service to be inaugurated within a week. They are Roy Keeler and Hal Goodwyn.

BYRD REFUTES NEW DEAL CLAIM ON PLANE ORDERS

Demands Congress Take Steps to End Bungling.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26.—A White House claim that contracts have been let for 6,747 army and navy planes was punctured tonight by Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.]. The senator released letters he has received from the secretary of the navy and the secretary of war to support his recent assertion that only 343 combat aircraft for all branches of the service have been ordered in the last 100 days.

Senator Byrd last Saturday disclosed that since last May, when President Roosevelt proposed the immediate planning of an air force of 50,000 planes, only 343 combat planes have been ordered, of which none will be delivered before Dec. 15 of this year and some not until 1942. He charged that the placing of orders for delivery of mechanized military equipment is lagging "to the extent that our national security is seriously menaced."

Orders Cover Three Years.

The administration attempted to counter today. Robert Horton, press agent for the national defense advisory commission, hurried to the White House. There, in company with Presidential Secretary Stephen Early, he delivered an involved statement, the essence of which seemed to indicate that Senator Byrd had erred in his figures by more than 6,000 planes.

In view of the statements by the secretaries of army and navy, made public later by Senator Byrd, it appeared that press agent Horton, to achieve this pleasing picture, had included all contracts let by the army and navy for the last two or three years. This apparently was intended to cover up the fact that despite the early appropriation this year of more than 5 billion dollars for the army and navy [another 5 billion dollar defense appropriation bill is pending] the airplane procurement program of the administration has been snagged in government red tape for nearly 3½ months.

Later Date Revealed.

In view of the White House statement, Senator Byrd declared, he presented the letters he had received from Secretary of Navy Knox and Secretary of War Stimson. Both letters were dated subsequent to Aug. 17, which Press Agent Horton gave as the date of the statistics. The Knox letter, dated Aug. 20, gave the following information with respect to combatant aircraft:

Combatant type of aircraft ordered since May 1, 1940:

June 29, 1940—One patrol bomber [experimental] cost $1,933,761, delivery April 29, 1942.

August 5, 1940—243 fighters, cost $7,260,280, delivery Dec. 15, 1940, to Feb. 5, 1942.

The Stimson letter, Senator Byrd revealed, was dated Aug. 23. It gave information regarding the number of combat planes ordered since May 1, and the delivery dates, as follows:

1 plane; type, XB-28, medium bomber, two engine; manufacturer, North American Aviation, Inc., Inglewood, Cal.; delivery by May 17, 1941.

42 planes; type, 0-49 observation; manufacturer, Stinson Aircraft Division Aviation Manufacturing corporation, Nashville, Tenn.; begin delivery June, 1941; complete delivery August, 1941.

Reviews Stimson Testimony.

Replying to Press Agent Horton's inference that lack of funds from congress [the delay in passing the second 5 billion dollar defense bill] had delayed the airplane procurement program, Senator Byrd called attention to the testimony given by Secretary Stimson before the ways and means committee of the house on Aug. 9 when he said:

"In other words, congress has made available to the army during June approximately $400,000,000 for airplanes, engines, and accessories. Yet, today, almost seven weeks later, we have been able to sign contracts for the construction of only 33 planes of the 4,000 and more for which these appropriations were made."

Nation's Security At Stake.

Notwithstanding any other statements to the contrary, Senator Byrd commented, the Stimson and Knox letters made it perfectly clear that in the last 100 days only 343 combatant airplanes have been contracted for and that a majority of them will not be delivered for at least 12 months.

The White House statement contained the language that the orders were covered by contracts "in the works," Senator Byrd noted.

"What 'in the works' means, I do not know," he remarked, "I do know, however, that the national defense advisory commission clears contracts, which is not equivalent actually to making a firm contract.

"What the people of America today are concerned about is definite and constructive steps toward the early and quick preparation of our military defenses. I am convinced that these preparations are lagging to the extent that our national security is seriously menaced. They want airplanes not 'on order' for delivery a year or so hence, but for delivery with promptness.

"As fighting airplanes constitute one of the most important factors in our national defense, my attention was primarily directed to the weakness of our airplane defense when I ascertained that we have today less than 2,000 fighting airplanes, a large proportion of which are more than 2 years old, some being 8 and 9 years old. It does not take an expert to say that maximum efficiency in front line fighting cannot be expected of airplanes several years old.

Demands Congress Take Reins.

"In view of the confusing and conflicting statements from the different agencies of the government with respect to the progress of our national defense, I am convinced that congress itself should establish a national defense committee so that such a committee can keep closely in touch with the progress of this essential work and take steps that may be necessary to expedite it when unreasonable delays occur.

"I am introducing a resolution today providing for a special senate committee for national defense."

Byrd's resolution calls for the creation of a special senate committee on national defense, to consist of three members each from the military and naval affairs committees and three from the senate at large. It would have power to subpena books and records, put witnesses under oath, and examine all contracts.

MRS. UDELLE SAUNDERS.

Mrs. Udelle Saunders, 26 years old, who filed a divorce bill last January, but was reconciled in March to her husband, James, 27, a truck driver, revived the bill yesterday to obtain a divorce in Circuit Judge Walter J. La Buy's court. Mrs. Saunders, a clothing buyer, living at 1809 South Ridgeway avenue, charged cruelty. Her lawyer, Sol R. Friedman, said that she took back her husband on condition that he would not continue his mistreatment, but that on July 4 he came home intoxicated and struck her. The couple has a daughter Rita, 1 year old. She was granted custody of the child and $7 a week support.

department, however, intended to call up 600,000 men on Oct. 1, 1941, and this could not be done under the Lodge amendment. By the end of 1941, however, the first class of 400,000 will have served their year's time and may be replaced with new conscripts.

Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the military affairs committee, told the senate that the program of the war department calls for a reserve of 3,400,000 trained conscripts by April 1, 1944. The mobilization force at that time, he said, will be 3,400,000 trained reserves, 255,000 in the National Guard, and 375,000 in the regular army, or a total of 4,030,000.

Ban Race Discrimination.

By at vote of 53 to 21, the senate adopted an amendment by Senator Robert F. Wagner [D., N. Y.] prohibiting discrimination on account of race or color against applicants for enlistment in the army. Southern senators, noted for their filibusters against antilynching bills, objected to the Wagner amendment. They insisted that Wagner was trying to force the army to mix Negroes and whites in the same units.

Wagner denied his amendment would require mixed units. His only purpose, he said, was to force the army to organize new colored units and accept Negroes who want to enlist. At present, he said, there are only four colored regiments and a few other small units in which Negroes are accepted.

SENATE PASSES 327 MILLION U. S. ROAD FUND BILL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26 (AP).—Legislation authorizing appropriations of $327,000,000 for the federal highway program for the fiscal years of 1942 and 1943 was approved unanimously by the senate today. A major item was $200,000,000 for grants to states for construction of secondary roads.

The house originally had voted $357,000,000 for the two year period and the senate $321,000,000. The house must act on the compromise figure recommended by a joint committee.

The bill also included $40,000,000 for grade crossing elimination and $20,000,000 for forest roads.

ASK 150 MILLIONS TO HOUSE GROUPS IN DEFENSE WORK

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26 (AP).—The defense commission asked congress today for $150,000,000 to house persons engaged in national defense activities.

The housing would be in areas in which the President found an acute shortage which would impede defense work.

President Roosevelt has allocated nearly $30,000,000 for preliminary construction of camps for the first 400,000 young men to be conscripted under the pending draft bill.

Deserted

MRS. FRANCES TAMPAS.

Mrs Frances Tampas, 25 years old, told Judge John J. Lupe in the Superior court yesterday that during courtship her husband, James, of 6546 South Union avenue, gave her many expensive gifts and entertained her almost every night of the week.

"But after we were married," she said, "he even forgot birthday and wedding anniversaries, and whenever I suggested that we go out, he always replied that he was too tired."

Mrs. Tampas, who lives at 712 North Leamington avenue and was represented by Attorney Harry X. Cole, was granted a divorce on the ground of desertion. She was married March 11, 1937, and said her husband left her May 1, 1939.

REPORT WARNS OF DANGERS IN RADIO CONTROL

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 26 [Special]. Potential danger of government management of radio is discussed in a report of the committee on communications which will be presented to the American Bar association at its annual meeting here Sept. 9 to 13. There is no such threat at present, the report states, but adds:

"Government boards charged with licensing and regulating radio stations are under constant and powerful pressure to follow dictates of the President. Since the President must act as the head of a party as well as head of the nation, this means that to some extent the government groups themselves will be influenced by the President's partisan aim that his party shall succeed at the polls."

The public, it continues, is becoming more and more prone to threaten that it will seek regulatory laws if it is dissatisfied with the broadcast matter it hears.

WHY HAS DEFENSE FALTERED? ASKS SEN. VANDENBERG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26.—Asserting that the defense program is bogging down and the time has come to find out why, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] today hit back at administration charges that congress is responsible for the lack of progress.

He called for "candor and real action," asserting that there is "entirely too much buck passing." Senator Vandenberg's statement was issued thru the Republican National committee.

"It is absurd to pretend that delay in defense progress is all the fault of congress, which has voted every dollar the executive departments have asked," he said. "It is also absurd to pretend that lack of man power is holding preparedness back. There is too much conflicting information about everything.

"Orders for 343 combat planes in the last 100 days for all branches is no progress at all. Whatever the reason, it should be truthfully identified and cured. We want air supremacy and we want it as swiftly as coördinated efficiency can produce it.

"There is too big a gap between 50,000 planes a year and the pitifully small number coming into use. Personally, I think we shall never get the air force we want and need until the air force is an independent, consolidated, coördinated unit released from subordination to other units."

Senator Vandenberg said his request for candor applies to foreign policy as well as defense.

Pretender Succumbs in Spanish Morocco.

LARACHE, Spanish Morocco, Aug. 26 (AP).—The duke of Guise, 66 year old exiled pretender to the French throne, who for years had warned his countrymen that a monarchy was the alternative to collapse and dictatorship, died here today.

Duke of Guise.

Royalists and prominent townsmen were admitted to the ducal palace tonight to file by his bier in the presence of his widow, Princess Isabelle, and a daughter, Princess Françoise of Greece.

Burial will be tomorrow in the old cemetery of Larache.

His son, Henri, count of Paris, is expected to assume the responsibilities of the pretender. Hopes of French royalists have centered in him for several years altho the duke declined to make any active attempt to recover the throne.

LONG A GENTLEMAN FARMER.

Thruout most of his life the duke of Guise was content to be a gentleman farmer, with estates in France and Spanish Morocco.

In 1933, however, seven years after the death of his cousin, Duke Philippe of Orleans, had placed him in the rôle of "chief of the house of France," he issued a manifesto calling for a "dictatorship under the monarchy."

A year later there was bloody rioting in the Place de la Concorde in Paris in which young royalists joined with shouts of "Vive le Roi! [Long live the king]."

"The Republic can not go on like this," one of the duke's spokesmen said. "The next logical step might be a dictator, but we have no Mussolini, no Hitler. Why not then a return to the monarchy?"

Decides to "Conquer Throne."

In November, 1937, the duke issued another manifesto, announcing he had decided to "reconquer the throne of my fathers." He denounced communish, fascism and the French parliamentary system, and advocated a conference table solution of labor problems.

With the collapse of French military power last June and the rise of the authoritarian régime of Marshal Philippe Petain, the pretender's claims began to attract more serious attention.

Observers speculated that Petain's assumption of the title "chief of state" might be only a temporary device aimed to restore the monarchy. It was said Petain had been impressed by the pattern of Gen. Franco's Spanish Nationalist government, which has "left the door open" to restoration of the monarchy in Spain.

PILOT'S SKILFUL WORK IN GLIDER AVERTS A CRASH

Spectators at the third annual American Open Soaring contest yesterday saw J. Shelly Charles, an Eastern Air Lines pilot and gliding enthusiast, avert an accident by skilful handling of his German built motorless sailplane. The contest is being held at the Lewis School of Aeronautics, six miles north of Joliet on highway 66.

As Charles' sailplane was being towed aloft by a power winch it fouled the tow line of another winch and rose into the air with this second line dragging from the tail skid. At an altitude of 800 feet Charles released the first line, but was unable to rid his plane of the cable dragging from the tail.

Maneuvering carefully, he brought his ship in for a landing with the line still dragging. At a height of 50 feet, however, the cable dropped free, allowing him to make a normal landing.

Bad weather dogged the meet again yesterday. The 30 glider pilots in the contest hoped, however, to get away on distance flights today. They are competing for cash prizes totaling more than $3,000. The largest single award is a $400 cash prize and trophy given by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

But if you want to get the most milk in your pail you have to go to the No. 1 cow—scientifically fed and bred to give a daily average many times 17 to 18 pounds a day.

Sales-hungry advertisers who want to get the most for their advertising dollar go to the No. 1 sales territory—Collier's.

Look at the box at the right. And remember: those are not our figures. They're all picked from surveys made by others—including our competitors in the weekly field.

Look at the magazine itself—any week. Alive, modern, vibrant, it's built for and goes to the very millions of responsive, active readers you want as customers.

Collier's, of all the multi-million weekly magazines published over a long period of years, is the only one that is at its all-time peak today—both in circulation and in advertising revenue!

Advertisers know their sales results. G. M. Philpott, director of advertising of Ralston Purina Company, says: "We chose Collier's not only because of its fine visibility and readership, but also because your merchandising work in the stores had already proved itself to be extremely helpful. We have been just as well pleased with the results on Ry-Krisp as we were with Shredded Ralston. Ry-Krisp sales and Collier's cooperation have been extremely gratifying."

HOW'S THIS FOR THE NO. 1 SALES TERRITORY IN THE UNITED STATES?

Collier's today has 2,890,058 circulation. But it takes more than circulation to make a market. It takes people with active wants and the buying power to satisfy them. By these standards the Collier's record is:

No. 1 in percentage of readers between the ages of 26 and 45 inclusive—the buying age.

No. 1 in number of people over 18 years old in reader families.

No. 1 among new-car buyers, and in percentage of circulation going to car-owning families.

No. 1 among buyers of mechanical refrigerators costing over $150.

No. 1 among buyers of radios costing over $100.

No. 1 among buyers of watches costing over $50.

No. 1 among buyers of life insurance policies over $5,000.

None of these figures are taken from surveys made by or for Collier's—we've let others prove our point. And no other combination of weekly magazines can reach more than 29.7% of this market.

More important facts that everyone knows—

You are days closer to Collier's great market than to any other weekly's market because of Collier's new fast copy closing dates.

Your sales message in Collier's is flashed against the finest background. Collier's alert, vital editing, streamlined makeup and the constant use of more color than any other weekly assure this.

2D ARMY TROOPS HALT MIMIC WAR IN RAIN AND MIST

Battle Is Called Off by Maneuver Umpires.

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp McCoy, Wis., Aug. 26.—Troops of the 2d army, pelted by a cold rain for two days, received the "cease firing" order in the battle of Wisconsin at 3:33 p. m. today. The order, which came nearly 20 hours before it had been expected, ended the final and most extensive exercise of the three week training period of the 2d army.

A double reason for ending the maneuver ahead of time was given. In the first place the problem was declared completed, with the rival troops in such relative positions that further maneuvering was impossible within the limited time before the problem would have ended tomorrow.

In addition it was deemed advisable that the soldiers, most of them guardsmen, be allowed to return to their base camps and get into dry clothing. All had been sleeping on the ground and in many cases were soaked to the skin.

Planes Kept on Ground.

Rain had bogged the grand maneuver from its opening shot. Last night it peppered troops of both sides as they plodded over the roads in tactical problems, their wet slickers making them ghostly figures in the gloom. Today, as yesterday, the low ceiling grounded aviation. The 55 planes of the GHQ air force, which flew to Madison airport Saturday and were to have carried out bombing and strafing missions thruout Sunday and Monday, have not been off the ground.

This morning some of the observation planes at McCoy field did take off on short missions, but the flights were few and short lived. Thus the weather prevented the demonstration of combat flying planned for the 60,000 troops of the Second army.

33d in Thick of Battle.

Thruout the maneuver, in which the Sixth army corps [Reds] battled the Fifth army corps [Blues], the heaviest load was borne by the 33d division, Illinois National Guard, which was part of the Sixth corps. This division delivered the center attack, while the 5th division [regular army] attacked on the Blues' right flank and the 32d division, Michigan and Wisconsin National Guard slashed at the Blues' left flank.

It was in the closing phases of the battle that the Red corps brought into play the grand strategy it had been developing since the battle started on Saturday. This strategy was a converging attack to the front against the Fifth corps [Blues].

When the battle was called, the 33d division had accomplished its mission, which was to wrest from the Blues the strategic hill crowned by the 1,200 foot Purdy Valley ridge.

Launch Converging Attack.

In the closing phases the battle line extended in general from a point south of Knapp southwestward to a point east of Purdy Valley ridge and thence south to route 16. It was not a continuous line, however.

The Reds, who were advancing southeast against the Blues, who were faced northwestward, took a day and a half to prepare for the converging attack which they launched at dawn this morning. The plan called for four separate actions as follows:

First—The Reds' 5th division was ordered to advance southeastward in truck columns of combat teams from its position near Oak Ridge tower. It was ordered to proceed down route 12 to the vicinity of Watermill. Starting out on schedule the 5th was able to proceed without opposition, indicating the Blues had withdrawn.

Second—The Reds' 33d division, on the south of the 5th, was ordered to drive about six miles eastward thru the hills fortified by the Blues. Its objective was a line between Watermill and the Chicago & North Western railway west of Wyeville. The front organized by the 33d extended almost from Clear creek south to Tarr creek. The 66th brigade was on the north, the 65th on the south.

Third—The Reds' 32d division, which had been brought by rail and motor from Black River Falls to the Camp McCoy reservation, was ordered to hit the Blues' left flank in an attack aimed northeastwardly.

Fourth—Meanwhile, the Red 53d cavalry brigade was charged with a wide envelopment around the Blues' right flank with the objective of cutting the Blue communications. The cavalry brigade was to move from the vicinity of Norway Ridge tower, where much of it was bivouacked, to Shennington [east of Wyeville].

Thru Mechanized Thrusts.

The truck-tanks of the provisional mechanized force under command of the Blues made three thrusts today. In the first one, near Millston, umpires held that one of three truck-tanks was put out of action by mechanized reconnaissance forces of the Reds' 5th division, and that the other two truck-tanks were stopped by anti-tank gunfire.

Another provisional mechanized force thrust was made at Tunnel City, which changed hands three times, and the third was along route 12 at Tomah. In the latter engagement the mechanized unit was stopped at Town hall, southwest of Tomah, the umpires said.

Four Divisions to Be Called.

Four divisions of the National Guard and various antiaircraft regiments will be mobilized as quickly as possible after necessary legislation is passed. This was announced here yesterday by Robert P. Patterson, assistant secretary of war, who said that plans for calling up further units have not been completed.

Patterson was asked whether the guardsmen will be equipped "100 per cent" when they are mobilized. He replied that they will be given necessary basic equipment upon mobilization and other items of combat equipment as they were produced.

In answer to another question he said that production of the Garand rifle will reach 500 daily at the Springfield armory by November. The present output, he said, is 300 daily and the Garand is the only "bottleneck" in the small arms output.

The assistant secretary of war said also that by spring a number of army units will have been equipped with the proper quantity of 37 mm. anti-tank guns.

Illinois Guard Takes Heaviest Load in Maneuvers

(Story in adjoining column.)

GUARDSMEN HOLDING KEY INDUSTRIAL JOBS ARE NOT TO BE CALLED

Boston, Mass., Aug. 26 (AP).—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson served notice today that National Guardsmen holding civilian jobs important to the nation's rearmament will not be called into active military service, and urged that their military positions be filled by others "before the Guard units are brought to active duty."

"In the event that the National Guard is ordered into active federal service," he wrote Gov. Leverett Saltonstall, "it is important to minimize the effect of this action on other, and equally essential, defense activities.

"The National Guard contains among its officers and enlisted men a number who now occupy key positions in industries engaged in important defense projects, government arsenals, navy yards, and similar activities."

"Such men are more important to the nation in their present positions than they would be in active military service, and it is vital that they remain on their jobs."

U. OF C. WEATHER INSTITUTE SET UP AS A DEFENSE AID

Meteorology Branch Will Study War Factors.

Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, yesterday announced the establishment of an institute of meteorology at the university as part of that institution's contribution to the national defense program.

Previously the university had announced plans for training airplane pilots and a course in exterior ballistics. To facilitate coöperation with the government program, the university has established a defense council headed by Emery T. Filbey, vice president.

Army Men to Be Trained.

The meteorological institute, which will open Sept. 29, will train army, navy, and air corps members as well as weather bureau personnel and regular students. Its creation was made possible thru funds given by an anonymous donor.

Heading the institute will be Dr. C. G. Rossby, who now is affiliated with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the United States weather bureau. He will be assisted by Dr. H. R. Byers, meteorologist in charge of air mass research for the weather bureau; Dr. H. M. Leppard of the university's department of geography; Dr. M. J. Ference of the department of physics, and three other meteorologists.

Defense Value Cited.

"The war in Europe, with major movements timed to weather developments, puts meteorology in sharp focus in relation to defense," Dr. Hutchins said. "The institute will have the further long range objectives of training meteorologists required to fill the nation's industrial and agricultural needs."

Flight training for aeronautics students will start Oct. 16 at the Ford airport at Lansing. The Civil Aeronautics authority is coöperating in this project.

The university plans to buy eight training planes, three more powerful ships for advanced students, and full parachute equipment. Lieut. W. T. Brownell will direct the aviation courses.

WILLKIE BLASTS ROOSEVELT FOR DEFENSE DELAY

Demands More Authority for Advisory Experts.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 26 [Special].—President Roosevelt was criticized sharply today by his Republican opponent, Wendell Willkie, for failure to delegate authority to the industrialists he appointed to speed production of airplanes, tanks, and other war machines for the nation's defense.

"Preparedness is primarily a problem of production, production, production!" Willkie declared, pounding his desk and raising his voice.

"Any one with a rudimentary knowledge of organization knows that no organization can function effectively without a head. On all questions of policy, the advisory commission to the council of national defense has to go to the President.

"No President of the United States, no matter how able, can, with all his other duties, give adequate attention to the problems that this commission has to consider."

Demands Coördination.

At his press interview, Willkie:

1. Called for the immediate granting of authority to the national defense advisory commission.

2. Demanded that the commission of seven members elect a chairman. He indicated that William S. Knudsen of General Motors would be his choice for the post.

3. Called upon President Roosevelt to make public immediately the report of the war resources board which was headed by Edward R. Stettinius Jr., former steel executive now associated with Knudsen on the advisory commission.

4. Said that he favored immediate passage of the conscription bill, and added that "any interpretation of my stand on the conscription bill that holds I am for its passage at some time other than now is erroneous."

5. Commended Senator Harry Flood Byrd [D., Va.] for demanding an inquiry on why, 100 days after President Roosevelt's proposal for 50,000 airplanes, only 343 combat planes have been ordered by the army, the navy, and the marine corps.

6. Declined an invitation to debate with Norman Thomas, Socialist Presidential candidate, but said that if Thomas could get President Roosevelt to join them, he would be glad to participate in a tripartite debate.

Blames Jealousy and Discord.

Willkie declared that the present national defense setup is "productive of jealousies, ineffectiveness, discord, inefficiency, delays, and failure."

"If the advisory commission had real authority," he said, "and Knudsen were made chairman, there isn't any question that he would have tanks and airplanes rolling off production lines very soon. Let me say that Knudsen is one of the ablest men in industry in the country.

"At the moment we are engaged primarily in a problem of production, and this administration has no experience in practical organization or production. You couldn't run a peanut stand if you had seven employés and no directing head.

"Modern war is based upon the production of tanks and airplanes and similar equipment. It has been demonstrated that men against machines are helpless."

Demands Public Be Informed.

Willkie then called attention to the unrevealed report of the Stettinius committee.

"It should be made public," he said. "I say this with the utmost respect for the President, yet this still is a democracy and the people are entitled to know what it contained.

"I haven't seen it, but knowing some of the men who prepared it, I am satisfied it recommended a method of organizing industry."

In approving Senator Byrd's proposed inquiry into the delay in arming the nation for modern warfare, Willkie said that if the administration is at fault, it should see that the fault is corrected immediately.

"If the fault lies in lack of legislation, then the administration should speak forth and call for that legislation," he continued. "It has a majority in both houses of congress and ought to be able to obtain its passage. This is no time for passing the buck between two elements; this is the time to get planes built."

Favors Private Enterprise.

Willkie said he believes the instruments of national defense should be manufactured by private industry, and that the government should step in only where it is absolutely necessary. Profits, he feels, "should be held to very reasonable levels."

The nominee paid sarcastic respects to Solicitor General Francis Biddle, who spoke against him Saturday, claiming that while Willkie poses as a liberal, actually Willkie is a businessman who doesn't like government regulation and therefore hates the New Deal.

"Solicitor General Biddle," Willkie commented, "devoting himself to other than the duties of his office, says that I am a businessman. I admit it and I am proud of it. I can understand how Mr. Biddle thinks it strange for a businessman to be running for public office, because they certainly haven't any one in Washington who knows anything about business."

Renews Debate Offer.

Willkie was told that several Socialists were picketing his hotel, carrying banners demanding the he accept Norman Thomas' challenge to debate. He laughed and said he wouldn't debate with the Socialist candidate alone.

"I'm very fond of Norman," he said, "and if he can get Mr. Roosevelt to join us, I'll be glad to participate in a tri-partite debate."

The nominee was asked if he had any comment on the recent shifts in the Roosevelt cabinet, particularly the offer of the commerce post to Jesse H. Jones of Texas.

"Well, it looks as tho they are very much worried about Texas," Willkie replied. He is to go into Texas next month on his swing to the west coast.

Freed in Dope Case

MRS. MARGARET DE SANTO.

Margaret Mary Collins De Santo, known as "The Kiss of Death" in the prohibition era, was cleared of a disorderly conduct charge by Judge Nuncio J. Bonelli in Women's court yesterday. Her husband, Thomas De Santo, 2906 Wentworth avenue, was freed of the same charge, and her sister, Miss Ann Martin of 500 Fullerton parkway was acquitted on a charge of possessing narcotics.

The three were arrested last Wednesday in Miss Martin's apartment, where 16 ounces of heroin was found. The defendants insisted that the drug was left there by a woman now dead.

Mrs. De Santo was given her nickname after several of her gangster sweethearts had been shot to death by enemies.

OFFICE WORKERS SET UP WILLKIE CAMPAIGN UNIT

Two hundred newcomers to politics met in the Red room of the La Salle hotel yesterday and organized the Willkie Office Workers' group which is to be built up as an active campaign unit by enlistment of employés in Chicago office buildings.

After officers had been elected, one of the directors, Miss Norma Rogers, made what was described as the most telling speech of the afternoon, an announcement that she was handing Treasurer William Hill a check for $200 to pay the initial expenses of the movement. She said the check was presented by J. H. Manheimer, an investment broker with offices at 105 West Adams street. She is his secretary and she said he was enthusiastic about her joining the group.

P. Wallace Enright was elected chairman, Harry W. Puccetti, vice chairman, and Charles E. Simmons, secretary.

Electric Auto (They Are Not Extinct!) in Crash

An old fashioned electric automobile went wild in Evanston yesterday, and crashed into the front porch of a house at 425 Hamilton street. The driver was Mrs. Mary Wait, 76 years old, 1020 Forest avenue, Evanston. She was driving in Hamilton street at Michigan avenue when a package fell from the seat to the floor of the car. As she bent to retrieve it, she lost control. After the crash Mrs. Wait, unhurt, waited until Policeman Walter Engebrecht arrived to make a report. Then, unruffled, she drove home.

MUSEUM BOARD ACCEPTS OUSTER OF DIRECTOR FOX

Declines to Tell Vote on 11 Resignations.

The board of trustees of the Museum of Science and Industry yesterday accepted the forced resignation of Dr. Philip Fox, director of the museum for more than three years, and ten other officials. The board appointed Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, newly elected president of the museum, to replace Dr. Fox, and issued a statement declaring: "In the interest of necessary economy the positions of president and director were merged."

Maj. Lohr's salary as president-director is $25,000 a year. Dr. Fox received $15,000 a year.

"I have not been notified of the board's action," Dr. Fox said late yesterday. "I was invited to the board meeting at the 11th hour and by that time had another appointment. When I am notified of the board's action I will be glad to make a statement in my own behalf and in behalf of the other officials who were dismissed so peremptorily."

Officer in Reserves.

Dr. Fox said he had no plans for the future, but remarked: "If the army reserves are called out I will probably be in active service." He is colonel of the 341st infantry in the Reserve Officers' corps. He was director of the Adler planetarium for seven years prior to his appointment as museum director.

Maj. Lohr came to the museum on July 15, after resigning as president of the National Broadcasting company. Two weeks later he asked for the resignation of the 11 museum officials and announced a plan for getting industries to participate in the museum's work.

After acting on Dr. Fox's resignation, the museum board yesterday considered completion of the museum's plan of exhibits. It was decided to defer a formal opening until the entire museum is ready for the public this fall. Sections now operating will continue to be open to the public from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. from Monday thru Saturday and from 1 to 6 p. m. Sunday.

Membership of Board.

In addition to Maj. Lohr, the members of the board of trustees are Col. F. C. Boggs, secretary; Sewell L. Avery, Ralph Budd, Philip R. Clarke, Thomas E. Donnelley, Charles Y. Freeman, Samuel Insull, A. H. Mellinger, Dr. William Allen Pusey, George A. Ranney, Theodore W. Robinson, Lessing J. Rosenwald, William Rosenwald, Joseph T. Ryerson, Solomon A. Smith, Col. A. A. Sprague, and Gen. Robert E. Wood. Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district, and Leroy Woodland are ex-officio members.

Members of the board who could be reached last night declined, on the ground that "it would not be in the public interest," to name the members who were present at yesterday's meeting or to say how the board voted on the ouster of Dr. Fox.

CRICKETS SWARM UPON ELGIN'S LOCUST STREET

The crickets have come to Locust street in Elgin, health officials there were informed yesterday. Clothing and curtains in homes are being cut to pieces and two persons required medical attention after being bitten, according to Health Commissioner William H. Trentlage. He ordered oil spread upon a dumping ground which is a breeding place for the pests in the Locust street area. The invaders are Mormon crickets, small and brown and so called because they are of the type that beset Mormon settlers almost a century ago.

REPUBLICAN

This Is the Difference

BY CARLISLE BARGERON.

Back in the 1936 campaign Mr. Roosevelt went to Philadelphia. Not the time of his acceptance speech, when he said "America has a rendezvous with destiny." It was later in the campaign.

No man ever received such an acclaim from his fellow human beings. It was almost impossible for his automobile to push thru the crowd. Hysterical women threw themselves on the pavement in front of the car; others tore inexpensive jewelry from their necks and tossed it into the car; men screamed cries of gratitude.

It was the most touching scene this writer ever had witnessed. Here were a people who had been in dire want—thousands of them had actually faced death from undernourishment. Now there was an APPARENCY of prosperity returned. The men of those women had gone back to work—on WPA largely, but this was a "living" and it held the hope of better things. They had no way of knowing that a few months later it would all blow up and throw them back into a state of utter helplessness. All they wanted to do now was to express their gratitude to the man they considered responsible for their salvation.

It is not pleasant to see one's fellow human beings driven to a condition of groveling before another human being in this way. You expected Mr. Roosevelt to be saddened as were most of those in the party with him. Was he? HE WAS NOT.

Stops to Say "Boo."

He boarded the Presidential train to return to Washington in high glee. This was success. He had the people of the country in the palm of his hand. Landon might not know it but he was sunk. The victorious Roosevelt taking the homage of his people. He was so enthusiastic over the "success" of the Philadelphia visit that he decided to stop the train at Wilmington, Del., and say "Boo" to the du Ponts.

And as he stood there on the rear platform hurling darts of bravado at "economic royalists," one of his sons and one of the du Pont daughters, happy in their new-found love, were trying their best to board the train. The President's aides, perceiving how politically bad this would be, succeeded in keeping them off. Newspaper correspondents writing the story were attacked as tools of the "stinking rich." A few months after Mr. Roosevelt's reëlection the young couple were married.

This is the DIFFERENCE between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie. It is the DIFFERENCE between HYPOCRISY and SINCERITY.

Wendell Willkie, witnessing such a scene of his fellow human beings as that at Philadelphia, would not have felt like booing at anybody. He would have felt a chastisement of his soul. He would have gone back to Washington and communed with himself and prayed for the strength to lift these groveling human beings back to the dignity of men. He would not have considered them pawns in the gratification of his ambitions. Because people to him are fellow human beings. He has lived and worked with them in all the stages of existence.

The Dictator Step.

Very few nations, if any, so close as we are to bankruptcy and the inevitable dictatorship have ever been able to draw back. The almost irresistible urge is to step on over the precipice and get it over with.

If Mr. Roosevelt is reëlected we will have taken that step. We will have gone right along in the world-wide trend.

If Mr. Willkie is elected we will have done the seemingly miraculous of pulling back and going the other way.

This is the DIFFERENCE between the two men.

The DIFFERENCE between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie is the DIFFERENCE between political immorality and morality—between immorality and morality in government.

It is the DIFFERENCE between government by political bosses and burocrats and government BY THE PEOPLE, FOR THE PEOPLE, AND OF THE PEOPLE.

Form Without Substance.

The people of Germany today have the outward forms of our democracy. They have a "legislative" body. They have the "right to vote."

The DIFFERENCE between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie is whether our democratic processes become simply OUTWARD FORMS or whether we EXERCISE them.

Is Mr. Willkie such a gigantic stature, such a miracle worker, such a superman, that he can bring all of these things about?

O, no. He doesn't claim to be—which is another DIFFERENCE between him and Mr. Roosevelt. But his election will signalize to the whole world that the American people, when along with other peoples they came to the mouth of the chasm, had the strength to turn back.

Historians studying our frivolities in the past have expressed the belief that the stars watched over us.

Even tho Mr. Roosevelt's opponent this time were a plain Mr. Smith or Mr. Brown, it would be for the American people to show they were CAPABLE of changing Presidents, as has been their custom at least every eight years in the past. We are blessed, indeed, when under such circumstances the alternative is a man of Mr. Willkie's character and ability. It is as if the stars that watch over us produced him. We had better not defy fate.

Capt. Aubrey Fitch Named Rear Admiral by President

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26 (AP).—President Roosevelt today nominated Capt. Aubrey W. Fitch, commander of Patrol Wing 2, aircraft scouting forces with the fleet, and former commander of the naval air station at Pensacola, Fla., to be a rear admiral. Capt. Fitch is a native of St. Ignace, Mich., and has a home at Grosse Pointe Park, Mich

DEMOCRAT

Keep Defense Out of Politics

Wendell Willkie has now tossed national defense into partisan politics in his scramble for Presidential votes.

Apparently no one informed him that the Roosevelt defense record shines forth like a beacon light in contrast to that of his fellow Republicans, both in congress and out of it.

After a superficial analysis of the war abroad, based largely on the unhappy fate suffered by France and the Low Countries, the Republican nominee advocated the creation of a department of national defense, or, as an ad interim substitute, the creation of a new department of aeronautics with a cabinet officer in control. He gave the impression that this single step would solve the nation's defense problems.

Now this is a question of military organization, involving complex and technical difficulties, the ramifications of which are too numerous for quick and ready analysis by a mere layman. Certainly the question cannot be solved by the offhand assurance of a political candidate who has a complete and life-long innocence of tactical military matters.

French Plight Obvious.

That France would have been better off with a larger air force no one disputes for a moment. Likewise, France would have been better off with more tanks, more heavy artillery, better supplies and communications, more modern firearms, and a more robust fighting spirit. Situated as she was, next door to Germany, without 3,000 miles of ocean intervening, France was wide open to attack by land and air.

But there is no evidence that an air force, operating independently of the navy, would provide better protection for this country than the present system of coördinated defense. The question is one primarily for military and naval experts.

The implication left by Mr. Willkie, however, that this country has been left unguarded because of the negligence of the Roosevelt administration is too raw to go unchallenged. On the contrary, there is no public question on which President Roosevelt has acted with greater foresight, wisdom, and statesmanship, and with a higher degree of impartial patriotism.

For more than two years his efforts to wake up this country to the danger of imminent peril was frustrated and obstructed by Republican spokesmen. And as the present head of the minority party Mr. Willkie must take full responsibility for this obstructionist program. It was short-sighted, narrow, and dangerous.

Recall Hoover Opinion.

In the vanguard was former President Herbert Hoover, who announced last fall, after hostilities had commenced, that a victory for Hitler was wholly impossible. He said the allied blockade would starve out Germany, and the worst to be expected was a stalemate. The late Senator Borah, following the same cue, called it a "phony war," and stood resolutely against increases for the navy and army. As late as last spring Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, a rival of Mr. Willkie for the Presidential nomination, proposed a 25 per cent slash in military and naval budgets.

Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, the Republican Vice Presidential nominee, actually voted against a bill authorizing an increase in airplanes for the army. He also opposed the measure authorizing the government to lay up surplus supplies of tin and rubber, badly needed military stores.

It would be pleasant to report an exception in this constant Republican opposition to the creation of an adequate defense. The only individual who put patriotism above partisanship was Col. Frank Knox of Illinois, and he was roundly denounced by his fellow Republicans for accepting the post of secretary of the navy in the Roosevelt cabinet.

Keeping Step Ahead.

The course pursued by President Roosevelt in keeping a step ahead of developments, in foreseeing the effects of Europe's disaster on events over here, was a major factor in bringing about his renomination. The public had lost confidence in the type of leaders who shut their eyes to realities and who had no conception of the drift in world affairs. This was the kind of petty politics that brought France to ruin and brought the smaller countries in Europe under the heel of Stalin and Hitler.

Before the storm broke President Roosevelt had the greatest navy in the world well under way, and he had nearly doubled the air force of the army and navy. When the collapse of the allied armies made speed imperative, he took defense out of politics by appointing Col. Henry L. Stimson war secretary and Col. Knox to the navy. He appointed outstanding industrialists like William S. Knudsen and Edward R. Stettinius Jr. to supervise the technical problems of production and supply.

Mr. Willkie charges into the defense problem about two years too late. The public is too well acquainted with the Republican defense record to be impressed.

MAP CHICAGO'S VITAL FACILITIES AS DEFENSE AID

A map of Chicago showing sites of utilities and transportation facilities is being prepared by the police department so that these essential services may be protected against sabotage in the event of war, Police Commissioner Allman said yesterday. Copies of the map will be distributed to the six supervising police captains and 41 district captains. The map is being drawn under the direction of Lieut. Make Mills, head of the industrial detail. The police department has not had a chart of this information in the past.

6 MILLION IN U. S. SUPPORT FOREIGN ISMS, SAYS DIES

Warns They Are Nation's Worst Enemies.

New York, Aug. 26 (AP).—Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, said today that there are 6,000,000 sympathizers of communist, Fascist, and Nazi organizations in this country.

Here to inquire into subversive groups, "particularly German," Dies said his committee is in unanimous agreement on the figure. He quoted Earl Browder, communist party Presidential candidate, as estimating that nearly 2,000,000 Americans are sympathetic to the party program.

Among the other 4,000,000 "totalitarian sympathizers" Dies listed 100,000 German-American bundsmen in New York state alone and 100,000 attendants at Fascist functions, as well as "gullible Americans."

Cites Financial Strength.

An audit of the communist party's books, Dies said, disclosed the party's income was $10,000,000 a year and that 3,000 contributors made annual gifts.

"The fifth column in the United States is better organized and financed than in any country overrun by Hitler," he told the joint annual convention of the National Association of Credit Jewelers and the American National Retail Jewelers' association. "As a matter of national defense, our leaders cannnot ignore the threats of communism, Fascism, and Nazism which are fundamentally alike in doctrine.

"We are not in danger of invasion by foreign armies. No power or group of powers can invade us as long as we stand prepared and united to the principles of Americanism. The enemy within constitutes the greatest danger to democracy, and treason from within, rather than invasion from without, is our greatest menace."

Tells Propaganda Method.

Dies declared many German-Americans are compelled thru fear for the safety of relatives in Germany to help distribute propaganda against both adequate national defense and assistance to Great Britain. The propaganda, he said, was sent thru the mails free under existing postal regulations which provide for collection of postage fees by countries from which the mail is sent.

Dies announced that he will seek enactment of a law forbidding the operation of any foreign controled propaganda organization in the United States.

During the day Dies began a series of private hearings. Among those he interviewed was Luise Rainer, film actress.

United Air Lines
Mainliner
UNITED

"The finest trip I ever made"

When you hear that expression from people who have made a flight in a United Mainliner . . . from men and women of all ages and walks of life . . . you begin to realize that Mainliner service has a definite character and personality which give a new feeling of enjoyment to people who fly on United Air Lines.

To create that pleasure is the aim of every single member of United. It is not confined to the pilots and stewardess aboard your plane, to the courteous young man who makes your reservations, nor to the skilled chefs in United's commissaries who plan and prepare the delicious meals served aloft.

It actually includes men and women whose work might not seem even remotely related to your enjoyment of your Mainliner flight—meteorologists, radio men, ground crews, United flight research engineers, and every one of United's 2600 employees.

Drawing on United's unmatched experience of 165,000,000 miles of flying, all of them take an active part in making any flight you take over United's nation-wide system the reason for wanting to take another. On your next trip to New York, Cleveland or California and "Anywhere West", fly in cool, clean comfort on United. Give yourself the opportunity to say: "That was the finest trip I ever made".

BUSINESS MAN: "United's economical fares give me Mainliner comfort and relaxation at surface travel costs. And the fact I use 4 travel hours instead of 16 or more, impresses the people with whom I do business that my time is valuable."

ELDERLY LADY: "I'm just old-fashioned enough to get a special pleasure out of the kindness, consideration and real hospitality of everybody who has anything to do with my flight in a United Mainliner. It's my favorite way to travel."

PHYSICIAN: "I frequently advise my patients to travel by air not only because it is so quick, and so much less fatiguing, but also because any experience that gives genuine pleasure is of real benefit to them. As for myself I practice what I preach."

SALESMAN: "I find a Mainliner trip pays double value. I arrive refreshed and on my mental toes. Besides, I can get the order and be back with my family in less time than I used to spend en route. It pays me to fly!"

COLLEGE GIRL: "There's a camaraderie in a United Mainliner that makes it seem more like a party than traveling. And I hope some day I'll be able to cook as delicious meals as they serve. Flying United, incidentally, gives me extra vacation days."

DEFENSE BOTTLENECK.

The White House telephone rang. It was Henry the Morgue calling. There was something the President had to do that day—it couldn't wait. The heat was on. The defense advisory commission had bluntly told the secretary of the treasury that he and a New Deal law were blocking rearmament. Mr. Morgenthau feared the wrath of the people when they were told where the responsibility lay for defense delays. Mr. Knudsen was refusing to play the rôle of goat. The secretary was scared and wanted action right away, or at least a statement from the White House that something was going to be done.

And so on July 10 the President's publicity secretary announced that at a conference at the White House attended by the secretary of the treasury, William Knudsen, Jesse Jones, Senator Pat Harrison, Congressman Jere Cooper, and several others, it was unanimously agreed that in the tax bill soon to be introduced provision should be made "for amortization over a five year period of additional facilities, including both plant and equipment, certified as immediately necessary for national defense purposes by the army and navy, and the advisory commission of the national defense council."

For months both the President and the secretary of the treasury had been told that something had to be done about the income tax law as it relates to depreciation. A manufacturer who installs equipment for use in his ordinary business expects to use it until it wears out. That may be 10 years. The cost of the equipment can then be recovered by apportioning the cost over the goods produced in the whole period. But a manufacturer who installs equipment especially to make munitions cannot tell how long the government is going to call upon him to make munitions. The war is of uncertain length. Comes peace, and a disarmament policy may be adopted. The cost of any new equipment purchased to fill a war contract has to be quickly amortized or the manufacturer may face ruin.

Corporation directors who are charged with safeguarding other people's funds have said that they were eager to do all they could to meet the government's defense requirements, but that they should not be expected to invest money in plant and equipment unless it was made clear that they could come out even. Germany was able to rearm quickly because German corporations installing equipment to turn out munitions were permitted to amortize their investment in three years. Our government in refusing to grant any similar amortization concessions on defense work has created a bottleneck.

Some of those who sat in at the White House conference on July 10 thought that the agreement was to permit special armament plant and equipment to be written off in five years, but that it should not be necessary to write off exactly 20 per cent each year. However, the bill as drawn authorizes amortization in five years, but requires that each year's portion be one-fifth.

The Knudsen commission will be well advised to insist upon a less restrictive amortization provision. In the long run it doesn't make any difference how rapidly depreciation is taken, because as soon as all of the cost of the plant or machinery has been written off there can be no further deductions for this purpose. The only gainer from a low rate of depreciation is the party in power. It adds to its tax receipts at the expense of successors and at the expense of companies which may fail because of overburdened taxes and then cease to be taxpayers.

THE RETIREMENT OF MR. HOPKINS.

Harry Hopkins got out of the department of commerce, according to report, because of ill health. That may be true, altho it hasn't been a prevailing rule in Washington that if a man was not well he gave up his place in the cabinet. There have been five recent resignations and all of them political.

Mr. Farley quit the postoffice and the national chairmanship because he didn't like the third term and didn't like the way he had been rewarded for many years of service. Mr. Woodring and Mr. Edison departed to give Mr. Roosevelt a chance to strengthen his war campaign by giving the army and navy to two Republicans whose acceptance of the places was to make the people believe that there wasn't any political opposition to what Mr. Roosevelt was trying to do.

Mr. Wallace retired when it was suggested to him that if he remained as the chief agricultural paymaster people might go around sniffing at his campaign and form their own opinion of what was rotten. Now Mr. Hopkins goes out of office because of ill health.

In putting the second term over Mr. Hopkins was head of the WPA, and after both the votes and the money had been counted in what the senate investigating committee [Democratic], headed by Senator Sheppard of Texas, said was a national scandal that ought to be on the public conscience, Harry was taken off the hot spot and put in the department of commerce.

When the senators who were to ratify the nomination examined Mr. Hopkins on the WPA scandals of four years ago, particularly in Kentucky and Pennsylvania, he admitted that there ought to have been a lot of men fired for what they had done. "We made mistakes," he said. No one was fired and the mistakes were all vote getters. Mr. Hopkins conceded that is was probably a correct estimate that 90 per cent of the people on relief had voted for the New Deal.

The inquiry never did get straightened out as to the remark attributed to Mr. Hopkins in a jovial race track mood when he is alleged to have said that the New Deal program was: "Spend and spend, tax and tax, elect and elect." He said he didn't say it. If he didn't, he missed an opportunity to become the author of the truest and shortest history of the New Deal.

THE TWO ARMY PROBLEMS.

The United States is facing two problems regarding its army. One is the immediate problem of providing and maintaining an army. The second is that of adopting a permanent military policy. By mistake they are being considered together.

The first problem lies mostly in the factories. We already have many more men than we can arm with modern weapons and nobody at Washington has been able to give accurate information as to when the supply of such weapons will equal the volunteers to use them.

We also have more soldiers now than our high ranking officers have had experience in directing in the field. The arming of the present force with modern weapons and the education of the high command are the immediate vital necessities.

A permanent plan for military defense should be approached in an entirely different manner, divorced from the defense emergency. Approaching it thru conscription, making it as burdensome as possible, saying that the burden of national defense shall weigh as heavily on the employed whose work in the factories is vital to rearmament as on the unemployed who are making no contribution to national production—such a course is the wrong way.

A better way is to make it plain that every citizen should be prepared to defend himself and his country at need. A great deal of military training can be given without taking the student away from his home. The handling of weapons, the use of machines, all military drill can be taught in the high schools.

At the end of the high school period these graduates of the school of the soldier can be attached to the army and given, not three weeks' maneuvers such as the army is conducting now, but a whole summer of field service. Young men who have been thru such a course of instruction will be far better equipped than most of our regular soldiers today.

High school graduates who go on to college should be required to continue military instruction thru their college years, leading to reserve or active commissions according to the proficiency displayed. In connection with this officer training plan, appointments to West Point and Annapolis should be freed from political pull and awarded on the basis of competitive examinations. A number of congressmen, recognizing the merit of this idea, have already put their appointments on the competitive basis.

TANKS IN THE WISCONSIN MANEUVERS.

Lieut. Gen. Ford's invitation to the 2d army at the start of its Wisconsin maneuvers to eschew mere imitation and attempt some original military thinking appears to have borne fruit in the stress placed on tank units in the mock combat. The maneuvers have shown the army making an intelligent effort at experiment in the use of armored columns. The tanks, of course, are purely imaginary, consisting of trucks designated as tanks. The country would feel more secure if the war mongers in Washington would leave off bawling for conscription long enough to provide modern weapons for the troops we already have.

DICTATORSHIP HAS COME.

When it was discovered that congress had passed a law giving the secretary of the navy authority at the direction of the President to take over plants when he could not come to agreement with the management a repealer was hurried thru the house of representatives. The congressmen said they did not know what they had done. In the senate there is opposition to the repeal. Senators have been listening to a recital of army and navy difficulties in placing orders.

Treasury department officials know very well where the hitch is. So do a lot of other people in and out of government. Plant expansion and new tools are needed for the production of military supplies. New investments are needed. The business men have been asking the government to tell them what they are to expect in taxes, in amortization allowances, and in profit limitations. They have a right to know their risks and it is not a private matter. It will affect the whole economic structure if there is mismanagement. The master minds of government are in disagreement and the thing doesn't get done.

The stalemate permits the New Deal politicos who are hurrying to conscript soldiers for whom there are no camps, uniforms or weapons, to say that business is seeking unfair war profits. They say that conscript soldiers must be supplied with conscript dollars. If they take a man out of a plant for a uniform he won't find they'll take the plant to see that he gets what he needs. They are under suspicion of trying to get at the man in order to get at the plant and of refusing to state their terms for production in order to denounce the industrialists as slackers whose property should be taken from them and put to work.

Editorial of the Day

TOMMY AND POLITICS.

[Rocky Mountain News.]

It is reported and denied in Washington that Thomas G. Corcoran, special counsel to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, soon will resign that government position to become active in the third term campaign.

If Mr. Corcoran does become active in the campaign —that is, more active—his resignation will be in order, since the Hatch act forbids all but a few "policy making" government officials to engage in political activity. Some may wonder why this should affect Tommy the Cork, he being so widely credited with making policies for the New Deal, but the fact is that his position is not one of those exempted from the Hatch act. Others may fear that it would be a terrible blow to the RFC to lose Mr. Corcoran's services as special counsel. As to that, perhaps there is reassurance in the statement of Jesse Jones, head of the RFC, on being asked whether Mr. Corcoran was about to resign.

"I haven't heard of it," said Mr. Jones. "But I seldom see him."

ANOTHER COMPARISON.

William Wordsworth wrote some lines 134 years ago that accurately sum up Britain's position today. In November of 1806 Napoleon was well on the way to being master of Europe. His brother, Joseph, was on the throne of Naples, his brother Louis on that of Holland. He had formed the states of southern Germany into the Confederation of the Rhine, with himself as president. He had defeated the Russians. Then the Austrians had gone down before him at Jena in October, 1806. In November Wordsworth wrote:

Another year! Another deadly blow!
Another mighty empire overthrown!
The last that dare to struggle with the foe.
'Tis well! From this day forward we shall know
That in ourselves our safety must be sought;
That by our own right hands it must be wrought;
That we must stand unpropped, or be laid low.
O dastard whom such foretaste does not cheer!
We shall exult, if they who rule the land
Be men who hold its many blessings dear,
Wise, upright, valiant; not a servile band,
Who are to judge of danger which they fear,
And honor which they do not understand.

Husband's Reply.

A horrible suspicion that our democracy is getting soft is raised by the answer a young husband gave to a society editor's rather apologetic inquiry as to whether he might happen to know what his wife was going to wear to a certain sporting event.

Source Book.

"A thousand years hence this (her book on Etiquet) is probably the first source book to which the anthropologists will turn for an index to the manners and customs of our times," says Mr. Targ. "We feel this book belongs on your shelf next to Frazer's The Golden Bough."

As you probably know, The Golden Bough traces man's customs and superstitions from barbarism to modern times. Mrs. Post sets forth customs of our day. Her chapter on formal dinners is quoted in Mr. Targ's book: "One inexorable rule of etiquet is that you must talk to your next-door neighbor at a dinner table!" On the subject of tips one is cautioned to leave 25c in a restaurant "with a tablecloth on the table." Otherwise 10 per cent is sufficient.

SKY ROOM.

A city visitor, a village mouse,
Accustomed to his field-surrounded house,
Observes, touristically agape,
How human honeycombs skyscrape . . .
He, nurtured on sweet bonhomie,
Can't fathom world economy
Which makes of lebensraum a battle byword,
Despite infinitude of room up skyward.

—Bernice Minarik.

Mention of book lists brings to mind the remark made by the wife of an educator upon reading the lists of the world's best books, as set down in Mortimer Adler's How to Read a Book.

ONE DRAFT AT A TIME.

[Hammond, Ind., Times.]

What does President Roosevelt know that the people do not know?

Is the United States secretly committed to raise a large army and send it to the defense of England?

Is there immediate danger of invasion by foreign powers?

Or order equipment, including arms and bullets, for the army it plans to draft.

Surely, the draft is not intended to take the spotlight off Wendell L. Willkie and swing it back to F. D. R., or even to distract the attention of the public from the utterances of the Republican Presidential nominee.

It couldn't be meant as a smoke screen to hide the weak defenses of the New Deal.

There can be no political significance attached to so costly an undertaking, surely.

There must be a wholly nonpolitical reason for the President's insistence that the peacetime draft be enacted by congress at once so that conscript boards will be busy in September and October and everybody will be talking about the draft and worrying about the draft.

The public confusion occasioned by a peacetime draft will tend to obscure debate on the third term draft, but of course that is merely incidental to the real purpose.

Or is it?

It will divert public attention from the failures of the New Deal, the waste, inefficiency and lack of coördination between various branches of the government in the defense program, and the mounting debt.

Let the President state his reason for pushing the peacetime draft ahead of the election.

Unless that reason is based on startling secret information of grave immediate danger to the nation, congress should be petitioned to table the peacetime draft until the electorate has been permitted to decide without distraction the merits of the third term draft.

One draft at a time.

WHY TALLER CHILDREN IN CALIFORNIA?

TALK to a Californian and he will wax eloquent over the virtues of his state: Its climate, products, beauties, and people. He may even wind up with the statement, "Our children are taller." If he lives in Los Angeles, scientific records will bear out his assertion.

In 1937 a study was begun of boys and girls in Los Angeles, Oakland, and San Francisco, with the surprising disclosure that the southern group, age for age, exceed in height those of San Francisco by nearly an inch. Comparisons were made with the schools in four areas of the United States and in each 9,000 pupils were examined.

Our population as a whole is probably increasing in height, as data from Harvard indicate that in the last sixty years entering students have gained an inch for every 30 years. There is some reason to believe that this is a world trend due to better knowledge of nutrition and more outdoor activity. Many countries of Europe, as well as Japan, exhibit this tendency. Of nearly 40,000 boys and over 35,000 girls born in California, as contrasted with a slightly smaller number born elsewhere but reared in that state, the superiority of the native as compared with the imported child was approximately one-half inch.

But in comparing the vicinity of San Francisco with that of Los Angeles it is found that the former does not equal the latter. There appears to be some element present in the cinema producing section which is not exhibited in the region farther north. Youngsters from all localities of the United States have a slight advantage over those of San Francisco. The question then comes, can it be that the colder weather of the northern city, with its mists and fogs, particularly of the bay district, exerts a depressing influence upon growth?

When it is recalled that many of our six footers come from Scandinavia and the British Isles, which are noted for rather severe climates with a plethora of raw days, it must be concluded that this is not the only factor. Apparently there is no racial influence in the southern portion of the Pacific coast, hence Lloyd-Jones suggests that exercise, particularly the plan of physical training followed in Los Angeles, may be the determining agent. He points out that for years the authorities have stressed postural guidance with the admonition to every tot to "stand erect."

That these instructions, when adhered to rigidly, may affect stature, is emphasized by the fact that soldiers who returned from France after the world war measured a quarter of an inch more than when they enlisted as recruits. The posture demanded of the drill squad can add easily a fraction of an inch.

As most of us know, the more time we spend out of doors the more sunshine we obtain [within limits], the more vitamin containing fresh foods we can use, the more active will become the glands of internal secretion. It is but reasonable to conclude that those who reside in the lower end of the Golden state may absorb more vitamins and hence be better nourished, altho not necessarily of greater weight or strength.

Childhood is the period in which the foundation for adult good health must be laid. We need "stalwarts" in body as well as in mind.

ALBINOS.

B. S. writes: What is albinism? What causes it? How often does it occur?

REPLY.

Almost every individual possesses some pigment. This comes from a substance known as chromogen, which is colorless—altho it is changed into colored pigment thru a ferment or enzyme. If either is absent from the body the individual is termed an "albino." The eyes of such persons are sensitive to light and the eyeballs move from side to side. The disease was known to Aristotle and Pliny, and occurs among human beings once in about twenty to thirty thousand births. Marriage of first cousins is supposed to increase the possibility of this condition.

VARICOSE VEINS IN PREGNANCY.

S. C. writes: Is it safe for a pregnant woman to have varicose veins treated—either by surgery or by injection?

REPLY.

Possibly—in the early months. Why not get along with bandaging or an elastic stocking until after the blessed event?

SALT RESTRICTION.

W. M. writes: You advise those in the older age brackets to cut down on the salt intake. What is the reason?

REPLY.

To avoid edema, or swelling. The excretion of this substance is likely to be less efficient after middle life.

URGES CHICAGO TO WAKE UP.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—We have noted several articles in THE TRIBUNE with reference to government contracts placed in various areas. We have also noted the interest displayed by members of congress relative to obtaining such contracts for their respective districts. We have not, however, heard of any great effort put forth by our own members of congress from Chicago or Illinois. Yet this area offers more strategic and practical advantages than any other single area in the country. If we have no members in congress who can immediately display aggressive interest, then we should employ some one who will.

From a national defense standpoint the Chicago area is a most strategic location for the building of small naval craft, ordnance, land and sea planes, and numerous other defense equipment, as well as an ideal distribution center for miscellaneous supplies for our defense forces.

The platform plank in THE TRIBUNE relative to Chicago's need for a lake front airport is both true and practical. It is even more; the need is urgent. We know of no better way to get such an airport than to make Chicago a center for seaplane activity. We should have an airport located on the lake, as close to the center of the city as possible. It should have ample facilities for both land and water depots.

If in the past we have permitted other cities to take the lead as industrial centers for some of our major industries, it was because we did not see far enough ahead. Chicago has another opportunity now. She should take it. But will she?

HARRISON STRATFORD.

"WHAT'S MY NAME?"

No address; no date.—I was born in New York state in a great mansion. I never knew what work was or is, and neither did my father. However, I know more about your work or business than you do. As a boy I had two or more nurses and a governess to answer and satisfy my every whim. During the last war, when most men my age took up arms for my country, thru pull I received a cushie job as assistant secretary of the navy [that an older and more experienced man could have filled better]. I practiced law in Wall street, defending "bucket shops." I joined just two business ventures, both of them proving 100 per cent losses to investors long before the collapse of 1929. I served four years as governor of a great state and wrecked its finances. I have served eight years as President of the greatest nation in the world and now have it in the worst mess in its history. While my wife, sons, and daughter, thru the prestige of my office, have each made fortunes, I now want to continue myself and family in office forever. What's my name? A. A. J.

SIX VITAL WORDS.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Wendell L. Willkie declares that the New Deal defense program is "hopelessly inadequate, delayed, and improperly organized." Since adequate national defense is now and will be for the next four years the most vitally important question before the American people, those six Willkie words on defense should secure for Mr. Willkie every electoral vote of the 48 states of the United States. ERNEST BRAESHAM.

SIMPLE SUBTRACTION.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Why all this fuss about Moon Mullins pushing the Gumps off the front of the Sporting section?

If folks will look closely they will see that you have removed "nothing" from this space and put "nothing" in that place.

Nothing from nothing leaves nothing, so why worry? A. L. COLEMAN.

NURSEMAID'S BUSY DAY.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—I am not taking sides in the "Madam and Maid" question, but the following was the schedule of my duties for the week, handed to me by my employer upon my acceptance of a position as infant's nurse at a salary of $12 a week. The readers may judge for themselves whether it is an 8, 12 or 16 hour day:

6:00 a. m.—Bottle.
6-7—Clean baby's room.
7-8—Wash or iron; give baby ½ orange, juice [strained].
8-9—Wash or iron, have your breakfast, clean and prepare vegetables or food for dinner.
9:45—Baby's bath.
10—Feed baby.
10:20-10:30—Make up baby's bed and tidy room.
10:30-11—Make the master's bed, sweep with sweeper and dust and tidy his room.
11-11:30—Wipe up bathroom floor, clean mirror and rest of bathroom.
11:30-12—Odds and ends—check baby.
12-1:45 p. m.—Clean silver, or put away clothes or arrange clothes in drawers.
2-2:30—Bottle; feed baby with spoon, have slightly warm. Dress for outdoors.
3-5—Out on ground.
5-6—Undress baby, feed orange juice at 5; begin oven if oven dinner is planned; set table, do little things toward dinner until 5.50.
5:50—Fix bottle.
6—Give baby food first, then bottle. Put to bed.
6:30-7—Final dinner preparations.
7-8—Dinner.
8-9—Dinner dishes.
9-9:30—Sterilize bottles and make formula.
10—Bottle feeding.

WEEKLY SCHEDULE.

Monday—Daily schedule.
Tuesday—Silver.
Wednesday—Regular routine.
Thursday—Defrost refrigerator, clean stove.
Friday—Prepare vegetables; put away vegetables.
Saturday—Cook.

DRESS THEM IN OVERALLS.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—I have just read this lament: "How can we have uniforms for our soldiers in time?" Says I to myself, "Why uniforms? Put them in blue denim for training; yes sir, regular overalls. They can be just as patriotic in that garb with red necktie and white cap. Hurrah for our 'Buddies in blue.'"

L. L. S.

PAUL REVERE WILL RIDE AGAIN.

Wilmette, Ill., Aug. 21.—Paul Revere will ride again, if the demands of Leslie Hore-Belisha, voiced in parliament yesterday, becomes a serious thought to take on form. Not one Paul Revere but many. As our founders watched for the light in the belfry of the Old South church, so we who love this, our country, and our flag with its "little square heaven of blue" will watch our congress and our senate.

Yes, Paul Revere will ride again, accompanied by the shades of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, and other great statesmen who have given their service and their lives for our democracy.

ANNA M. SCHAEDLER.

AN ARROGANT CHIEF.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Attempts of his opponents to bring to Mr. Roosevelt's attention his duty to the people of his land will, in my opinion, always be futile.

Unconscious of his very serious mistakes, incapable of admitting them, he is clearly falling into the belief of his total infallibility. His constantly growing arrogance is shown in his implied contempt of Mr. Willkie's sincere challenge to debate and his lordly impatience with those who question him about it.

FENCE DISPUTE.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—We live on a street running north and south. We are on the east side of the street. Please tell me which fence is legally mine? I say that the fence to the south is mine but my neighbor disagrees. H. B.

REPLY.

The wording of the fence act indicates that the legislature had agricultural properties primarily in mind. Section 2, for example, provides that a fence "sufficient to turn stock" shall be legal. Altho the applicability of this wording to urban property is open to some question there is no express exception and we regard the act as applying to division fences between city lots which are inclosed on their other boundaries. It follows that adjoining owners should contribute equally to cost and repair of each such fence.

Section 58-81 of the Chicago municipal code provides: "No wooden fence shall be constructed of greater height than eight feet above the sidewalk grade or eight feet above the surface of the ground where no grade is established."

We have no provision like the Indiana statute, which requires the owner east of the fence to build the north one-half, and the owner north of the fence to build the west one-half.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Aug. 27, 1776

Americans decisively defeated by British in the battle of Long Island. The British, leaving their base on Staten Island, landed at Gravesend, and after several days of reconnaissance fell upon Washington's left wing, which was poorly protected. Howe himself led the assault, which quickly succeeded. The Americans were forced back to their lines in Brooklyn. While Howe prepared for a siege Washington successfully evacuated his men from the island. The Americans lost 400 killed and wounded.

TESTIFIES GANG PLACED SCALISE ON UNION THRONE

Then Levied Tribute on Funds, Witness Says.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 26.—A story of how gangland boosted George Scalise, an ex-convict white slaver, into the lucrative presidency of the Building Service Employés International union and then took a slice of the funds collected from scrubwomen, porters, and elevator operator, was unfolded on on the witness stand today.

Izzy Schwartz, international organizer for the union and himself under indictment on extortion charges, testified as the state's star witness in Scalise's trial on charges of grand larceny. Scalise is accused of stealing more than $60,000 from the union treasury.

Names Brooklyn Racketeer.

Named as Scalise's principal aide was Little Augie" Pisano, Brooklyn racketeer and son-in-law of Jimmy Kelly, Tammany Democratic leader and night club proprietor whose real name is John di Salvio. The witness said Mike Carrozzo, late boss of street cleaning and paving rackets in Chicago, and two relatives of Al Capone, Frank Diamond, and Charley Fiaschetti, were in on the deal.

The gang history went into the trial record over the vigorous protests of Martin W. Littleton, chief of defense counsel, who described it as vicious and prejudicial. General Sessions Judge Jacob Gould Schurman sent the jury outside and listened patiently to the defense attorney's argument.

The Witness' Story.

Schwartz was short of stature and wore a double-breasted blue suit with a brilliant red and white tie for the occasion. He said he had been one who urged Scalise to make a bid for the presidency in May of 1937 when the late president of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union, Jerry Horan, was on his deathbed.

"He said he'd talk it over with Little Augie and see what Little Augie could do with the mob in Chicago," testified Schwartz. "About two months later he got a letter and he told me Augie had fixed it up in Chicago and that he, Scalise, wanted 50 per cent of the per capita taxes collected in the east."

Pact with Pisano.

"Little Augie and I are to have the eastern section of the country, including Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, and the mob here [in Chicago] can have the rest of the country."

"Yes, he said they were partners," answered Schwartz.

Scalise, who had been vice president and international organizer in the east, and his underworld associates succeeded in persuading the union's executive board he should be named general president of the union. A week after the election, according to the testimony, the underworld group gathered in Chicago.

This meeting took place at the Capri restaurant, a hangout for Frank Nitti, boss of the Capone racket interests in Chicago. Besides himself, Schwartz said there were present Little Augie, Carrozzo, Diamond, Fiaschetti, Burke, and Scalise. Schwartz did not sit in on the conference with the others, but Scalise told him afterward what had been decided, he said.

A $500 "Kickback."

According to Schwartz's story, Scalise said:

"Well, I've straightened that thing out. I'm going to get $1,000 a month, but I've got to kick back $500 to the mob.

Scalise's salary was later raised to $20,000 a year by some mysterious means. Other members of the executive board have said they did not vote the increase.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 26 [Special]. —The St. Joseph county grand jury will be recalled Thursday to hear evidence against Richard Klowetter, 25 years old, of Niles, Mich., and Mervin Cagle, 21, of Palmyra, Ill., who are in jail here accused of the holdup slaying of Walter Ebeling, New York movie theater manager, on July 10.

Klowetter and Cagle were arrested Saturday near Noblesville, Ind., after they had abandoned a stolen automobile. Klowetter later confessed he killed Ebeling when the theater manager resisted his attempt to rob him of about $100. Ebeling's body was found today near Berrien Springs, Mich., where the pair hid it after the killing.

Klowetter's confession recounts the wanderings of the pair since July 10, and reveals at least two more robberies. Indiana state police are trying to determine if they are involved in other crimes. Cagle is a parolee from the Pontiac, Ill., state reformatory.

The grand jury will be asked to indict the pair on charges of first degree murder and murder in the commission of a felony. Conviction on the felony-murder charge carries a mandatory death penalty in Indiana.

WARNS PROTEST TAXPAYERS ON SEPT. 1 PENALTY

County Treasurer John Toman yesterday warned taxpayers who paid the first instalment of their 1939 bills under protest last May that they are not exempt from the Sept. 1 penalty date for the second instalment.

If some levies are thrown out by the courts, refunds will be made, Toman said. He remarked that some taxpayers may be confusing the rate protests with another class of protests—objections to 1939 assessments filed with the board of tax appeals. In the latter instance, Toman explained, taxpayers who have asked for and been granted a reduced assessment by the board are not subject to the Sept. 1 penalty date, if they have not yet received corrected bills.

Penalties will begin to accumulate on corrected bills 10 days after they are mailed. The mailing starts this week.

CARS WHIRL OVER SUPERHIGHWAY, 100 MILES HOUR

Penn Project Lauded by Military Experts.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 26 (AP).—The all-weather features of Pennsylvania's $70,000,000 high speed highway were demonstrated today for 165 congressmen, federal officials, and military experts who previewed the dream road from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh thru a drenching rain and fog.

The 160 mile toll thorofare, which will be opened to the public about Oct. 1, drew high praise from military experts and others after the 50 car cavalcade whizzed over it at speeds which at times reached 100 miles an hour. Theirs was the first motorcade to make the journey.

Traverses 7 Tunnels.

"It's the mother of highways," commented Representative Wilburn Cartwright [D., Okla.], chairman of the house roads committee, in describing the four lane divided road with its even tunnels and the nation's deepest road cut.

"It's better than anything Germany can build," Cartwright added. He and other members of congress inspected Adolf Hitler's so-called superhighways just prior to the war's outbreak.

Brig. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, who with Maj. Eugene Harrison represented Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, said the importance of the road for the transport of army supplies could not be minimized.

Only a 3 Per Cent Grade.

Representative Karl Stefan [D., Neb.] said "Hitler has 2,600 miles of this kind of highway, most of which have an 8 per cent grade or higher. This is only 3 per cent." His statement was duplicated by Representative Jeb Johnson [D., Okla].

"This is a dream come true," said Representative C. Nat Patton [D., Tex.], who said he "sure will" press for similar roads in the Lone Star state.

Extension of the road to Philadelphia was considered "imperative" by Thomas H. McDonald, commissioner of federal roads.

Assistant Attorney General Fred Zazove said Borowski used an assumed name to obtain two social security cards, obtaining the fraudulent compensation with one.

55 ROOKIES BEGIN CLASS IN HOW TO BE A POLICEMAN

Start 10 Weeks' Training with Mental Drills.

Fifty-five keen eyed young men assembled yesterday in a room at the Central police station. Sergt. James Hackett, a veteran of the force, faced them. They were now, he told them, about to receive their first lessons on how to become good policemen.

The 55 were the city's newest police rookies. Few of them resembled the brawny, 6 footer policeman of the old school. Most of them were about 5 feet 10 inches tall, and well built. They represented the new type of law enforcement officer, young, athletic, and well educated.

Brains Are Important.

"Our policemen don't come so big any more," commented Sergt. Hackett, trainer of hundreds of rookies. "Brains count more today. Practically every one of the 55 in this class has finished high school. Many others have partial or full college backgrounds. They learn fast and make good policemen."

After a few preliminary remarks from Sergt. Hackett and his assistant, Patrolman Joseph Shaughnessy, the rookies started on their first course, described as mental work. This covered fundamental principles of criminal law, city ordinances, and rules of conduct.

For 10 weeks the 55 rookies will go thru the police training school under Sergt. Hackett. Each afternoon will be given to the mental course, with written examinations each Saturday.

Daily Drills to Be Held.

Each forenoon the aspirants will be put thru drills and calesthenics at the old 16th regiment armory, at 16th street and Michigan avenue, and participate in 45 minutes of target shooting. How to assist at fires and in first aid are subjects also on the curriculum.

The present class, tho not a large one, is a good looking one, according to Sergt. Hackett. Originally 59 were scheduled in the class, but four dropped out at the last minute, three because of personal desire and one because of overweight.

In two weeks the rookies will be outfitted with uniforms. In 10 weeks those who successfully pass Sergt. Hackett's critical eye will begin a probationary period lasting six months. Most of them will make the grade, in Hackett's opinion.

Break Record

Matthew Golas, 23 years old, and his fiancee, Evelyn Witczak, 19, holding marriage license which set a new all time high mark for licenses issued in Cook county in the month of August.

A new record for marriage licenses issued in the month of August was set yesterday when 214 couples obtained licenses in the County building, boosting the total for the month to 4,796. This was 132 more than were issued in the entire month of August, 1936, when 4,664 licenses were issued for the previous August record. Clerks said that before the month was out the record for this year—5,793 licenses in June—might be shattered. Prospects of better times and the threat of conscription were advanced to explain the boom.

EIGHT BOOKIES FINED BY JUDGE ON GUILTY PLEAS

Eight men who pleaded guilty of running handbooks were fined $13.50 each yesterday by Judge Lambert K. Hayes in Racket court. Three had been arrested in raids against books said to be controled by Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, Capone gangster, and Danny Stanton, a south side bootlegger of prohibition days.

The reputed Nitti-Stanton bookies were William Cooper, who operated at 21½ East Adams street; Edward Zintek, 5147 South Damen avenue, and Walter Sykes, 162 West Monroe street. Others fined were Robert Moore, 430 North Clark street; George Fountas, 1161 East 63d street; Charles Miller, 2830 63d street; John Moran, 3026 East 92d street, and George Roberts, 1124 Granville avenue.

Continuing the search for Nitti-Stanton books, police raided 11 establishments and arrested 22 men during the day. The raids were at 6807 Halsted street, where three men were taken into custody; 210 West Madison street, two men; 228 South Wells street, two men; 67 East Adams street, one man; 314 North Michigan avenue, two men; 225 North Wabash avenue, two men; 161 East Chicago avenue, two men; 64 West Randolph street, two men; 123 North Clark street, two men; 940 Madison street, two men, and 69 West Madison street, two men.

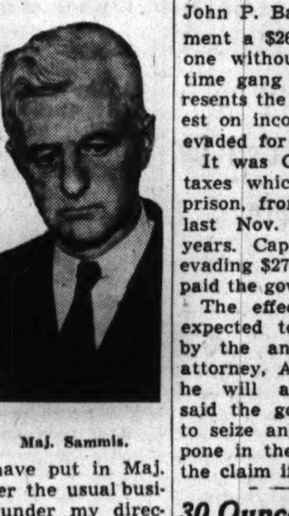
EX-SOLDIER PUT IN CONTROL OF BARKEEP UNION



Maj. Sammis.

Maj. James U. Sammis, a former soldier and police official, took over the affairs of the bartenders' union yesterday as assistant to Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, receiver for the union. Maj. Sammis was appointed by Circuit Judge Robert Jerome Dunne on a petition of Charles E. McGuire, attorney for Gen. Keehn as receiver.

"Running the union is a man size job," Gen. Keehn said, "and I can't devote all my time to it. I have put in Maj. Sammis to administer the usual business of the union under my direction."

Maj. Sammis, a former captain of Lincoln park police and a former commander of the 33d division special troops of the Illinois National Guard, went directly to the union offices and began studying the files. He was granted a salary of $100 a week by Judge Dunne.

The union was placed in receivership after an injunction suit had been brought by George McLane, its business agent, who charged that Frank [the Enforcer] Nitti was exercising control thru Louis Romano, union president.

Al Capone lost another decision to Uncle Sam yesterday. Federal Judge John P. Barnes granted the government a $265,877 summary judgment, one without trial, against the one-time gang chief. The judgment represents the unpaid balance and interest on income tax payments Capone evaded for the years 1924 thru 1929.

It was Capone's evasion of these taxes which sent him to federal prison, from which he was released last Nov. 16 after serving seven years. Capone, originally accused of evading $270,000 in taxes, already has paid the government $68,600.

The effect of the judgment was expected to be stayed for 90 days by the announcement of Capone's attorney, Abraham Teitelbaum, that he will appeal. Legal authorities said the government would be able to seize any property owned by Capone in the United States to satisfy the claim if the appeal is denied.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Adele Louise Olin's Troth Made Known in New Mexico

BY JUDITH CASS.

AT A cocktail party in their home in Santa Fe, N. M., on Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chambless Rand Jr. announced the engagement of Mrs. Rand's daughter, Miss Adele Louise Olin, to James Burton Braun, son of Mrs. William M. Scudder of Chicago. The wedding will take place at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night, Sept. 17, at the Rand home, 461 Camino de las Animas, Santa Fe.

Adele Louise Olin.

Miss Olin was born in Alton, Ill., and lived in New York before going to Santa Fe a year ago. She was educated at Monticello college in Godfrey, Ill., at Miss Porter's school in Farmington, Conn., and at the Spence school in New York. She is a well known equestrienne, having won many ribbons in St. Louis, Springfield and Chicago horse shows.

Miss Olin's father is John Merrill Olin of Alton, where her sister, Mrs. Willard Van Beuren King, and their paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Olin, also reside.

Mr. Braun, whose father is George P. Braun of New York, attended the Choate school and the University of Virginia. He will bring his bride to Chicago to make their home following the marriage.

The wedding will be attended only by members of the immediate families. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. C. J. Kinsolving III. of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Faith.

Nancy Cushing's Debut of Interest to Chicagoans.

Chicagoans will have more than a casual interest in a New York debutante of the current season, Miss Nancy Cushing. She lived here as a child, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Cushing of Lloyd Neck, Huntington, Long Island, have kept up their Chicago associations, coming back frequently for visits.

Mr. and Mrs. Cushing will present their daughter at a dinner-dance in the Ritz-Carlton on Dec. 6, preceding the first junior assembly. Miss Cushing is a graduate of the Chapin school of New York. She and her elder sister, Mrs. Joseph R. Dilworth, the former Bunny Cushing, are granddaughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Goodrich of Chicago.

Lake Geneva's annual water pageant, called Venetian night, is the cause of dozens of dinner parties that have been planned for tonight around the shores of Lake Geneva. The occasion is one of the most colorful and interesting spectacles imaginable, and those who are not taking part in it will want to watch the parade of steamers, motor launches, sailing yachts, rowboats, and other craft all decked out in colored lights, fluttering balloons and pennants.

Nathan Hunt Will Lead Parade in His Cruiser.

Nathan B. Hunt of the Lake Geneva Yacht club is commodore of Venetian night, which was started some years ago by the Lake Geneva recreational department. He will lead the parade on board his cruiser, Normandie. Simon B. Chapin's, Garnet W. McKee's, and Robert Tarrant's steam yachts; the motor launches of A. Frederick Gartz Jr., Ernst C. Schmidt, Everett N. McDonnell, Miss Sara Peace, James E. McAuley, and scores of others will be taking part.

Besides watching the yachts in all their blazing glory townsfolk and summer residents will be treated to a fireworks display which will have as a grand finale a 75 foot replica of Niagara falls, and a spectacular piece, "God Bless America." Two bands will furnish music before the parade gets under way and during the maneuvering of the boats.

The annual luncheon and bridge party for the benefit of Holiday home will be held today at the Lake Geneva Country club. The huge veranda dining room as well as the indoor dining room and the vast living room of the clubhouse will be filled with tables to accommodate the large crowd that always attends the party.

Polo Match Rained Out Sunday to Be Played Today.

The opening match in a polo tournament for the Onwentsia cup was rained out on Sunday afternoon and will be played at 5:30 o'clock today at the Onwentsia club between the Onwentsia and Twin Cities Polo clubs. The polo enthusiasts who turned out in spite of rain on Sunday had plenty of fun, however, for the contestants moved indoors and had a little unofficial tournament between three teams, a Yale team, the Stop and Socks, and the Wildcats, who weren't so very wild, it was decided.

Playing for Yale were David Wilhelm and John Daniels and David Williams of the Twin Cities team. Peter Moon and Bruce Macfarlane as alternates at number one position, S. Prentice Porter and Bill Fergus composed the Stop and Socks. Herbert Lorber, Maj. Landon Lockett of the Twin Cities, and Bill Carney were the Wildcats. Mrs. John Coleman awarded prizes to the victorious Yale team, and then the players and most of the spectators motored over to the barn at the W. Roy Carneys' farm for a cocktail party. A bar was set up in the back room. and guests enjoyed themselves trap shooting and pitching horseshoes.

'Rusty' Bryan Picks 7 Pretty Wedding Aids

Seven pretty young women will be in the retinue of bridesmaids that will surround Miss Helen Mary Bryan when she becomes the bride of John I. Marshall Jr. on Sept. 21 in the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest.

Miss Helen Dick is to be "Rusty" Bryan's maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Barbara Anne Buchanan, Miss Alice Blair, Mrs. Joseph C. Belden Jr., the former Mardo Pattou; Miss Edith Cowles, Miss Marie Louise Hulburd, and Miss Caryl Harrison.

Maj. William A. Rafferty of Morocco, Ind., will be his half-brother's best man. Ushering will be the bride's brother, Benjamin Bryan III.; Alexander C. Bell, R. MacKay Lynch, William B. Watling of Payson, Ariz., Lieut. George M. MacNicol of Mount Clemens, Mich., John A. O'Brien, and W. Robert Johnston.

The ceremony is to take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon with a reception following at the Lake Forest home of Miss Bryan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Bryan Jr. After a three week wedding trip Mr. Marshall and his bride will be at home in Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Buchanan and Miss Buchanan have planned a dinner for Miss Bryan and Mr. Marshall on Sept. 5, preceding the weekly dance at the Onwentsia club. Among parties planned for Miss Bryan and her fiancé is a cocktail party Bruce Macfarlane will give on Sept. 12. The cocktail party will be a large one, and afterwards Mr. Macfarlane will take the bridal party to dinner at the Onwentsia and the club's last dance of the season.

Maj. and Mrs. Rafferty will give an all day picnic at Green Acre farms, their Indiana home, on Sept. 15. Miss Blair and Miss Harrison will give a luncheon and kitchen shower at the latter's home on Sept. 17. That night Miss Cowles will entertain at dinner.

Mr. Johnston, Mr. Lynch, and Mr. O'Brien will give a cocktail party at the Racquet club on the 18th. Miss Hulburd will give a luncheon and linen shower on the 19th. Mr. Marshal's mother, the senior Mrs. Marshall, will give the bridal dinner at the Exmoor club on the eve of the ceremony. Miss Dick and the Peter G. Moons also are planning parties.

The Cinderella of 1940 Dons Glass Slipper

BY REA SEEGER.

Something new under foot! Transparent footgear that looks like glass and stretches like elastic is made of the same compound as the now famous nylon. It is a revolutionary idea for foot comfort plus swank, for this tricky elastic stuff conforms to the footlines with unsurpassed ease. It's used for the entire slipper in the dancing and evening models, made of a lighter weight and more flexible type than of the daytime glastique.

For all those people who object to the slipper apertures here is one successful answer, heels and toe sections covered with glastique in a transparent neutral gray beige tint. Even bows and buckles match. This transparent stuff is particularly effective with suède in brown or black. The combine is as subtle as the highlights in a velvet dress.

Glastique is feather light, satin soft, does not crack, scratch, or scuff and can be kept spotless with soap and water.

Glastique is used in daytime footgear in section where there must be flexibility, gussets, godets, bands, insets, collars, and sections. There need be no more argument with long suffering shoe fitters. Your own eyesight will now tell you whether you are wearing too short or too wide shoes. It's there to see, because of this crystal clear glastique.

Outwearing leather, outlooking all decorative ideas, super comfortable and different enough to deserve all the fanfare, these glastique shoes rival all the stories broadcast about the original Cinderella glass models. For evening, this flexible stuff will come in gorgeous colors: gold, ruby, blue, emerald, and pastels.

Lounging slippers of glastique, combined with gold or silver kidskin, are the most exotic of finds to wear with the most luxurious house robes and negligees. Smooth, grained, mottled, and the transparent models are now going round the town.

The Stage

"Too Many Girls," the George Abbott musical comedy, will open at the Grand Opera house Saturday night instead of Monday, the date originally announced. Performances will be given both Sunday and Monday, and nightly thereafter, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. The music of "Too Many Girls" is by Richard Rodgers, the lyrics are by Lorenz Hart, and the book is by George Marion Jr. Among the principal players are Marcy Wescott, Mary Jane Walsh, Hal LeRoy, Desi Arnaz, and Diosa Costello.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

If hair sheen is what you want, remember that it is obtained only with effort and good scalp care. Use a scalp lubricant, a good shampoo, and a corrective oil that helps erase the after-summer dryness and dinginess.

Sheen is hair's most precious attribute. The color of it doesn't matter, and even the arrangement of it doesn't matter so much, if every strand has high luster. Faces look prettier framed in gleaming hair; the whole ensemble takes on a crisp distinction if the crowning glory is beautifully shiny.

Unfortunately, sheen doesn't come out of a bottle. It can be bought only by effort and good care of both scalp and hair. If the scalp isn't lubricated and exquisitely clean the hair itself can't have luster.

Right now, when we're all going back to dark clothes and a less casual kind of life, we're more aware than ever of the toll neglect takes of the hair. We're paying for the brushings we failed to give our hair and for the sunburnings we did give it. And we're in the mood for some intensive reconditioning.

One of the houses has just the thing for you if you're determined to restore your strawlike mop of softness and sheen. It's an inexpensive kit containing wonderful hair preparations. All you have to do is use them faithfully and brush.

There's a hot oil treatment, a luster shampoo, a tube of scalp cream [for that scalp lubrication that's so all important] and a bottle of corrective oil that will erase the effects of summer wear and tear. Five minutes a day, using these efficient preparations according to directions, will make the most neglected hair manageable and shiny in a remarkably short time. And if a fall permanent is on your schedule your hair will be ready for it.

These kits are especially assembled for dry, oily, blonde or gray hair.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Aug. 26.—Having remembered that automobile advertising slogan, "Try all three," I thought I'd see what would happen if I dared a luncheon with the three creeps who are working at RKO—Bela Lugosi, Peter Lorre, and Boris Karloff. Woo!

We should of et in a dank, dark basement, with a bust of Edgar A. Poe hanging from cobwebbed rafters and a raven picking its teeth in a corner, but Hollywood houses don't have basements, let alone dank, dark ones. Besides, the three weird ones are working—together for the first time—in a Kay Kyser number called "You'll Find Out." So we ate in the studio commissary.

Lugosi came over in tails but no white tie. He had taken off his collar. Lorre appeared in a sloppy jacket, a soft white shirt whose collar was too big for him, and a bow tie that was slightly to port. He looked the way Eddie Cantor would look if he'd never made any money. Karloff appeared in a business suit and, with his deep tan, fine gray hair and shell-rimmed glasses, looked like a British diplomat. His brother is in the British ministry of information.

Lorre had a cup of coffee. Karloff had baked ham with pineapple. Lugosi had a salad. "I haff dialogue to do this afternoon," said Lugosi, "and I cannot do dialogue on meat." Somehow I remembered a gag that is told about either Karloff or Lugosi becoming a parent and the nurse bringing in the newcomer and the father saying, "Never mind wrapping it up, I'll eat it here."

Mr. L. and Mr. K. are parents, K. having a daughter, age 2, L. a son, 2½. Mr. Karloff's young lady is fairly used to seeing Pop in weird getups, doesn't often mind. When she was cutting her first tooth he greeted her in his "Tower of London" makeup and she didn't bat an eye. "I had thought all of her teeth would come in in one snap," said her father. The only time she ever set up a yowl was when he shaved his hair line back for a Chinese makeup.

Lugosi's son never objects to his father's goings-on. Remember Igor, the guy with the broken neck in "The Son of Frankenstein"? Well, the young man sat in Igor's lap and gurgled affectionately. "He recognized my voice and eyes," said Pop. Those Lugosi eyes are recognizable any-

Here's good news for you: Mae Tinée will be back tomorrow!

My final assignment as temporary movie observer made almost no impression on me. "Queen of the Mob" presents the sorry spectacle of Blanche Yurka, a magnificent tragedienne noted on the stage for her work in Greek drama, Ibsen, and Shaw, undertaking to portray the character of a she-gangster pursued by J. Edgar Hoover's men. Her talents are wasted, and I did not think she was even good.

The picture tells the story of Ma Webster and her three criminal sons [a fourth son, just for variety's sake, has kept straight], who have robbed a bank and are wanted by the G-men. As the tale is told, unfortunately, the material is not even nervously exciting until the final shooting. The G-men know it all the time, and the criminals are merely rather uninteresting hunted folk for whom we have neither sympathy nor concern.

That's that. Let's all give Miss Tinée a big hand when she returns tomorrow.

WRITING HOME.

INSTALMENT XXXII.

Doyle pressed on, feeling the ground firm under his feet. "Why doesn't your daughter give you her address—her residence?"

"Because I'd make her come home," Wunsch explained eagerly. "And she doesn't want that."

Doyle said, "Let's go back and take it step by step. It began when Texie was to sail on the Philippe a year ago June 13."

"Yes."

"Did you go to the Philippe to see them off?"

"No. Nobody did."

"Why not?"

"It was Texie's request. She hates good-bys."

"How did the ladies get from Beachville to the Philippe?"

"Follins drove them in."

"Did he see them actually go on board?"

"Yes. He carried their hand luggage on. And there were pictures in the papers of Texie and my mother-in-law on deck."

"O. K. Then what happened?"

"The next morning I had a phone call from the ship. My mother-in-law told me that Texie was missing. She said she had taken Texie below to unpack. Their staterooms adjoined and the connecting door was open. But when the 'all ashore' call came, Texie went on deck to see them off. My mother-in-law stayed below and went to bed. Because she gets seasick.

"A little later she heard Texie come back and move around in her room. But that night she discovered it was not Texie she had heard, but the stewardess, whom Texie had sent to repack her things. Texie had left a note with the stewardess telling Mama to return Texie's luggage to Beachville when the ship docked at Havre."

"So what did you do?"

"I ordered my mother-in-law to keep her mouth shut about what had happened. To go directly to Paris as originally planned, taking Texie's baggage with her own. And to wait there for further instructions from me."

"And you were naturally very much alarmed—worried—by your daughter's action?"

"Not particularly," Wunsch said. "Texie has always been headstrong. I should have foreseen what she would do. She hated the whole idea of the trip. I might have known she'd think up a way to escape."

"But when she didn't come home?" Doyle prodded.

Wunsch sighed. "At the end of a week I hired a detective to find her. He trailed her for a few hours after she left the ship. And then the trail went dead. He found the taxi driver who picked her up outside the pier and drove her to the corner of Madison avenue and 62d street. Texie has a safe deposit box in the Urban bank on 64th and Madison. She'd gone in there and cleaned the box out and——"

"What was in the box?" Doyle interrupted.

Doyle whistled. "Was the jewelry valuable?"

"Considerably so," Wunsch said. "That's why I wouldn't let her wear it until she was of age. But she'd been begging for it from the time she was 16."

"When would she be of age?"

"She'll be 21," Wunsch said, the 13th of this month."

"Then the only jewelry you permitted her to wear," Doyle pressed, "was the wrist watch you had given her?"

He looked at Doyle—a disturbed, pleading look. "So you see it couldn't have been Texie's watch in the woods," he argued conclusively.

Doyle let it go at that for the time being. "Why was there so much cash in her box?"

Wunsch explained that Texie had been given a hundred dollars in gold every birthday. When the government called in all gold reserves, it had been necessary to replace the coins with bills.

Doyle nodded. "Where did she go from the bank?"

"We don't know," Wunsch said heavily. "That's where the trail was lost. The doorman of the bank saw her walk west on 64th street.

She may have taken a cab or a bus on 5th avenue. Or she may have gone into the park. The entrance to the zoo is on that corner."

"Is the detective you hired still on the job?"

"No. I let him go as soon as Texie wrote to me."

"When was that?"

"Two weeks after she disappeared."

Doyle said hopefully, "If you've got her letter with you I'd like to see it."

Wunsch took a wallet from his breast pocket and extracted some papers. He passed the letter over to Doyle.

In a bold, square, printlike hand was written:

"Dead Dad: Don't try to find me unless you want a scandal about me all over the front pages. I'm just living my own life for a while—nothing wrong—just having a little fun and freedom because you won't let me have any at home. And I'm going to need money now and then. So send a thousand dollars cash to Miss Janice Thorndell [isn't that a hotsy-totsy name?] N. Y. P. O. Station L, Box 13. Don't send a check. I'm too smart to risk my lovely spree cashing checks. I'm well and behaving that way. So don't worry about me. And don't try to spoil things for me either. I'll come home when I'm sure you've missed me so much you won't be mean to me any more. Love. Texie."

"Are you certain your daughter wrote this?" Doyle challenged.

"Absolutely."

"But forgery——"

Wunsch interrupted truculently. "I know my daughter's writing. And the way she expresses herself. I tell you that note IS Texie's."

Doyle did not argue further. "So you sent the thousand?"

"No," Wunsch denied. "I sent five hundred. I thought she'd come home when that was spent."

Doyle pressed on implacably. "So then there were more letters asking for money?"

"Many of them."

"When did the last one come?"

Wunsch fumbled thru the papers in his hand. The notes had come to him undated, but he had penciled the date of reception on the margin of each.

"Here we are," he said, giving Doyle a sheet briefly scrawled in bold black penstrokes.

"Dear Dad: Another thousand, please. And promptly. Because I need it bad and no fooling. Home soon. Love as always, Texie."

The notation on the margin showed that Wunsch had received this note on July 1st.

"Let me take a look at the rest of those," Doyle said.

Wunsch passed them over willingly enough. Doyle found them all written with seeming carelessness, in varying shades of ink, with an assortment of pin points which had in common that tendency toward sputtering which distinguishes the writing tools of public places. The notepaper was of a uniform quality and design—the kind which may be purchased in 5 and 10 cent stores all over the country. The names to which Wunsch was instructed to address the money differed with each demand, and ranged from the fabulously fancy to plain Mary Elizabeth Brown. The postoffice addresses swerved confusingly over the city's five boroughs. There were 14 notes in all.

Texie had been scheduled to sail on June 13 of the previous year. Doyle figured she must have been killed that same day or very shortly thereafter, judging from Dr. Blake's computations. Wunsch had received the first demand for money a little over two weeks after the sailing of the Philippe, on the first of July. After that the notes had followed three to four weeks apart. But the last one had come more than five weeks ago. Obviously another note was overdue. Had Wunsch realized this?

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

where, at that. Bela is a student of metaphysics, a pupil of Manly Hall. You remember he recently had Hall hypnotize him for a scene in a Universal picture in which he was supposed to be suffocating in a closet. It was no gag, and Lugosi wrecked a stage set trying to get out. Lugosi himself practices hypnosis, says he can always make a producer give him a part he wants if he can get to the producer. "Some of them have begun to avoid me," he says.

Lorre bothers less with makeup than the other two. "Why make up?" he says. "That is what I am a facemaker for." Those teeth, which look like something dreamed up in the studio beauty department, are his own. Lorre is married, has no children, likes to sit around and talk where people gather at night. He played Napoleon without even grease paint in Europe.

Peter's next film will be "The Man Behind the Mask," at Columbia. "The Three Creeps," as the RKO crowd calls them, flit from studio to studio like bats. After that he hopes to produce, direct and act in a play on Broadway. It is a historical play with modern parallels: a drama with something of a Bernard Shaw style.

Offstage, Lugosi is the most sinister looking of the trio, Karloff the least like any of the characters he plays. The trio are having a great deal of fun making "You'll Find Out." It's a comedy and there are no weird makeups. They are three scoundrels who are trying to do a poor old lady out of her estate, and Lugosi does a lot of fortune telling and magic. [Manly Hall predicted the birth of Lugosi's son, to the day, two years before the event, and ought to be doing a gossip column].

Just before we went to lunch Bela was to do a trick. Two globes and a static machine had been rigged up and a six foot spark of a million real volts, but no amperage was to leap at the wave of his wand, and the wand was to shoot fire. It did, too, because it was loaded with powder. It burned right down to Lugosi's hand and he hopped around madly trying to shake the flaming stump out of his voluminous magician's sleeve. "Be nonchalant, Bela," ordered the director. "You haff a sense of humor," said Lugosi. They put some oil on his hand and then he did the trick twice again for more takes.

Karloff isn't fooling when he makes up. If he's to have a shaved head he shaves his head, instead of wearing a bald wig. "It's cooler," he explains. He thinks nothing of removing his eyebrows and having his eyelashes clipped to the roots.

Ignoring That Double Chin Won't Cure It

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Do you look at your profile studiously when you suspect a double chin, or do you fail to do this, trying to hide the truth from yourself?

An excellent query to put to ourselves when we reach that age at which the extra chin, or two, loves to attach itself, or themselves, to us. Some of us have the trick down fine of avoiding the truth. Maybe we turn a full face to the mirror always because, in that way, we do not get the full effect of what is doubling on us. Or, we assume an angelic expression, pleasant anyway, when we face that mirror that sometimes does lie, regardless of its reputation for veracity. Thus, we manage to deny ourselves the privilege of seeing ourselves as others see us.

We women have accomplished the art of "kidding ourselves" out of all proportion to the honest truth. We can tell the most whopping lies about the pounds we have taken off and kept off, when one look from our audience belies our innocence. We think of one woman who tells that she has been wearing a 16 size since she was 20. The fact that she looks for wide seams in what she buys and lets them out to the limit, also the fact that she looks in said size like nothing if not an overstuffed sausage roll, never strikes the blonde one as incongruous.

A little imagination that we are better than facts and figures tell we claim to be all right for a woman, but not to the point of incongruity. One day we are going to have to face the fact that the thickened chin, or extra one, will shout louder than our denials. NOT even looking at ourselves in a dimly lit mirror isn't going to preserve our audiences from seeing crow's-feet and frown wrinkles, a distorted profile and an aged neck. Perhaps if we took a good, long, honest look right now we'd postpone forever that fatal day.

Snobbishness Is in the Way of This Romance

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 21 and in love with a young doctor who recently began practicing. I come of a good family and people say I am pretty, but I work in a factory.

"Ted loves me, but we have to see each other without his parents' knowledge. I am willing to wait until he gets established, even tho it may take five or six years, but even then he isn't sure he will marry me. His mother says I am a factory hand and wants him to marry a school teacher or nurse.

"He says if he marries some one else, he will cheat to go out with me. But would he say that if he intended to marry me? Should I break off with him? MARIE."

Ted doesn't seem to be a very strong or honorable character. Probably Marie would be wise to break off with him. If she loves him too much to do this, there is a way to win his respect and perhaps jolt him out of his snobbishness.

Her factory job doesn't make her less fine and honorable, but it is true that a wife with education and ambition could help a young doctor more than a girl who is content with a mediocre job.

There are plenty of night schools. Let Marie study and fit herself for a better position. Since her romance necessarily must be long drawn out, several evenings away from her sweetheart would be wise. Then, too, if she worked into a good position, they might be able to marry sooner. If she improves and educates herself, she will command his respect, and even make his parents proud.

Cream soups make filling and nourishing lunches, and are an easy way to get the necessary milk into the family diet, especially when there is an unwillingness to drink as much milk as is advisable. Every adult should have, at a minimum, a cup of milk a day, and every child needs at least three cups. The recommended pint a day for adults, quart for children is a good basis for meal planning. Soups may take care of a part of that quantity.

Most cream soups are made on a thin white sauce foundation. When cooked vegetables are used in soups, the water in which the cooking took place should be used as a part of the liquid for the sauce. It thus supplants part of the milk, but there are valuable vitamins in the cooking water, and these should not be discarded.

Cream of Onion Soup.

[6-8 portions.]

¼ cup butter or margarine
4 onions, thinly sliced
3 tablespoons flour
1½ quarts milk
½ teaspoon sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Melt butter or margarine and cook onions gently in the fat until soft. Add flour, stir well. Add milk, gradually, stirring until the soup thickens. Simmer for 20 minutes with seasonings.

In any soup which will be flavored with onion it is best to cook the onions gently in butter first. In this way better onion flavor is imparted to the soup than could be obtained if the onions were simply boiled.

Cream of Cabbage Soup.

[Six servings.]

1 onion, minced
3 tablespoons butter
1 small head cabbage, finely chopped
1 tablespoon pimiento
4 tablespoons flour
1 quart milk
Salt and pepper

Cook the onion gently in the butter while you cook the cabbage in salted water to cover. Add flour to onion and butter, stir to mix, and then add milk gradually, stirring until sauce is smooth. Add chopped pimiento, cabbage [with cooking water] and seasonings to taste. Heat thoroly and serve.

Cream of Corn Soup.

2 cups chopped canned corn
1 small onion, sliced
4 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
4 cups milk
Salt, pepper

Chop corn, if desired. Cook corn and onion gently in butter until onion is yellow. Add flour, stir until smooth, and add milk gradually. Cook for 15 minutes at gently simmering temperature, season with salt and pepper, and serve.

Cream of Tomato Soup.

1 No. 2 can tomatoes
2 slices onion
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk

Combine tomatoes, onion, and seasonings. Simmer for 10 minutes and strain thru a sieve. Melt butter, add flour, and add milk gradually, stirring to make a thin white sauce. Just before serving add hot tomato puree gradually to sauce, stirring constantly as it is being added.

Aug. 27, 1940.

Universal Day — Do something thrifty, but don't be narrow.

Month Ahead — If you haven't learned practical lessons in the last few months you may find that they are forced on you this month. If you have been extravagant, wasteful, lazy, or visionary, this is the month which will show you up. You still have time to get down to brass tacks. You can't slide along haphazardly in a four year without losing the benefit of the constructive forces which would work for you if you coöperated by concentration, serious applicaton, and plain common sense.

Year Ahead—For those born on this date the year ahead should prove more interesting than 1940. Expect things to happen!

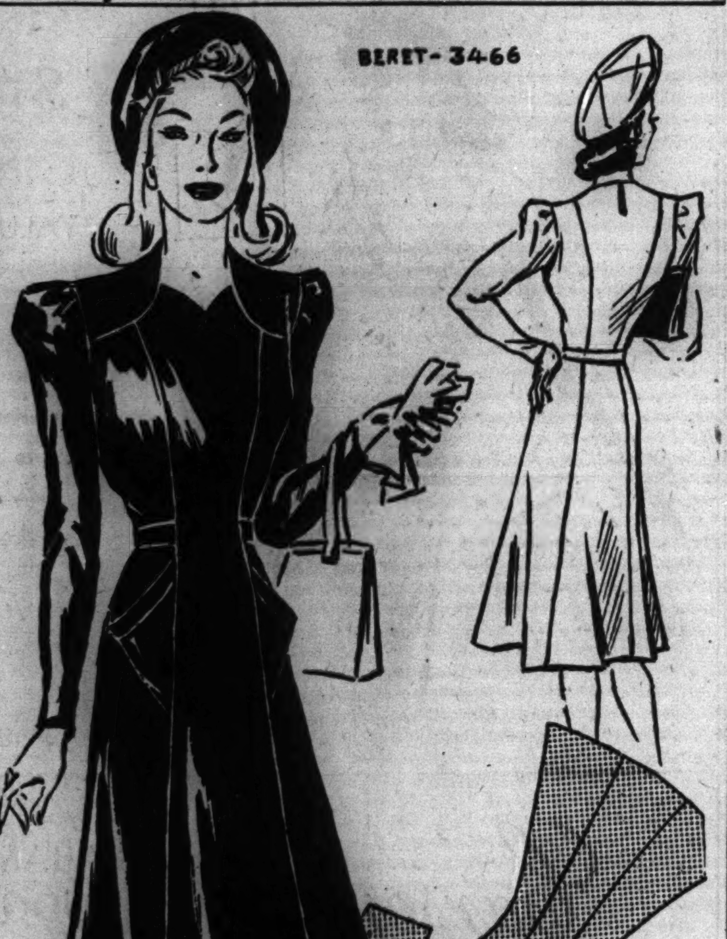
Daytime and "Date" Frock



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

If it's a practical but pretty daytime or "date" frock you need, this one should find favor. The lines are slimming and have the latest snap in paneling. There are the now famous large pockets, too, and a heart shaped neckline which is a grand background for your jewelry. All types of autumn fabrics, barring none, will make up well. This is a simple frock to make, as the diagram illustrates, and it's a dress you can wear "simply everywhere."

You'll need a small beret for this model, too. Pattern No. 3466, available for 10 cents extra, will make it for you in a jiffy. One headsize only, adaptable to your measurements.

Style No. 3094 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Exercise and Sleep Affect the Appetite

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Food [balanced meals, calories, vitamins, mineral salts] in all its aspects is so much discussed these days that one would think that every child whose parents have any adequate income would be given a perfect diet.

Yet there are parents who are immune to all this.

"They never have oranges in the house except when there is an orange cake being made. With two growing children they don't get milk regularly from the milkman, yet there always is a great deal of cake and candy in the house. When they need either milk or oranges they usually borrow from us," said one neighbor to another in a shocked voice. "Is it any wonder their mother complains of their lack of appetite?"

"My sister-in-law," recounted the second neighbor, "lets her children eat as they please. They have candy and sodas and popcorn at any time. And their father is an erratic eater. So, of course, they don't eat at the table. Their mother says: 'There's no use cooking full meals for my family. They won't eat them. So I just don't waste my time'."

Those are two authentic cases, and the reason why those children have no appetites is obvious.

But sometimes there are young children who don't eat between meals who still have little appetite. It's not an unusual circumstance. If your little boy or girl is like that, look carefuly at the whole cycle of his or her days.

In health, as in every other thing we try to build up, we can't have a perfect whole with one or more imperfect parts. So air and exercise are big factors in how your child eats, how he sleeps, how he behaves.

A baby and a child are active creatures. Movement is their life, sunshine and fresh air their element. They are anything but static. Watch young animals in their natural state. What you see is motion, often meaningless motion to us, but not really meaningless. If it were it wouldn't be a universal part of all young life.

It's not only the children, but the littlest baby who must have motion, movement, exercise. Have your baby dressed and covered in such a way that he is hampered just as little as possible. Uncover him and undress him as often as you can. As soon as he is old enough, let him lie on a big quilt on a big bed, or later, on a quilt on the floor or grass, and let him kick, roll, and wave his arms.

Then, still later, make it your business to see that your children have exercise, and vigorous exercise, too. Give them the playthings and apparatus that encourage it. They can't "just run away and play" as the little girl was told to, but didn't, in "Miss Lulu Bett."

And let as much of this exercise as possible be outdoors. For city mothers this often means great sacrifice in time and energy, but it is worth the price, and sometimes good management will make things easier, such as mothers pooling their time by taking turns in the park or fencing in a roofed space, or merely opening windows wide and donning the children's outdoor clothes when the regular outdoor jaunt can't be managed.

So if you have a discontented or listless child, or one who doesn't eat, or sleep soundly and long, make a little survey of your children's air and exercises.

If you are at a loss regarding toys and play equipment, definite suggestions will be made if you write in for them.

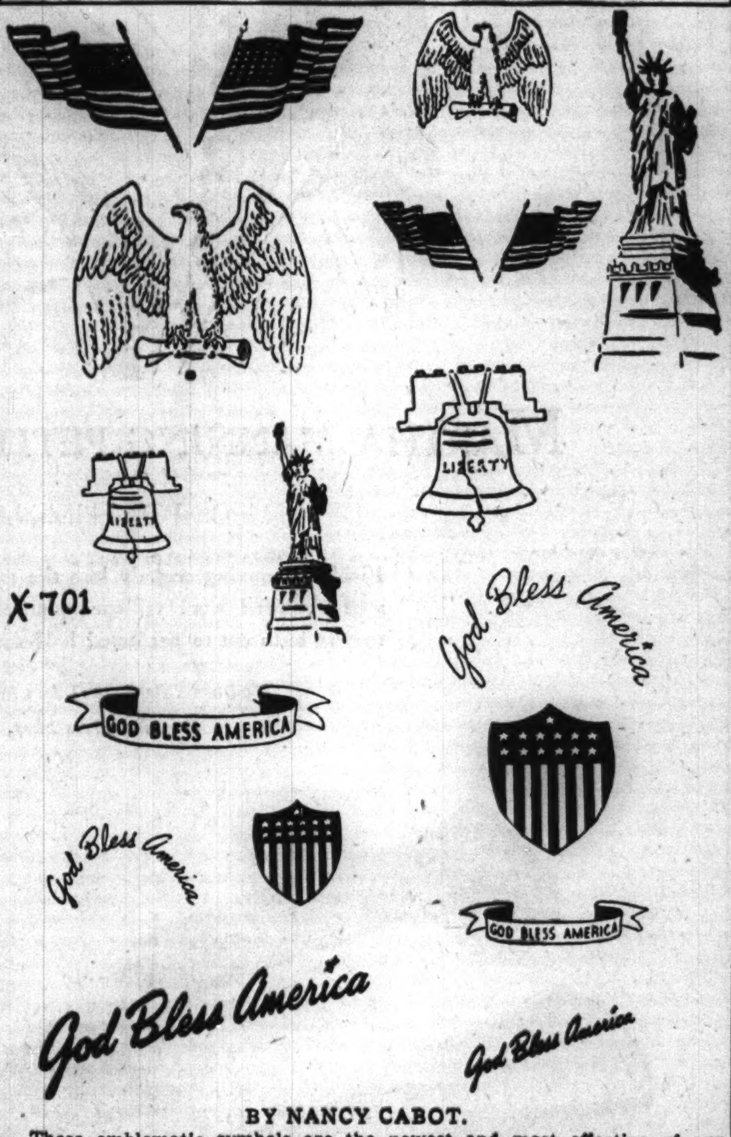
Effective Embroidery Motifs



BY NANCY CABOT.

These emblematic symbols are the newest and most effective of our embroidery motifs. They fill a crying need and serve to keep in mind what lucky individuals we are. The figures illustrate clearly our freedom and independence, and should be embroidered on handkerchiefs, dress pockets, towels, cocktail napkins or on any article where they may be observed. The hot iron transfer pattern provides motifs from 1 by 1 to 3 by 4 inches. A detailed chart of instructions for embroidery is contained in the pattern.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of emblematic symbols, No. X-701, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

One of the worst defensive errors is to hold on to a card that cannot be valuable and which may turn into an actual liability. East, in today's hand, was a bit late in discovering the soundness of that philosophy.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

West made his normal opening, the diamond jack, top of an incomplete sequence. Declarer found himself in somewhat of a dilemma on the first trick. The best defense against the adverse diamond suit was to concede the first trick. This would break communications between the East and West hands if the club honors were divided and the diamond suit were five cards long. [If diamonds were divided, four-three, they could not threaten the contract.] But, as against this desirable action, there was the great danger that the defenders, if permitted to hold the first trick, would shift to hearts and inevitably establish two tricks for themselves in that suit before losing their club controls. Hence, as the lesser of two evils, declarer won the opening lead with dummy's king and started the club suit. East made a good play by jumping up with the club ace [to preserve his partner's club entry], but, unfortunately for his side, his diamond return was fruitless. This was because, on the first trick, East had frugally followed suit with the six spot and now had only the diamond queen. When he laid down that card, declarer took the precaution of presenting him with the trick. Now, with one club honor driven out, declarer no longer had to fear a heart shift.

Obviously, it made little difference what East played after having been made the highly embarrassing present of the diamond queen. He selected a heart. Declarer won, drove out the club king, and claimed the balance. Result, four no trump.

There would have been quite a different outcome if East had known what to do with his diamond queen. That redundant card should have been played on the first trick, under the diamond king. Then, on the first club lead, it would have done East some real good to dash up with the club ace and return a diamond. Now, West would be able to establish his diamond suit whether or not declarer held up the ace, and the club king would remain West's entry for the cashing of the diamonds. Result, down one.

U. S. G. A. BARS JIM FERRIER FROM AMATEUR GOLF

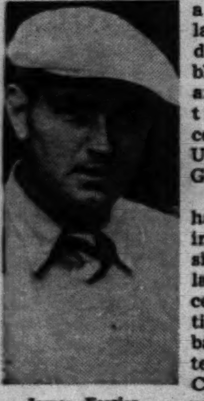
Out of National Trial at Flossmoor Today.



James Ferrier

Jim Ferrier, champion golfer of Australia and recent winner of the Chicago district amateur title, last night was declared ineligible for further amateur competition in this country by the United States Golf association.

Ferrier, who has been playing in this country since his arrival last winter, received notification of his disbarment in a letter from Edward Cheyney, chairman of the status and conduct committee of the U. S. G. A. The letter informed Ferrier he had been declared ineligible for writing instructional golf, which is an infraction of the U. S. G. A. rules.

Ferrier, who is a golf writer for the Sydney, Australia, Morning Herald, said last night the U. S. G. A. had reference to a book on golf which he had written and which was published in Australia. Ferrier insisted, however, that the book merely tells "How I Play Golf," and as such is not contrary to the amateur code.

Admits Receiving Royalties.

The U. S. G. A. said the book was of an instructional nature and that it had been informed by Ferrier he has a contract to receive royalties from sale of the book. This formed the basis for the ruling.

The action came as a blow to the husky Australian, who has been a popular figure on American courses since his arrival from his native land.

Ferrier had planned to compete today at Flossmoor in the Chicago district qualifying round for the national amateur championship. On the strength of his victory in the Chicago amateur last week he was regarded as a strong threat in the national, which will be held at Mamaroneck, N. Y., Sept. 9 to 14. He previously had finished as low amateur in the Chicago Open, the St. Paul Open and the Milwaukee Open, and went to the quarter-finals in the Western Amateur. The Australian defeated Walter Burkemo of Evanston for the Chicago district title.

Chicagoan Tells of Order.

Ferrier said he had been invited to come to this country by U. S. G. A. officials and was assured he would be welcome here.

Lowell D. Rutherford, vice president of the Chicago District Golf association, said the district office had been advised to withdraw Ferrier's name from the Chicago district qualifying trials.

Ferrier's disqualification reduced the Chicago sectional field to 73 for today's National Amateur trials. Among the prominent contenders who will play 36 holes of stroke competition are Burkemo, George Dawson of Glen Oak, Hank Bowbeer of Riverside, Johnny Banks of Elmhurst, Wilford Wehrle of Tam o' Shanter, Johnny Krutilla of Midlothian, Johnny Lehman of Olympia Fields, Pick Wagner of Kildeer, Jack Hoerner of North Shore, Gus Moreland of Peoria, Tom Draper of St. Louis, Mo., and Arthur Andrews Jr. of Peoria.

DON SIEGEL WINS FROM MARTIN IN MARIGOLD FIGHT

Don Siegel, member of last year's College All-Star football team, won a split decision over Selman Martin, Chicago heavyweight, in an eight round bout in Marigold Gardens last night.

Siegel, who weighed 205 pounds, went thru with the match despite an indefinite suspension he received by the Michigan boxing commission for refusal to face Pat Comiskey in Detroit last night. Martin weighed 201 pounds.

Johnny Pleasant, 1939 Chicagoland Golden Gloves lightweight champion, knocked out Floyd Hagen in the third round and Elza Thompson, also a Golden Gloves product, was awarded a decision over Henry Wacker in the first when Wacker was floored for a nine count and then disqualified himself by going down without being hit.

There was a little confusion connected with the Wacker-Thompson engagement. Near the end of the opening round Thompson dropped Wacker for a nine count, but Referee Tuffy Griffith misjudged Timer Charles Tow's count and thought Henry had returned to his feet a second too late.

Shortly after, a member of the Illinois [whitewash] athletic commission apprized Griffith of his error, however, Wacker fell back to the canvas to rob Thompson of a clean knockout.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

LET'S talk this morning about the men who will represent professional football in the seventh annual All-Star charity game in Soldiers' field Thursday night. . . . The average Green Bay Packer, a composite of the 43 who will come down from the north to entertain more than 80,000 spectators, is a college man, 25 years 3 months old, who weighs 209½ pounds, stands 5 feet 11.6 inches, and has had three years' experience in post-graduate football. . . . The giant of the squad is the left tackle, Buford [Baby] Ray of Vanderbilt, who scales 248 pounds and is 6 feet 6 inches tall. . . . The midget is Beattie Feathers of Tennessee, who started at half back for the All-Stars in the original game in 1934. . . . He is 185 pounds and 5 feet 10. . . . Five of the Packers—Feathers, Tiny Engebretsen, Arnie Herber, Clarke Hinkle, and Ernie Smith—are 30 years old. . . . Smiley Johnson, rookie guard from the University of Georgia, was reared in an orphanage. . . . He worked his way thru high school and got a college education on an athletic scholarship. . . . Buford Ray owns a liquor store in Nashville. . . . Joe Laws of Iowa and Eddie Jankowski of Wisconsin, former All-Stars, are district executives for the National Youth administration. . . . Laws and Don Hutson, the record holding forward pass receiver, played with the Packers in the 1937 All-Star game, but would rather not have anything said about it, for Green Bay lost that one, 6 to 0. . . . Pete Tinsley, the old Georgia guard who recommended Smiley Johnson for a tryout, is a brother of Dave Tinsley, the South Carolina open golf champion. . . . Pete is an accomplished mashie wielder himself, but has drifted away from the game since joining the Packers because Green Bay dowagers object to his playing the fashionable Oneida Country club course in his bare feet.

CARL SOMDAL

Arnie Herber, the passer with the howitzer arm, is the oldest man in point of service on the club. . . . He is starting his 11th year of professional football. . . . Milt Gantenbein, captain and right end, is starting his 10th, and Hinkle and Engebretsen have been in the National league eight years. . . . Larry Craig, who starred in his freshman year of pro ball last season, owns and operates a farm in South Carolina. . . . Between chores he studies aviation. . . . Twenty-six of the 43 Packers have had experience in the Chicago All-Star game, 16 as members of the college squad and 10 as members of the Packers three years ago. . . . Buckets Goldenberg, veteran guard, manages a finance company in Green Bay, and Dick Weisgerber, blocking back, is an umpire in the Western International league. . . . Jimmy Lawrence from Texas Christian university bats in the cleanup position for Longview in the East Texas league. . . . Bill Lee of Alabama, the handsomest man in the National league, is a professional wrestler in the off season. . . . Herman Schneidman, blocking back from Iowa, who is attempting a comeback after a year's layoff, is a relief investigator in Illinois. . . . Ernie Smith, the tackle who financed his way thru Southern California tooting a trombone and leading his own dance orchestra, is an insurance broker in Los Angeles. . . . Twenty-four of the Packers are married and 10 are fathers.

Perspective.

A lad who'd only known the East,
Came trav'ling thru the West,
Without a single doubt in mind
Which section was the best.
He saw new cities, far-flung fields
And as he went his way,
Thru West to South then thru the North,
He saw new light of day.

A mighty nation loomed before
His erstwhile narrow view,
As city, town, and hamlet passed
Behind him in review.
So gradually he understood
That sections do not count
And in his heart a new-born pride
Began to slowly mount.

He knew at last that he belonged,
Not to a single place,
But to a country, great and free—
An all-inclusive race.
For now he saw that East and West
Make up a finer thing—
An individual whole to face
Whate'er the future bring.

METZ SCORES 69 TO LEAD OPENING ROUND IN P. G. A.

Guldahl, McSpaden, Gibson Second with 70.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 26.—Dick Metz, playing with 119 others, today took the first round lead in the qualifying quest for the 23d national professional championship. The Oak Park, Ill., Country club star fired a 36-33-69, four under par, over the damp and chilly acreage of the Hershey Country club, for a one stroke edge on the field going into tomorrow's final eighteen of the medal play test.

A stroke back of Metz, who was a semi-finalist in last year's tournament and who recently captured the Chicago Open, was a threesome of 70 shooters including two other Illinois section representatives and the 1937 runnerup. The last named was that feared match player, Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Boston. The two Chicagoans were 29 year old John Gibson, assistant pro at Ridgemoor, and Ralph Guldahl, former double National and triple Western title holder, who is competing unattached.

Guldahl Needs Only 26 Putts.

Metz, who last year set a back nine record of 32 in the Hershey Open, required only 29 putts today, but even that was three more than the thrifty 26 Guldahl took. Gibson, who was fifth on the tee today and who occupies locker No. 5 for the tournament, also did well on the greens. In contrast to them was 54 year old Jim Barnes, making a comeback in the P. G. A. event after having won the first two crowns more than 20 years ago. Barnes used up 39 putts in working out a 79.

Tied at 71 were Ky Laffoon, unattached, from Chicago; Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Western Open and Masters' boss, whose ailing foot is once more in shape; Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., victor in 1934 and 1938; Jimmy Hines of New York, and Johnny Kinder of Plainfield, N. J.

19 Match or Better Par.

Nineteen in the field of 120 matched or bettered par of 73, while 69 were deadlocked at 76 or better. One of those equaling par was the home club pro, Henry Picard, who holds the course record of 65 and who won the championship last year. Picard is exempt from the medal play, qualifying automatically, but elected to seek the Alex Smith Memorial trophy, which goes to the winner of the qualifying test. The low 64 scorers for the 36 holes of stroke play will gain the match play bracket, which opens Wednesday with two 18 hole battles and continues at 36

Rival Coaches Talk It Over

CUBS TAKE 10 TO 5 WHIPPING AND A TONGUE LASHING

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Gabby Hartnett, who has learned to take routine Cub defeats in stride, considered yesterday's 10 to 5 setback at the hands of the New York Giants something less than standard and told his charges as much in the clubhouse after the game. The Cub skipper remained in his office at Wrigley field an hour longer than usual and was in a stormy mood until he left for his home.

One of the manifestations of his ire was the benching of Catcher Al Todd and pointed comment about the attitude of some of the other stars. It is said that when Hartnett reprimanded Todd for lazy behavior during pregame practice and for his feeble effort to break up a double steal in yesterday's sixth inning, Todd answered with some feeling that he was "exhausted from catching double headers." This retort to Hartnett, who has caught more major league games than any man who ever lived, including scores of double headers, apparently was not the right answer.

Collins to Catch Today.

Hartnett said he planned to "give Todd plenty of rest from now on" and that Bob Collins would catch today's final with the Giants. Catcher Clyde McCullough, Cub property now with the Buffalo Bisons, may be recalled.

It has been intimated that a bloc of Cubs has been listening to rumors that Hartnett will not succeed himself in 1941, with results familiar to those who know the psychology of ball players who think the boss is going to be bounced. Capt. Bill Herman, tho in a receptive mood for the job, is making no campaign to become Gabby's successor, it should be said in justice to his team spirit, especially since Bill has been in a slump for several weeks.

Await Wrigley's Return.

Owner P. K. Wrigley, who has been on a protracted sailing vacation, yesterday was said to have headed his yacht, The Wasp, for the home port. It was expected in some centers that he may clarify Hartnett's status shortly after The Wasp lands in Lincoln park. It has been suggested that the signing of Hartnett to a 1941 con-

John Blood to Play Last Game for Packers Against All-Stars

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 26.—The Green Bay Packers today drafted Johnny Blood, the vagabond half back, in a move to fortify their offensive for the All-Star game in Chicago on Thursday night.

Blood, who helped Green Bay win its first four world's championships in 1929, 1930, 1931 and 1936, came out of retirement voluntarily two weeks ago to help coach rookie backs. Flashes of the form that earned him a place among the all-time greats of the game led Coach Curley Lambeau to sign the veteran.

"Johnny was the finest money player who ever came into pro football and he was the league's first great pass catcher," Lambeau said. "We're going to be in the air all night Thursday and a spot may develop where Johnny will be extremely handy. When he retired as playing coach at Pittsburgh in midseason last year he still could outrun every man on his squad. He has retained his speed and his ability to catch a ball, despite 15 years of professional football, and we're glad he is willing to help out."

Adds Drama to Battle.

Blood's appearance in the lineup will lend a romantic touch to the game. When the announcement is made that "Blood is now playing right half back for Green Bay," one of the most extraordinary careers in football will have reached an appropriate climax. One of football's most colorful players will be making his farewell appearance on the gridiron in football's greatest game. Blood signed only for the All-Star contest.

Blood, an overnight alumnus of Notre Dame, De Pauw, Minnesota, Nebraska and way points, began playing professional football in 1926 with Ernie Nevers' Duluth Eskimos. In 1928 he was with the old Pottsville team. The Packers took him in 1929 and for the next eight years he wrote professional football history with a succession of spectacular achievements that wound up with the winning of Green Bay's fourth championship in 1936. He signed to coach Pittsburgh the following year and was denied a chance to play in the 1937 All-Star game.

Lambeau Orders Extra Drill.

Lambeau revised the Packers' training program this morning, ordering an extra workout in the afternoon. Originally it was planned to hold only one drill today and tomorrow. But the layoff yesterday, when rain prevented practice, and the slovenly work in a defensive drill this morning caused Lambeau to send the squad thru a session under the direction of Assistant Coach Red Smith, while Curley hurried to Chicago for a rules meeting with the All-Star coaching staff.

The drill under lights tomorrow will wind up the Packers' preparations in the strangest training camp in All-Star history. Since the third day of the training period, which opened in oppressive heat, there has been at least one good shower every 24 hours.

Packers' Rest Disturbed.

Three conventions have kept Green Bay jammed with visitors. First the players vied for seats in the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria with visiting Elks. For the last three days 5,000 Disabled American Veterans, in national convention, have taken over the town. A band paraded down Pine street at 1:30 o'clock this morning past one hotel where a great many of the players live. It took up its stand in the lobby of another hotel, where other players live, and played an hour's concert.

A drum and bugle corps rushed across the street Saturday night to hold a rehearsal in a tavern opposite the rooms of several players. When

Plan Final Session Tomorrow.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Under gray, threatening skies, the All-Stars raced thru two practice sessions yesterday in Dyche stadium in the next to final double workout for the battle with the Green Bay Packers in Soldiers' field Thursday evening.

The squad will practice in Evanston again this morning. In the evening, the players will report to Soldiers' field for a secret drill under the towering lights. They will receive their game uniforms at that time. The concluding practice is scheduled tomorrow and the players will come to the loop late Thursday.

With the approach of the All-Stars' date with Green Bay, the boys who will carry the burden of the attack are beginning to rise to the occasion. There was a more serious spirit to yesterday's practices as if all realized that in three days they will be tested on the information gleaned from lecture and gridiron.

Scrimmages Concluded.

Coach Eddie Anderson of Iowa is now concerned primarily with preparing his players mentally for the game with Green Bay. No more scrimmage will be held, altho dummy blocking and tackling is the order during the presentation of Green Bay's offense by the All-Stars who were detailed to this task a week ago.

This program of showing the Packers' plays which were used in the championship professional game last fall in Milwaukee against the New York Giants has been invaluable. It is an innovation in All-Star training.

The spirit of the All-Stars is matched, according to reports from Green Bay, by that of the Packers. All signs point to the best game in the series. The team standings are tied; the Packers were beaten in 1937 and now seek to prove that the earlier licking was due to other factors than comparative ability, and this game also may break all attendance records.

Last of $2.20 Seats Sold.

More than 85,000 spectators will jam Soldiers' field Thursday night. The advance sale already is far beyond that of any other All-Star game. The higher priced sections, $4.40 and $3.30, were sold weeks ago and the last of the $2.20 seats was snapped up yesterday. Several thousand of the $1.10 seats remain, however, and these are football's greatest bargain.

These tickets, in the horseshoe at the south end of the stadium and to the north, sold for three times as much during the halcyon days of collegiate football when Notre Dame and Southern California and the Army and Navy packed the stadium. Under the improved lighting system, all patrons in these sections will have a clear, unobstructed view of the game. Taller poles have been purchased for this year's game and the lighting power also has been increased.

If all tickets are sold before the kickoff shortly after 8:20 o'clock Thursday night, general admission tickets will be placed on sale. These tickets will be sold at $1 each.

Each Winner of 2 Games.

The all time score of this rivalry between the collegians and the professionals is tied. Each has won two games and there have been two ties. In 1934, when the game was inaugurated, the Chicago Bears were held to a scoreless tie by the All-Stars. The following year, the Bears gained some consolation by winning 5 to 0, altho the field goal and safety—the latter the result of the second half storm—fell far short of the Bears' hopes.

In 1936, the All-Stars, under the coaching of Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, tied the Detroit Lions, 7 to 7. Then came the college boys' initial victory. They whipped Green Bay, 6 to 0, in 1937, when Sammy Baugh threw a short pass to Gaynell Tinsley of Louisiana State and the fleet southerner escaped the tackles of two

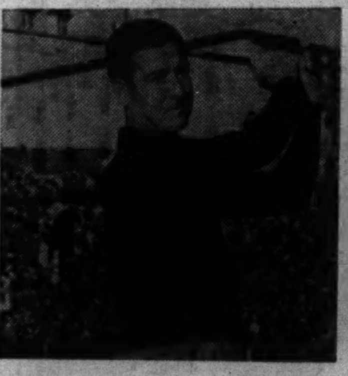
Chicagoans Set P. G. A. Pace



Dick Metz of Oak Park yesterday shot a 69 to take the first round lead in the two day qualifying trials of the National P. G. A. tournament in Hershey, Pa.

Metz gave no intimation of his forthcoming 69, after collecting the first of seven birdies on the opening green, with a 15 foot putt. For the next three holes he was three over par, a short second costing him a stroke at the second and a treed recovery of an overshot second setting him down two shots on the fourth. Thereafter Metz got down to business with six birdies, ranging from five to 25 feet on the 6th, 8th, 16th, and 17th greens, and a couple of dead pitches on the lengthy 10th and 13th.

Greyhound Wins in Syracuse, but Loses First Heat

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 26 (AP).—Greyhound, champion trotter, finished his Grand Circuit comeback campaign today with a two out of three heat victory in the $1,733 Trotting Club Trot at the Syracuse fair grounds.

Greyhound, winner in straight heats in five previous starts, lost his first heat of the year in the opening of today's event, when Peter Astra caught him at the wire. In the next two heats, however, the great trotter first beat out Peter Astra by a half length, and then won by as much from Bravo, with Peter Astra sixth and last.

85,000 to See All-Stars and Packers Play

Packers. Joe Laws, a member of the first All-Star team and still playing with Green Bay, was the last of the defenders to fail to stop the sprinting Tinsley.

Pros '39 Victors, 9 to 0.

The 1938 All-Star team trounced the Washington Red Skins and Sammy Baugh, 28 to 16, although at the intermission Washington led, 10 to 3. Last year, the professionals evened the series when the New York Giants won, 9 to 0, on three field goals. It is interesting that the professionals never have scored a touchdown in a game they have won.

The attraction of this game is easily understood. Not only is Green Bay seeking to regain prestige, but all Iowa carried over the enthusiasm engendered last fall. Anderson became head coach because Iowa sought to honor him for his work in bringing the Hawkeyes back to prominence. Iowa was beaten only by Michigan and was tied by Northwestern. This gave Iowa second place in the Western conference, and the victory ledger also recorded triumphs over Notre Dame and Minnesota.

Dean Granted Furlough.

Iowa elected Anderson head coach and with him four of the Iron Men of 1939, Nile Kinnick, Edwin Prasse, Dick Evans, and Buzz Dean. Prasse, now playing professional baseball, was unable to report. Dean nearly missed the game when he was ordered to report to Randolph Field, Tex., tomorrow, but he obtained a furlough yesterday and now will report Sept. 4. Dean was a member of the Reserve Officers' Training corps and taught infantry drill earlier this summer at Fort Des Moines, Ia.

More than 300 press reservations have been made for the game. From New York to San Francisco and from Minneapolis to Dallas and Fort Worth, the nation's sports writers will come to detail the thrills of the air battle between the Packers and All-Stars. Bill Leiser of the San Francisco Chronicle and Bert McGrane of the Des Moines Register and Tribune already are at the All-Star camp.

MBS to Broadcast Game.

The game will be reported over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting System. WTMJ of Milwaukee also has been granted permission to report the game for Wisconsin followers of the Packers.

Game ceremonies will start promptly at 8:20 o'clock Thursday night. For an hour before that, however, Armand Hand's band and the Frank Bennett male chorus of 16 voices will entertain early arrivals. After the introduction of the All-Stars and the Packers, the kickoff is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock.

Between the halves, the college band of 175 musicians under the direction of Glenn Cliffe Bainum will parade. The professional league will present its trophy to the outstanding first year player, and Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, will present a silver trophy to Bill Osmanski, who was voted the player most valuable to the 1939 All-Stars in their game with the Giants. Cecil Isbell of Purdue and a member of the Packers won the first award in 1938.

Curley Lambeau, Packer coach, and Anderson met last night to discuss the rules. There were no major changes in the code under which the game was played last year. Both now will instruct the officials at a luncheon Thursday noon.

the players went to lunch Sunday noon the corps was still rehearsing—in the same place. The loudest public address system in captivity blares out canned music, reads announcements, and pages missing D. A. V.'s all over the county from high atop the Northland hotel.

In this atmosphere the Packers have attempted to work themselves into the proper physical and mental condition to defend the prestige of professional football against the most talented group of All-Stars ever assembled. They have done right well physically, but their mental progress leaves much to be desired. Instead of getting football minded, Ernie Smith, Charlie Schultz and Lou Midler have succumbed to music and have moved a jute box into their hotel room.

Concentrate on Tackling.

The last rough work of the training period was portioned out this morning when Lambeau opened practice with a 30 minute session. The greater part of the time was devoted to tackling. Blocking has been uniformly good in recent scrimmages.

After the tackling drill punters were sent thru a long session of kicking. Clarke Hinkle, Arnie Herber and Frank Balazs got away long high spirals consistently. They appear to be the pick of the kickers. Cecil Isbell, Dick Weisgerber and Jimmy Lawrence also are punters, but it is not likely that any one of them will do any kicking against the All-Stars unless there happens to be a time when neither Hinkle, Herber nor Balazs is in the game.

MEET MEMPHIS RED SOX.

SOX AND YANKEES STOPPED BY RAIN; TO CLASH TODAY

Kreevich Out as Dykes Seeks Batting Power.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 26.—There were no developments today in the Yankee-White Sox phase of the American league race, an affair that is becoming giddier by the moment. Rain kept the two factions out of the huge stadium but, weather permitting, they'll play tomorrow, which had been made into an open date by the playing of a double header yesterday. Then the Sox will move on to Boston for two games with the Red Sox, which will conclude their last 1940 eastern tour.

When the Sox assemble tomorrow, Mike Kreevich will be on the bench, a rare experience for the Iron Duke, who can field with the best of 'em and usually wields a wicked bat. Mike is back in the slump which he appeared to have shaken off, so Manager Jim Dykes has granted him a vacation for a few days. Kreevich's center field job will be turned over to Larry Rosenthal, but whether Larry can bring about a batting revival is doubtful. He wasn't able to do much when he filled in recently for Julius [Charley Horse] Solters.

Dykes Yearns for Power.

"What a lot of fun we might have if we could only get to hitting again," moaned Mr. Dykes after he had announced his communique covering Kreevich's vacation.

The manager obviously was hinting that the race is wide open, that the Cleveland Indians are a long way from in and might fold up if one of their pursuers put on a spurt. And Mr. Dykes includes his unpredictable Sox among these possibilities, altho appreciating that it can't happen unless his boys resume hitting the ball. Their attack began to collapse about a month ago. It slowed down as soon as Solters, the power threat in the lineup, was laid up by his charley horse.

Yanks' Surge Worries Rivals.

Solters is back now, but isn't his real batting self. The leg is in bad shape and it's the kind of injury that is irritated more by the strain occasioned by the swinging at a pitched ball than by straightaway running.

Nobody, not even Dykes, is overlooking the fact that the Yanks are back in the race and that's not comforting for the Indians, the Tigers, the Red Sox, or even the White Sox. The Sox broke even with the champions yesterday, but in each game noticed that Joe McCarthy's athletes had their former aggressiveness and confidence.

Vern Olsen rated, and justly so, something of a shutout boy wonder, was not himself as he encountered the New Yorkers yesterday. The boy was knocked out with one down in the fourth, the blow that got him being a two run single by Babe Young.

Root Sees More Action.

Charley Root, who works or warms up to work every day, replaced Olsen and held the Giants to six hits the rest of the way. The Giants got to him for two runs in the sixth, after the side should have been out on a frustrated double steal. The steal was not frustrated and the two stealers, Joe Moore and Frankie Demaree, were the ones who scored.

Carl Hubbell, whose heroic comeback struggles are noted mildly in these days in which the Giants, with the Cubs, are representing the nation's first two cities with also ran ball clubs, was the winning pitcher. His 11th success was tabulated after he had kept the Cubs away from the home base in the last five and two-thirds innings of play. Harry Gumbert had a plump lead when he was knocked out in the fourth, but was denied the decision because he hadn't gone the requisite five innings as a starter.

When he entered yesterday's contest, Master Olsen had a record of holding his adversaries to 42 runs in 126 innings, exactly three earned and unearned runs per game. This laudable tabulation had been helped by four shutouts.

It Just Isn't Vern's Day.

In the second inning yesterday the Giants made more hits than the Dodgers made all day, Vern's last time out. Singles by Harry Danning, Tony Cuccinello and Mickey Witek produced the first run of the game in that second inning. The Cubs tied the score in the second on Hank Leiber's double and a couple of outs.

In the third, the Giants brought their run total up to the previous game average enjoyed by Olsen. Two runs were produced on a two base bunt by Johnny Rucker, a single by Joe Moore, a triple by Demaree, and a single by Mel Ott.

In their end of the fourth the Cubs knocked out Gumbert, tho they made only two singles. Two walks, a hit batsman, and two errors were mixed up in the business which brought on Hubbell. Leiber opened the rally with his second of his three hits and Jim Gleeson walked. The bases were loaded after Cuccinello had juggled Dom Dallessandro's bouncer. Leiber scored while Todd was forcing Dallessandro. Then Mattick singled to center, scoring Gleeson. Root was hit by a pitched ball, loading the bases again and Stan Hack walked, forcing Todd home. Hubbell went in and Mattick scored while Mel Ott was throwing out Herman. Zeke Bonura flied to Rucker.

PASSEAU FACES GIANTS TODAY; TRIES FOR NO. 17

Bill Lohrman, who has been very wicked against the Cubs, altho only a .500 pitcher in National league competition, will start for the Giants this afternoon in the New Yorkers' 1940 farewell to Chicago. He will be opposed by Claude Passeau. Claude will be after his 17th victory, his ninth straight in Wrigley field.

The Cubs have 16 more home games. There have been years when the number of late August and September home games had a big bearing on National league pennant matters. But alas! The remaining home games are not even insurance against the second division this year.

If the Cubs become fatigued in their Labor day double header in Pittsburgh they shouldn't worry too much. They will be able to relax all day Tuesday and Wednesday in St. Louis. Wednesday night they will play the Cardinals.

THE "hair root" (papilla) rarely dies. Even in long-standing cases of baldness this inactive source of hair growth is alive and ready to respond to proper scientific stimulation. Thomas treatment skillfully supplies this necessary stimulation and makes it possible for hair to push through the scalp and again grow normally. Local scalp disorders—such as extreme dryness or oiliness, dandruff, or irritable itching—which cause the "hair roots" to become inactive, are readily overcome by Thomas treatment.

Two decades of success and more than a quarter-million satisfied clients recommend Thomas scalp treatment. It is physiologically sound—it produces positive benefits. Thomas can help you, too, to end dandruff, stop abnormal hair fall, or to promote hair growth on the thin or bald spots. VISCOUNTY WINS TEST FOR $25,000 HOMEWOOD RACE

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Viscounty, the four year old colt which will carry the Valdina Farm colors in the $25,000 Washington Park handicap next Monday, demonstrated yesterday that he's just about as fit as he has been at any time in his career. Going easily all the way, he beat three other candidates for the Labor day stake in a mile and a furlong event which headed yesterday's Washington Park program. He came home four lengths ahead of Mrs. Marie Evans' Shot Put. An equal distance farther back came Tom Taggart's Yale o'Nine in third place, while J. C. Brady's War Plumage brought up the rear.

Viscounty was second choice at 9 to 5 in the betting, paying off his backers at $5.80. No place or show tickets were sold. The entry of Yale o'Nine and War Plumage, both of which were saddled by Trainer Howard Wells, was the even money favorite, while Shot Put, hero of the current distance series, was quoted at 5 to 2.

Track Deep With Mud.

Over a track which was deep with heavy mud, Viscounty covered the mile and an eighth in 1:56 1-5. A short time earlier, Trainer Tom Smith had sent Charles S. Howard's Kayak II., another contender for the $25,000 handicap, out on the track for a workout between races. Kayak II. went the mile and an eighth in 1:56 3-5.

Taking no chances on injury, Smith had decided not to let Kayak II. run in the handicap trial. He also scratched Advocator. Joe Grossman's Valdina Star, which had been in the overnight field of seven, also was withdrawn.

Viscounty Is Well Placed.

Thruout yesterday's race Jockey Nunzio Pariso had Viscounty in hand. He got a good break on the dash for position on the clubhouse turn. Viscounty, starting from No. 1 post position, was so placed as they reached the bend that no horse could possibly have moved over to the rail ahead of him without fouling him. Viscounty was two lengths in the lead when they completed the swing and headed down the back stretch. Pariso was braced in his stirrups with a strong hold. War Plumage and Yale o'Nine were side by side and Shot Put was last.

Running effortlessly, Viscounty had increased his advantage to three lengths as they went around the last turn. Still Pariso had a hold of him. It wasn't until they were straightened out in the stretch and Shot Put was beginning to launch a bid that the boy finally let his mount go. Even then it was only necessary to let him run for a furlong or so. Nearing the finish, Pariso took Viscounty in hand again and it was all over.

Viscounty's Second Start.

This was Viscounty's second start of the meeting. He had won a six furlong dash on Aug. 14. Before that he had run sixth to Challedon in the $50,000 Hollywood Gold Cup race.

Erin Ksar and Kind Annie won the first two races, thereby producing a daily double worth $419.40. Both scored handily, tho Erin Ksar had a little trouble getting thru on the inside when Silver B., started bearing in during the stretch drive. Once clear, however, Erin Ksar drew away and won by a length. Silver B. saved second money and Sparkling Heel was third. Erin Ksar was an outsider paying $33.80, $12.60, and $6.40.

After breaking from the No. 1 post position and taking the lead at once, Kind Annie led all the way home in the second race. She finished a length and a half in advance of Hi-Carl while Valdina Dream was third. Across the board, Kind Annie returned $24.20, $10.80, and $6.

Understand, Lucille?

One Lucille Cummings recently requested that I reveal how I learned that girls no longer are rolling their stockings. Declining to answer, I should, nevertheless, like to avail myself of this opportunity to rebuke Miss Cummings for endeavoring to bring this matter down off the high plane of philosophical comment on current trends upon which I had intended to maintain it, by the regrettable leveling of an innuendo designed to arouse doubt of the high purpose and disinterested detachment of a contemporary philosopher.

The Birth of a Song.

Regretfully I noted the passing of the Rev. Michael J. Shea, co-author with his brother, John, of Notre Dame's famous "Victory March." I was one of three students invited by the co-authors to Washington hall at Notre Dame in 1906 to hear its first tryout. Mike Shea sat at the piano and played the piece, and John and the rest of us made a valiant effort to sing it. Tho I remained at Notre Dame until 1909 I didn't hear the song again until many years later when it came over the air during a football broadcast. John Shea was in the class of 1906, the same class that [illegible] Charlie O'Donnell [the late Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell] on his way to the presidency of the university.

EDDY HOWARD IS ONE OF 4 STARS ON W-G-N SHOW

BY BRUCE DENNIS.

Eddy Howard.

Singers come and singers go, and once in a long time a singer will rise to fame and stardom. Few, however, have made the ascension to the top with the speed of Eddy Howard, one of the four stars who will be presented on the program, "In Chicago Tonight" over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system network from 7:30 to 8 p. m. Thursday.

Edward Evan Duncan Howard has several distinctions. One is that he doesn't imitate Bing Crosby. Eddy is a definite stylist in his own right. Crosby fans, too, like him and they have plenty of company. And Howard, in addition to his pleasing, effortless singing, has exceptional talent as a composer.

List of Howard Hits.

Read this list of Howard hits, first strummed out on his guit: and recorded on his home machine to see how they'd go: "My Last Good-by," "If I Knew Then," "Careless," "A Million Dreams Ago,' and his latest, "Now I Lay Me Down to Dream." Ted Fio Rito wrote the music for the last one; Eddy wrote both words and music for the others.

Eddy is 24 years old, husky, and, to judge from the thousands of letters he receives from women listeners, handsome. He is a native of Woodland, Cal., and lives with his wife, Jane, in an apartment at the Sovereign hotel.

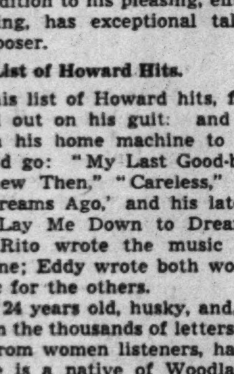
Seven months ago Howard was singing with Dick Jurgens' band. Then he struck out for himself under the managership of W. Biggie Levin, and things began to happen. His weekly income is now well into four figures. More than 300,000 of his own song recordings have been sold; you can't stuff a nickel into a juke box without hearing him. He has his own radio program, the Luxor Powder Box, heard on W-G-N Monday and Friday evenings. He packed the customers in at recent appearances in a loop theater.

Turns Down Film Offers.

Now J. J. Shubert wants to star Howard in a Broadway musical show in which new Howard songs would be used. Howard has turned down Hollywood offers thus far; it's suspected he wants to get up so high in the musical world that a bad picture wouldn't wing him.

"In Chicago Tonight" will be produced and directed by William A. Bacher. Howard will share the spotlight with Kitty Carlisle, movie and musical comedy star who is beginning an engagement at the Chez Paree Friday; Ted Lewis, band leader just closing at the same night spot, and Eddie Peabody, known with reason as "The Wizard of the Banjo." Lewis will be master of ceremonies. Harold Stokes and the W-G-N orchestra will provide the musical backdrop.

L. A. FERGUSON FUNERAL RITES ARE TOMORROW



L. A. Ferguson.

Funeral services for Louis A. Ferguson, who played a prominent part in the development of the Commonwealth Edison company and made many contributions to the technique of the industry, will be conducted tomorrow. Mr. Ferguson, whose home was at 1601 Wesley avenue, Evanston, died Sunday night in a Rhinelander, Wis., hospital. He was 73 years old.

He retired in 1936 as vice president in charge of engineering and construction for Commonwealth Edison. A native of Dorchester, Mass., he was graduated in 1888 from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He immediately was employed by the old Chicago Edison company, predecessor of Commonwealth Edison. In 1897 he became general superintendent and in 1902 was elected a vice president.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Henry Butler of St. Louis, Mo., and three sons, Louis A. Ferguson Jr. of Lake Forest, Arthur J. of Winnetka, and Alan M. Ferguson of Washington, D. C.

Services will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church in Evanston. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

PLAN CALIFORNIA INQUEST IN DEATH OF CHICAGO WIFE

Word was received yesterday from Redlands, Cal., near the scene of the death of Mrs. Alice Von Hermann of Chicago, that she had placed her emerald ring and pocketbook in her suitcase before she fell or jumped from the speeding Californian train last Thursday night.

Coroner R. E. Williams of Redlands said that in her luggage he found three notes reading: "Deliver to Von Hermann drug store, Chicago Board of Trade." One note was written on a train menu. An inquest will be held Friday or Saturday in Redlands.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Price advances were made in all meats and most classes of live stock at the stockyards yesterday. Fresh cuts of pork rose 50 cents to $1.50, and gains in beef ranged from 50 cents to $1 a hundred pounds. Top light pork loins wholesaled at $23, a new 1940 peak.

Brisk competition sent hogs up 15 to mostly 25 cents. The $7.50 top was highest since Oct. 18, 1939. The average rose 15 cents to $6.60 a hundred pounds.

Still 517 Millions Above Last Year's Total.

The total of outstanding commercial loans by reserve system member banks declined to $4,455,000,000 as of last Wednesday, $6,000,000 less than a week earlier, the federal reserve board reported yesterday.

Increases had been reported for the weeks ended Aug. 14 and Aug. 7. In spite of the reversal in the latest week, the volume still was $517,000,000 larger than at the end of the corresponding 1939 period.

Loans to brokers and dealers in securities outstanding totaled $377,000,000, an increase of $1,000,000 for the week but a decline of $262,000,000 as compared with a year earlier.

A $12,000,000 drop in such loans at New York, accounted for the decline, with other cities reporting increases which were not large enough to offset the New York decrease.

Comparisons of the principal assets and liabilities of member banks of the federal reserve system in 101 cities at the close of business Wednesday follow [last six ciphers omitted]:

GUM COMPETITORS.

Can you tell me what companies are the leading competitors of the Wm. Wrigley Jr. Company? Is American Chicle, listed on the big board, one of these? Please send me a review of American Chicle.—W. T.

Answer: The American Chicle company and the Beech-Nut Packing company are the two chief competitors of the Wm. Wrigley Jr. company.

American Chicle was formed 41 years ago from a consolidation of some of the oldest chewing gum manufacturers in this country. The company makes such chewing gums as Chiclets, Beeman's and Dentyne and several kinds of confections. Its main factory is in Long Island City, N. Y., and it has other plants in Canada, Mexico and Argentina.

Capital stock outstanding consists of 435,700 shares of no par common stock. Dividends have been paid consistently on the stock since 1925.

Earnings of the company have been relatively stable in recent years. Profits and sales in 1939 were at all-time peaks. Foreign business last year accounted for about 15 per cent of total sales, but the war and foreign exchange restrictions are having an adverse effect on earnings of foreign subsidiaries.

1935	$2,642,327	$5.98	$4.00
1936	3,032,228	6.89	6.50
1937	3,619,078	8.27	7.00
1938	3,297,495	7.54	5.50
1939	3,334,553	8.79	6.25
1939	3,834,553	8.79	6.25

In the first half of 1940, net income was $1,899,545, equal to $4.36 a share, against $1,883,382, or $4.31 a share, in the first six months of 1939. Dividends paid thus far in 1940 totaled $3.25 a share and a quarterly payment of $1 a share will be made Sept. 16 on stock of record Sept. 3.

BORG-WARNER PLANTS.

I would like to know in what cities the Borg-Warner Corp. has plants.—K. E.

Answer: Domestic manufacturing operations of the company and its subsidiaries are conducted in 12 cities—Detroit, Kalamazoo, and Flint, Mich.; Chicago, Rockford and Chicago Heights, Ill.; Muncie, Newcastle, Gary, and Auburn, Ind.; Cleveland, O., and Ithaca, N. Y. The company also has a plant in Windsor, Ont., and another in Letchford, England.

Last Month's Lard Exports Largest for July in Six Years

Exports of lard from the United States last month rose to the heaviest July volume in six years, the department of commerce reported yesterday. The total shipments, 28,238,574 pounds, showed an increase of 122 per cent over the June exports. Usually there is a decline in sales of lard abroad from June to July. Traders at the Chicago Board of Trade said the increase probably was caused by delayed shipments of large British purchases reported in May and June.

The June lard exports were only 12,696,718 pounds, and May shipments were 14,889,018. Until July, there had been a steady decline in lard sales abroad since January, when the exports were 27,588,373 pounds.

Year Ago Total Large.

The total for July last year was large, at 25,338,962. Two years ago July exports were 12,881,137 pounds, and in July, 1935, they were 4,953,000, the lowest on record for July.

Despite the sensational upswing in exports of lard last month, sales for the year still are lower than in 1939. During the first seven months of 1940, exports totaled 148,048,615 pounds, compared with 166,016,233 pounds a year ago.

While lard sales soared, exports of pork declined to a new all time low for the month of July. Shipments totaled only 3,232,938 pounds, compared with the previous low July record of 5,397,766 pounds in 1937. Exports a year ago were 16,883,883 pounds.

Owing to the heavy buying by Canada the first two months of this year, the seven months' total at 76,066,042 pounds, is only slightly under last year's 78,905,252 pounds.

Pork Imports Negligible.

Sales of beef and veal also declined last month. Exports, at 1,075,997 pounds, were smallest for any month since May of last year and smallest for July in three years.

Pork imports amounted to only 222,198 pounds, smallest total for any month since December, 1934. They compared with 4,864,145 pounds a year ago and the all time July peak of 7,644,861 in 1937. Imports for the first seven months of 1940 totaled 3,500,102 pounds, the smallest since 1934. They compared with 31,868,515 last year.

Imports of beef and veal dropped to the lowest July volume in six years, at 5,105,313 pounds, compared with 5,414,049 pounds during June and with 8,530,178 pounds a year ago. The seven months' imports, at 45,660,837 pounds, compared with 51,722,454 a year ago.

JULY HOME BUILDING IN CHICAGO AREA RISES 38 PCT. OVER YEAR AGO

Contracts awarded for residential construction in the Chicago metropolitan area during July rose 38 per cent over the total for the same months of 1939, T. O. Morgan, Chicago manager of Dodge Reports, said yesterday.

The work, materials, and equipment called for in residential building contracts awarded in Lake, Cook, and Du Page counties, Illinois, and Lake, Porter, and La Porte counties, Indiana, cost $5,587,000. A year ago the corresponding valuation was $4,042,000, and in 1938 it was $2,369,000.

Contracts for the first seven months of this year in the six counties' area totaled $35,214,000, a $4,654,000 increase over the $30,560,000 total for the same period in 1939. In 1938 it was $14,667,000.

Studebaker Distributors Discuss Fall Sales Plans

Paul G. Hoffman, president of Studebaker corporation, yesterday discussed the fall sales program of the company with more than 3,000 midwest distributors, dealers, and salesmen at the Edgewater Beach hotel. C. Scott Fletcher, sales manager, also addressed the group. Delegates were told Studebaker will build more than 150,000 of the 1941 model cars, and the South Bend factory will start a double shift schedule immediately.

CHECK BUSINESS IN 7TH RESERVE DISTRICT RISES

Business done by check in the seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district during the week ended Aug. 21 increased 1.8 per cent over that of the preceding week, but was 1.7 per cent below that of the corresponding week in 1939, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday.

Debits to deposit accounts as reported by 158 banks in 41 leading clearing house cities in the district totaled $1,067,374,000, compared with $1,048,549,000 the week before and $1,086,272,000 last year. Debits during the 13 weeks ended Aug. 21 amounted to $15,242,022,000, or 4 per cent above the same 1939 period.

Checks cashed in Chicago during the week totaled $580,396,000, against $572,206,000 the preceding week and $660,466,000 a year ago.

BRITISH POUND STEADY; DOLLAR OF CANADA RISES

The Canadian dollar advanced ⅛ cent to 87 United States cents and the British pound held at $4.03 in foreign exchange trading at New York yesterday. Currencies of Hongkong and Shanghai weakened. The former lost nearly 1-10th of a cent to close at 22.74 cents and the latter eased about 1-20 of a cent to finish at 5.56 cents.

COTTON

Sales of print cloths in the Worth street, New York, market last week are estimated at 35,000,000 yards and of sheetings, 5,000,000 yards. Reports indicate that textile brokers anticipate a continued good business.

Hedging pressure is reported as light, while mills are said to be buying futures on the declines. Owing to more favorable weather conditions recently there is a disposition shown to raise estimates on this year's cotton crop. Some brokers expect the yield to be as high as 12,000,000 bales. This compares with 11,429,000 bales forecasted on Aug. 1, and 11,817,000 bales secured in 1939.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .01 cent higher with New Orleans and New York, 9.70 cents and Galveston and Houston at 9.10 cents a pound. Prices follow:

DAY by DAY on the FARM by HOMER NEISZ

Rains Spur Alfalfa.

Aug. 26, 1940.

ALFALFA at the Du Page county farm has grown so fast since the recent rains that some of the meadows will need to be cut a third time, a practice not commonly followed there. Much of the alfalfa now is 18 inches tall and beginning to bloom. Workers say that unless it is cut again the plants are likely to grow so tall as to cause the first cutting next year to be filled with trash and dead plants from the heavy growth.

Any fields that are not cut a third time may be used for pasture during the next two weeks. This does no harm unless the alfalfa is overpastured and the plants grazed too short.

Last year a 13 acre field was cut three times. Altho the last cutting of hay was taken off near the middle of September and there was virtually no rain until after cold weather, the field made the best hay and the highest yield per acre of any on the place this year.

Old View Revised.

Many farmers used to think that cutting alfalfa three times in this region was a bad practice, because the crop was likely to suffer from winter killing. Apparently this is true only when it is cut too late the last time.

The third crop of hay will be taken off in time for the plants to grow out again before frost. The manager says he likes for alfalfa to be five or six inches tall when it goes into the winter so the plants will help hold snow and keep it from blowing away like it often does on bare ground. This not only gives the soil the advantage of the extra moisture from the melting snow, but the snow helps protect the soil against hard freezing.

Farmers have found that late cutting of alfalfa sometimes leaves the ground too bare over winter, allowing the soil to freeze deeper than it does where it is well covered. This tends to increase the loss of plants, because roots are broken off by the heaving of the soil as it freezes.

Another Cutting Point.

Another trouble with late cutting is that the alfalfa plants may not have time to build up a reserve root strength in case an early freeze should stop growth of the plants soon after they are cut.

In cutting the alfalfa the third time last fall the mower blade was set to cut the plants about four inches high. This was done to avoid danger of winter injury by cutting the plants too close to the ground. The yield was approximately one ton of cured hay an acre, and the hay was exceptionally clean and free from weeds. When the drouth became severe late in the fall it was feared the alfalfa might die during the winter, but it was not hurt.

The third cutting this time will be cured and baled in the field. Much of the alfalfa from the first and second cuttings was put up in the green state for silage.

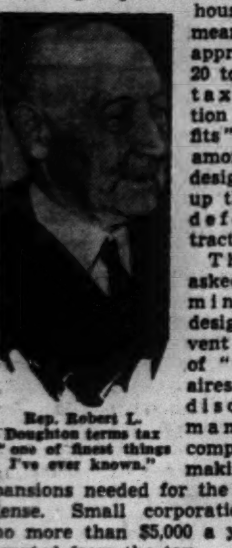
EXCESS PROFITS TAX STIFFENED ON LARGE FIRMS

House Group Allows Plant Cost Credit.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26 (AP).—Breaking a protracted deadlock, the house ways and means committee approved today a 20 to 50 per cent tax on corporation "excess profits" and a plant amortization plan designed to speed up the letting of defense contracts.



Rep. Robert L. Doughton terms tax "one of finest things I've ever known."

The measure, asked by the administration, is designed to prevent the creation of "war millionaires" while not discouraging manufacturing companies from making plant expansions needed for the national defense. Small corporations, making no more than $5,000 a year, are exempted from the tax.

The committee made a number of changes in the proposals of its tax subcommittee, headed by Rep. Jere Cooper [D., Tenn.]. Generally, the changes were designed to make the tax stiffer on corporations with large earnings and lower on those with small profits.

Raise Revenue Estimate.

It was estimated unofficially that the revisions would increase the prospective revenue from the measure this year from $190,000,000 to more than $300,000,000.

Thus the changes were designed to meet complaints by both Republican and Democratic committee members that the tax, as originally proposed, would fall hardest on those least able to pay and also would raise little revenue. This controversy had kept the bill in committee since last Tuesday.

Terming it "one of the finest things I've ever known," chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], announced that the legislation was agreed upon unanimously. It will be considered in the house Thursday.

The measure includes a provision for suspending the Vinson-Trammell act's limitations of 8 and 7 per cent, respectively, on profits from the construction of warships and military aircraft. The suspension would apply in all the years the excess profits tax is in force.

Provides Five Year Write Off.

The amortization plan would permit government contractors and subcontractors to deduct from their taxable income the entire cost of any new facilities devoted to defense which are completed after July 10, 1940. These deductions would be at the rate of 20 per cent a year for five years. The defense commission and the secretary of the navy or war would be required to certify that the plants were needed for defense.

This provision had been urged by the White House, the defense commission and the war department as necessary to a speedy defense program. Contractors, officials said, did not wish to advance money for new plants unless assured of this tax concession.

One of the committee's changes provided a higher rate schedule for companies earning large profits and electing to use an "average earnings" method of computing their tax. Under this method profits are considered "excess" and therefore taxable if they exceed the average for the four years, 1936 to 1939, inclusive.

Lower Under Other Method.

Companies using an "invested capital" method would be accorded a lower rate. This method provides that where a corporation averaged earnings of 10 per cent or more on invested capital during the 1936-'39 base period, its untaxed credit would be 10 per cent of invested capital.

[Invested capital is the amount paid in to a company by its shareholders plus undivided profits left in the business.]

Corporations with earnings below 10 per cent of invested capital during the base period would be allowed a credit equal only to the average earnings. A company would be allowed a minimum credit, however, of 7 per cent on the first $500,000 of invested capital and 5 per cent on all remaining capital. These minima were 6 and 4 per cent in the original subcommittee proposal.

Companies organized since Jan. 1, for any base period year when they were not in operation an amount 1936, would use as their "earnings" equal to 10 per cent of the first $500,000 of their invested capital and 8 per cent of the remaining invested capital.

Allow 10 Per Cent Credit.

Corporations organized since Jan. 1, 1940, would be allowed a credit of 10 per cent on the first $500,000 of invested capital and 8 per cent on the remainder.

The rates:

First $20,000	25	20
Next $30,000	30	25
Next $50,000	35	30
Next $150,000	40	35
Next $250,000	45	40
All over $500,000	50	45

In addition to the higher tax rate on companies which elect to use the average earnings method, their normal income tax rate would be increased from the present 20.9 to 25 per cent.

Rail, Factory Projects Buoy Industry's Rise

Two projects, one for railroad improvements and the other for construction of a factory, were announced yesterday, and several companies received government orders, the largest of which was one for $16,075,000 of gunpowder.

The Buffalo division of the Pennsylvania railroad reported the improvement program, which will cost $500,000. The division will install an electrically controled switch and signal system, additional trackage in a freight dispatching yard, improve an engine house, and install a coal wharf at Emporium, Pa.

Robinson Clay Product company of Akron, O., announced it will build a $750,000 sewer pipe plant at Pottstown, Pa. "The plant will be one of the largest and most modern of its kind in of the company, said.

Place Gunpowder Order.

Hercules Powder company of Wilmington, Del., received the big order for gunpowder. The contract was the second in the new defense program, an initial order amounting to $2,500,000 having been received by the company last week. Hercules recently contracted to operate a new government owned powder plant to be built at Radford, Va.

A dispatch from Cleveland reported that the Atlas Powder company will operate the government's new $6,000,000 shell loading plant to be located on a 15,000 acre tract northeast of Ravenna, O.

The war department disclosed the Hercules order when it made public a list of contracts totaling $21,769,530 for army supplies. Others included:

Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing company, Providence, R. I., milling machines, $134,220; Cincinnati Milling Machine and Cincinnati Grinders, Inc., Cincinnati, milling machines, $148,890; Williams Lumber company, Columbus, Ga., temporary buildings at Fort Benning, Ga., $2,079,790; Ford J. Twaits-Morrison-Knudsen Company, Inc., Los Angeles, Cal., temporary housing at Camp Ord, Cal., $2,731,000, and Whittenburg Construction company, Louisville, Ky., temporary housing at Fort Knox, Ky., $473,000.

Place Illinois Contracts.

Placement of contracts with several Illinois companies was announced by the war department as follows:

Equipment for field ranges—Presto Gas Manufacturing company, Chicago, $21,907, and Unique Manufacturing company, Chicago, $720; cotton sheets—Marshall Field & Co., Chicago, $9,737; pillows — Sanitary Feather and Down company, Chicago, $5,805; Columbia Feather company, Chicago, $4,775, and Burton Dixie corporation, Chicago, $13,751; cloth—Chase Bag company, Chicago, $47,750; road construction equipment—R. G. Le Tourneau, Inc., Peoria, $78,444.

MINERS DEBATE RIGHT OF OZANIC TO HEAD UNION

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 26 (AP).—The right of Joe Ozanic, president, and other international officers of the Progressive Mine Workers of America to serve by appointment of the American Federation of Labor was challenged today in the fifth biennial state convention of the union.

One local union, No. 41 of Collinsville, "demanded" in a resolution that international officers be stripped of authority pending a rank and file election and that affairs of the international union be administered by Illinois district officers.

Ozanic, himself a delegate to the state meeting, declared he would "reply to this from the floor of the convention" later this week.

Identical resolutions praising Ozanic and calling for an expression of confidence in him were submitted by local unions of Lincoln, Springfield [No. 11], Taylorville and Coalton.

REVEALS FIRMS REFUSED TO TAKE NAVY GUN ORDERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26 (AP).—Lewis Compton, assistant secretary of the navy, said tonight that six subcontractors involved in a $10,000,000 order for naval guns had refused to accept the business until legislative uncertainties were cleared up.

Declaring that private industry could not see its way clear to make plant expansions unless it knew in advance what rate of amortization the government would allow, he said the unnamed contractors had refused to take the business "on the present basis."

On the other hand, Compton related, three unnamed steel companies had been willing to "take a chance" on the amortization allowance and had financed their own plant expansions without delay. The assistant secretary's remarks were prepared for radio delivery.

ENGINEERS STARTING WORK ON BIG POWDER PLANT IN INDIANA

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 26 (AP).—Harry B. Eaton, chief construction engineer for the du Pont Powder company, arrived here today to organize a 60-man engineering staff and get major construction started within ten days on the $25,000,000 smokeless powder plant near Charlestown, Ind.

Eaton, from Wilmington, Del., said the engineers' first aim is to complete a fencing job around 5,000 acres where the plant will be built. Laying railroad tracks inside the enclosure will follow as will fencing an additional 2,000 acres to be set aside as a "protective area" and for safety. In the latter area there will be no buildings, he added.

Eaton said a temporary office will be opened in Louisville to receive applications to fill about 4,000 construction jobs in the building trades.

BENDIX'S SOUTH BEND UNITS TO BE EXPANDED THRU LOAN FROM RFC

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 26 [Special].—Edwin R. Palmer, vice president of the Bendix Products corporation, announced today that the local Bendix aviation division would be expanded by at least 25 per cent over a period of months thru the use of a portion of $18,587,855 lent to the company by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The entire loan will be used for the expansion of five plants in the Bendix aviation manufacturing system and construction of a new plant "somewhere in the middle west" to increase production in the radio division.

Expansion programs are planned for the eclipse pioneer division, Bendix, N. J., the Scintilla Magneto company, Sidney, N. Y., and Bendix Aviation, Ltd., Burbank, Cal.

No new construction will be necessary to enlarge the local plant, Palmer said, but the production layout will be rearranged to provide space for new machinery now on order.

Additional employment is still in the speculative stage but it was stated an increase in personnel will be necessary as the facilities are enlarged. Two thousand and three hundred persons are now employed in the local plant.

UNIFORM TAX ON INTERSTATE SALES FAVORED

A proposed uniform regulation for the taxation of sales made across state lines was recommended yesterday in a report by a committee of the National Association of Tax Administrators.

The regulation is designed to minimize sales tax avoidance and consequent loss of revenue, and to make it easier for taxpayers engaged in business in more than one state to comply in a more uniform manner with various reporting requirements of the sales tax states. The report was released thru the Federation of Tax Administrators, 1313 East 60th stret.

The proposed regulation defines as taxable any merchandise purchased for use in the sales-tax state from a seller engaged in business within the state who makes delivery in the state. The tax would be collected from the seller in all cases. In states that would adopt the ruling, sales of goods made by out-of-state companies having local offices, for shipment into the state, would be taxable.

WALLACE CUTS SUGAR QUOTA TO BOLSTER PRICES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26 (AP).—In an effort to check slumping sugar prices, Secretary Wallace took steps today to reduce supplies available for the American market during the remainder of 1940. Acting under the 1936 sugar control act, the secretary set a new limit of 6,471,326 short tons of sugar which may be sold in domestic markets this year. This was a reduction of 136,383 tons from a national marketing quota established at the start of the year.

Sugar experts at the agriculture department said this should have a bolstering effect on prices, which have declined to the lowest level in seven years.

Begin Commercial Output in Australian Oil Area

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 26.—Sir Frederick Stewart, minister of supply, today turned a tap releasing the first petroleum to be produced commercially in Australia from the Glendavis shale deposits. The deposits are expected to yield more than 100 gallons of oil per ton. The Glendavis plant, where 800 men work in three shifts seven days a week, will produce 30,000 to 35,000 gallons of petroleum daily. It is planned to triple the annual output.

Portuguese Steamer Brings $2,856,000 Cargo of Gold

New York, Aug. 26 (AP).—The Portuguese steamship Corte Real arrived today with 51 cases of gold bars, reportedly worth $2,856,000, consigned to the New York Federal Reserve bank. The gold was shipped by the Bank of Portugal, steamship circles said. It was assumed the metal would be added to Portuguese balances in this country and used to pay for American purchases.

Extend Prices as Steel Mills Boost Output

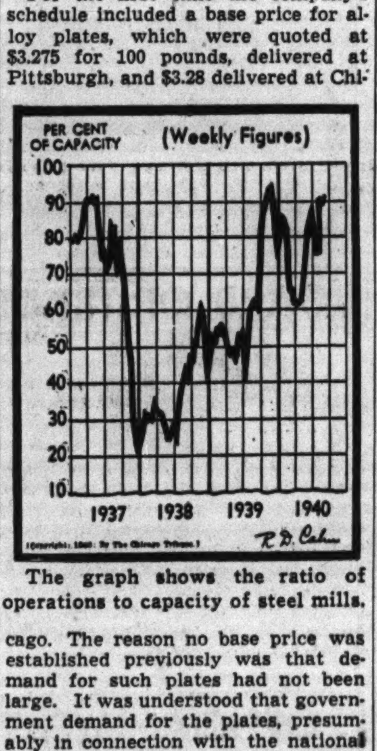
Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation extended present prices into the fourth quarter yesterday and at the same time the industry boosted production schedules to the highest national average since early last December.

Because other steel companies traditionally have followed the lead of Carnegie-Illinois, a United States Steel corporation subsidiary, in establishing price schedules, the company's action indicated that the entire industry would reaffirm existing quotations on most of the principal products.

Prices reaffirmed by Carnegie included those for hot rolled carbon steel, semifinished steel, bars, structural shapes, plates, steel sheet tiling, hot and cold rolled sheets, hot rolled strip, standard rails, and nearly all hot rolled alloy steel items.

Establish Base on Alloys.

For the first time the company's schedule included a base price for alloy plates, which were quoted at $3.275 for 100 pounds, delivered at Pittsburgh, and $3.28 delivered at Chicago. The reason no base price was established previously was that demand for such plates had not been large. It was understood that government demand for the plates, presumably in connection with the national defense program, increased the importance of that branch of steel production to the point where establishment of a base price was considered justified.



[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The graph shows the ratio of operations to capacity of steel mills.

No general change in base prices has been made by Carnegie since reductions were made in June, 1938, officials of the company said, schedules being extended from quarter to quarter with the exception of adjustments in individual products.

In Line with Trade Forecasts.

Carnegie's action was in line with expectations in the trade. As a result of rising costs of some steel ingredients, including ferroalloys, most trade authorities had expected no reduction in prices. On the other hand, with steel companies beginning to roll metal used in connection with the nation's vast defense plans, it was doubted prices would be boosted at this time.

Steel executives, it was said, wanted no accusing finger in Washington leveled at them with the charge that quotations had been lifted to enhance profits at the expense of the defense program.

This week's production schedules at steel mills started at an average of 91.3 per cent of theoretical capacity, compared with 89.7 a week earlier and 63 per cent a year earlier, the American Iron and Steel institute reported.

Not since the week beginning Dec. 4, 1939, when steel was being produced at the rate of 92.8 per cent of mill capacity, has the average been as high as at present, the institute said.

British Use Substitutes for Sole Leather of Shoes

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26 [Special].—British shoe manufacturers are using rubber or a leather substitute for sole material in one-fourth of their entire shoe production, the department of commerce reported today. Crepe rubber is the most popular substitute.

REPORT RFC IS LIKELY TO BORROW ABOUT 500 MILLIONS NEXT MONTH

New York, Aug. 26 [Special].—Borrowing of about 500 million dollars by the Reconstruction Finance corporation shortly after Labor day and in advance of the treasury's September financing was believed likely in Wall street today. No hints have been issued by the government corporation, but Wall street's guess is that the new financing will be done by sale of three-year notes.

RFC has four note issues outstanding—211 million dollars of ⅞ of 1 per cent notes due July 20, 1941; 297 million dollars ⅞ of 1 per cent notes due Nov. 1, 1941, and 311 million dollars ⅞ of 1 per cent notes due July 1, 1942. Only a small supply of these obligations are afloat in the market because most of them are in portfolios of banks and insurance companies.

Scope of the RFC has been broadened since the defense program got under way. New money, if borrowed as expected, probably would be used to finance industry in plant extensions.

The treasury announced that it sold its weekly offering of 91 day bills at an average price of 99.993, compared with 99.995 last week.

BILL PROVIDES 79 MILLIONS FOR TWO RIVER DAMS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26 (AP).—Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] introduced today a bill authorizing the construction of two flood control and power developments on the White river in Arkansas and Missouri at a cost of $79,000,000 in accordance with army engineers' recommendations.

The measure, which also would authorize the appropriation of the funds, directed that one dam and reservoir be constructed at Bull Shoals, Ark., and the other at Table Rock, Mo.

Senator James E. Murray [D., Mont.] proposed that congress appropriate $100,000 for construction of National Guard armories and drill halls in Montana, provided the state appropriates an additional $25,000. The proposal was in the form of an amendment to the national defense supplemental appropriation bill to be considered later.

CHICAGO AREA GETS 14TH PLANT IN 1940 GROWTH

The 14th plant to move to the Chicago area this year—the Coledrinx company, manufacturer of machines for vending freshly mixed carbonated drinks—will establish a factory at 636-38 North Albany avenue, E. P. Querl of the Chicago Association of Commerce announced yesterday.

Querl said the plant will employ about 20 persons starting Sept. 1. Previous headquarters of the company were in New York. Explaining the reason for the move, Albert Cole, president of the company, said:

"The first hundred units of our device were manufactured in New York. However, we have always planned to operate from the middle west—this being a more desirable point for national distribution."

FIVE INDUSTRIES INVESTIGATED BY WAGE DIVISION

The furniture, leather goods and luggage, boots and shoes, hosiery, and woolen goods industries in five districts of Illinois are being investigated by inspectors of the wage and hour division of the United States department of labor, Thomas O'Malley, regional director, announced yesterday.

Investigation of the 304 manufacturing plants included in the drive is part of a national campaign for compliance with wage and hour provisions of the fair labor standards act, O'Malley said.

JONES INSISTS ON KEEPING LOAN JOB IN CABINET

Seek Enabling Law from Congress.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26—Jesse Jones will accept the post of secretary of commerce only on the condition that he can retain his present position as federal loan administrator, in which he directs the administrations vast lending activities, the White House indicated today.

President Roosevelt announced thru his secretary, Stephen T. Early, that congress will be requested to approve a joint resolution to permit Jones to hold both posts, despite the fact existing law prohibits one person to hold two federal offices.

Early said that Jones is anxious to accept the cabinet job vacated by Harry L. Hopkins, who achieved fame as the world's biggest spender while WPA administrator, but that the nomination will not be sent to the senate until congress acts upon the proposed joint resolution.

Applies Only to Jones.

The White House emphasized that the proposal applies only to Jones, an administration stalwart and holdover from the Hoover administration, and would not establish legislation to combine the offices in a single individual in future administrations. The federal loan agency directs the activities of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the Export-Import bank, the Federal Housing administration, and the many mortgage agencies operated by the administration.

The lending agency would maintain its independent status theoretically despite its supervision by the secretary of commerce, according to officials.

Early said that Jones would draw one salary, however—the $15,000 annual pay of a cabinet officer, compared with the $12,000 he draws as federal loan administrator.

Name Expected to Help.

The joint resolution will mention Jones by name as this is believed to enhance chances of approval on Capitol hill, where Jones is well liked because of his generally conservative viewpoints in an otherwise economically unbalanced administration.

The New Dealers have tried many times to shake Jones' hold on the lending activities but without avail. First as chairman of the RFC and later promoted to head all lending agencies as loan administrator, Jones, a practical business man as well as astute politician, has always outmaneuvered his opposition.

He was offered the post of secretary of the navy by the President upon the death of Claude Swanson, but Jones just laughed at the offer, pointing out that he did not know the difference between a rowboat and a battleship. The New Dealers were pressing at the time for "liberalized" lending policy, especially among farmers, and hoped to eliminate Jones.

Condition Made by Jones.

It is believed that Jones laid down this condition of retaining direction of loan policy before he would even consider the cabinet job. The expanded program of economic cooperation with Pan-American countries to combat Hitlerism makes the combination of the commerce and lending posts in one man a "natural," since Jones will be in a better position to dictate foreign loans. Jones is now vacationing in Michigan.

Meanwhile, it was reported that Hopkins' assistant, David K. Niles, would leave with him. Niles also was assistant WPA administrator under Hopkins.

PRESIDENT LINKS ELECTRIC POWER SALES OF 2 DAMS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt issued an executive order late today coördinating the marketing of power at the Bonneville and Grand Coulee dams on the Columbia river, in Washington and Oregon, under the Bonneville Power administration.

The Bonneville administration originally was set up as a temporary agency for the marketing of Bonneville power, but the President said last Saturday the present emergency required that power from both dams be handled under a single agency.

BEGIN FEDERAL JURY INQUIRY OF SLUSH CHARGES

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 26 (AP).—A federal grand jury today began a task which some government officials estimated would last nearly two months—listening to evidence thru which United States prosecutors seek to show that secret political slush funds were distributed by one or more utility companies.

The grand jury probe follows an investigation by the Securities and Exchange commission, which the department of justice announced concerned the affairs of the Union Electric company of Missouri, the Illinois Iowa Power company, and the Missouri Light and Power company.

Six witnesses, some of them SEC investigators, appeared in answer to grand jury subpenas. Federal District Judge Charles G. Briggle withheld a ruling on a government petition to ban publication of witnesses' names.

A. C. Laun Asks Parole.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26 (AP).—Department of justice officials said today that Albert C. Laun, former vice president of Union Electric company of Missouri, now serving a one year perjury sentence, had asked for a parole from Leavenworth, but that no action had been taken.

LYNCH RESIGNS, CROWLEY TAKES STD. GAS POSTS

Shift Is Disclosed in Exchange Offer.

Bernard W. Lynch has resigned his positions as president and director of the Standard Gas and Electric company, it was learned yesterday. He has been replaced as president by Leo T. Crowley, the chairman of the board of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation. Crowley was brought into the utility organization last December as chairman of the board. He will continue as chairman as well as serving as president, it was indicated.

Bernard W. Lynch.

Disclosure of Lynch's resignation came when the company made an offer to certain of its debenture and note holders to exchange their securities for common stock of one of the subsidiary companies. The letter to debenture holders was signed by Crowley as chairman and president. Inquiry disclosed that Lynch's resignation had taken effect Aug. 15.

"News Value" Was Doubted.

Officials of the company insisted that there was no significance to the fact that Crowley's election as president had not been announced earlier. At the Chicago office it was explained no instruction had been given to announce the change. In New York Ward Perrott, a former member of the Securities and Exchange commission staff who is now associated with the company, said that he knew no reason why the election had not been announced. Executives of the company, he said, did not believe that the shift had "any news value."

Crowley has been the target of criticism in some quarters for failure to resign from his government post before taking over his position with Standard Gas. Proceedings relating to the company's compliance with the public utility holding company act have been pending before the SEC while Crowley has been serving in his dual rôles with the company and the national administration.

SEC Approves Offer.

The SEC announced yesterday that it has approved the terms of the exchange offer which the company has made to holders of certain of its debentures and notes. These holders would be given 58 shares of new common stock of the San Diego Gas and Electric company, a subsidiary, in exchange for each $1,000 of debentures or notes. The new San Diego common would be created by a 10 for 1 splitup of the present $100 par stock. The step is described as a move toward simplification of the capital structure in accordance with the objectives of the holding company act.

Lynch may continue to serve as a financial consultant to certain subsidiaries of Standard Gas, it was indicated.

Crowley's retirement as FDIC chairman has been predicted for months. The latest information is that he will continue in the position until after the election in November.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, Aug. 26 (AP).—Selected stocks made idle passes at recovery in today's market but many prominent issues declined slightly.

The list started out with a limp and moved haltingly thruout the session. The turnover of 161,740 shares was the second smallest for a 5 hour stretch since 1916. Last Friday the aggregate was 294,460 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 42.3. The lack of trend was exemplified by the fact that of 433 individual issues traded 142 were up, 137 down, and 154 unchanged.

A few steels, motors, coppers and merchandising favorites were in mild demand at times, but the majority of these never got far out in front. Business items were considered fairly good, altho hardly sufficient to arouse latent buying inspiration.

Steels had the benefit of an estimated upturn in this week's mill operations of 1.6 points to 91.3 per cent of capacity, a new top since early last December. Rapid expansion of 1941 model production aided the motors to keep their balance, while prospects for growing consumer demand as the result of heavy defense spending propped some of the store stocks.

Intensification of Nazi air bombing of England, following the British blast at Berlin, was said to have caused some speculative contingents to stand aside pending more definite indications of the outcome.

Among shares emerging with modest advances were United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Anaconda, Kennecott, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, J. C. Penney, Chesapeake & Ohio, Great Northern, Curtiss-Wright A, North American company, American Radiator, and Chrysler.

A trifle in arrears were American telephone, Western Union, Santa Fe, American Smelting, Inernational Nickel, United Aircraft, Boeing, Sperry, Goodrich, Greyhound, Montgomery Ward, and Consolidated Edison.

New York Bonds.

New York, Aug. 26 (AP).—Renewal of intense aerial activity by Great Britain and Germany brought a series of wide fluctuations to foreign dollar bonds today. The domestic list was narrow and generally mixed.

Some obligations of British empire divisions, notably those of Canada and Queensland, added 1 to 4 points to last week's substantial rally. Denmark 6s dropped 10⅝ points, Berlin City 6s lost 3¼, Copenhagen 4½s were 3½ lower, and losses of 7½ and 6 points were shown by Norway 4¼s and 4½s, respectively.

Domestic loans up fractions to a point included Southwest Bell Telephone 3s, Warner Brothers 6s, Northern Pacific 4s, Southern Pacific 4½s, Western Union 5s, and New York Central 5s.

Chicago Stocks.

Trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday involved 59 issues and 8,000 shares. Commonwealth Edison, Four Wheel Drive, Midland United preferred, Abbott Laboratories and Standard Dredging were the volume leaders. Four Wheel Drive advanced ¼ to a new 1940 high. Of the issues traded, a majority showed increases.

Bank Stocks.

WHEAT FUTURES RISE A CENT OR MORE IN CHICAGO

Wheat prices advanced yesterday on speculative buying which brokers said was based on the belief that futures were too far below the government loan level. Gains were well maintained and final sales on the Chicago Board of Trade were 1 to 1⅜ cents a bushel above Saturday's close.

Expectation that the government loan on the 1940 corn crop, to be announced shortly, would be around 62 cents a bushel in farm cribs, or 5 cents above the amount loaned on the 1938 and 1939 crops dominated the action of that grain and futures closed ⅜ to 1 cent higher. Oats advanced ⅜ to ½ cent; rye, ⅝ to ⅞ cent, and soy beans closed ⅞ to 1⅛ cents higher.

CASH GRAIN

Estimated receipts of cash grain at Chicago Monday: Wheat, 23 cars; corn, 375 cars; oats, 104 cars; rye, 7 cars; barley, 85 cars; soy beans, 3 cars. Range of cash grain prices per bushel in leading markets:

Commodities

Consumer demand for copper fell off after several days of comparatively substantial purchases that followed the increase in custom smelters' prices to the 11 cents a pound quotation of leading primary producers. Trade observers asserted that the supply of nearby copper gives evidence of being somewhat scarce. Export copper was quiet and unchanged.

Prices of lead and zinc held firm, with the question of small supply still a principal factor in the market for the latter metal. Lead interests reported demand to be continuing satisfactorily.

Scattered liquidation marked both domestic and world sugar futures and prices eased 1 to 3 points. Crude rubber futures finished 2 points lower to 8 points higher. Cocoa futures closed 1 to 3 points lower.

CHICAGO DEFENSE ORDERS LARGELY OF 'PEACE' TYPE

Few Products Outside Normal Channels.

Most of the orders which the government has placed in the Chicago area under the national defense program have been for machinery and equipment of types produced in peacetime, a study of data compiled by the Chicago Association of Commerce indicated yesterday.

The report showed that a few relatively small orders for shell forgings, fuses and ammunition ranging from $117,300 to $122,625 have been left, and that the national defense advisory commission has cleared [approved] a $997,807 order for secret equipment and a $4,101,020 contract for gun equipment.

Fairbanks, Morse Heads List.

These orders and prospective orders, along with contracts placed with Fairbanks, Morse & Co. for submarine equipment, constitute most of the direct war equipment so far scheduled for production in this area. Fairbanks, Morse headed the list in dollar volume, but much of the equipment which it is supplying consists of Diesel engines and related products.

Such varied items as heavy tractors, bedsteads, bandsaws, salmon, soap powder, cement, pots, pans, pressure gauges and trucks were included in the association's detailed list.

Tractors and Trucks Ordered.

Among the larger orders listed as already placed were the following: International Harvester company, $2,272,500 for heavy tractors, and Diamond T Motor Car company, $3,249,414 for trucks.

The secret equipment order which has been cleared was for the Teletype corporation, and the $4,101,020 gun equipment order which was approved was for the Miehle Printing Press and Manufacturing company. In clearing an order, the commission certifies that articles involved are essential to the defense program and will not interfere with the commission's objectives.

PLENTY! BUT FIRST LET ME BEGIN AT THE BEGINNING. I AM THE INVENTOR OF THE SO-CALLED "NERVE GAS"
HM! GO ON!
I WAS CHEMIST TO THE ROYAL HOUSEHOLD IN THE OLD COUNTRY AT THE TIME, AND I OFFERED MY DISCOVERY TO THE MEDICAL PROFESSION THERE, THINKING IT WOULD BE OF GREAT VALUE IN TREATING CERTAIN NERVOUS TYPES OF PEOPLE.
